Rome Unfolds Maps:

The Novel Map Patrick M. Bray, 2013-01-31 Focusing on Stendhal G rard de Nerval George Sand mile Zola and Marcel Proust The Novel Map Mapping the Self in Nineteenth Century French Fiction explores the ways that these writers represent and negotiate the relationship between the self and the world as a function of space in a novel turned map With the rise of the novel and of autobiography the literary and cultural contexts of nineteenth century France reconfigured both the ways literature could represent subjects and the ways subjects related to space In the first person works of these authors maps situate the narrator within the imaginary space of the novel Yet the time inherent in the text s narrative unsettles the spatial self drawn by the maps and so creates a novel self one which is both new and literary The novel self transcends the rigid confines of a map In this significant study Patrick M Bray charts a new direction in critical theory

Barbarians, Maps, and Historiography Walter Goffart,2023-05-31 To complement his first collection of articles Rome s Fall and After 1989 Walter Goffart presents here a further set of essays all but two published between 1988 and 2007 They mainly focus on two types of historiography early medieval narratives with special attention to Bede s Historia ecclesiastica and printed maps designed to portray and teach history with special attention to the ubiquitous map of the barbarian invasions The wide ranging concerns represented extend from the underside of the Life of St Severinus of Noricum and further evidence for dating Beowulf to the questions whether the barbarian invasions period was a heroic age and how Charlemagne shaped his own succession Attention is also paid to the earliest map illustrating the Anglo Saxon Heptarchy and to the historical vignettes of the Vatican Galleria delle carte geografiche The collection opens with the appraisal of certain writings dealing with what is now called ethnogenesis theory To conclude Professor Goffart adds brief second thoughts about each of these essays and supplies an annotated list of his articles that have not been reprinted Rome Measured and Imagined Jessica Maier,2015-05-07 At the turn of the fifteenth century Rome was in the midst of a dramatic transformation from what the fourteenth century poet Petrarch had termed a crumbling city populated by broken ruins into a prosperous Christian capital Scholars artists architects and engineers fascinated by Rome were spurred to develop new graphic modes for depicting the city and the genre known as the city portrait exploded In Rome Measured and Imagined Jessica Maier explores the history of this genre which merged the accuracy of scientific endeavor with the imaginative aspects of art during the rise of Renaissance print culture Through an exploration of works dating from the fifteenth to the eighteenth centuries

her book interweaves the story of the city portrait with that of Rome itself Highly interdisciplinary and beautifully illustrated with nearly one hundred city portraits Rome Measured and Imagined advances the scholarship on Renaissance Rome and print culture in fascinating ways Unfolding Drama of Redemption (Scroggie) William Graham Scroggie,1994

Mapping, Connectivity, and the Making of European Empires Luis Lobo-Guerrero, Laura Lo Presti, Filipe dos Reis, 2021-06-29 This volume seeks to collectively explore how maps can be used to understand the making of European empires how the epistemological practices embedded in them can be approached to understand European imperial space making and how maps can be seen as representations of imaginaries of connectivity Rehearsing mapping's past and its multifarious relations with European imperial orders is not merely an historical exercise to contribute to a global history of cartography What binds the several interventions is rather an awareness that looking at a particular moment of the past with composite methodologies and interdisciplinary gazes may harbour potential discoveries on the context embedded relations between mapping connectivity and European empire to which we are not yet attuned By exploring the imaginaries of the world in the mapping of Western modern empires the book also links to the burgeoning literature on the history of international relations and empire The emphasis on empires serves here as an important corrigendum for IR's state centrism and Eurocentrism and contributes to further erode the myth of Westphalia
