Rosamond Lehmann Selina Hastings, 2012-02-29 The life of Rosamond Lehmann was as romantic and harrowing as that of any of her fictional heroines Her first novel the shocking Dusty Answer became wildly successful launching her career as a novelist and just as her novels depicted the tempestuous lives of her heroines Rosamond's personal life would be full of heartbreaking affairs and lost loves Escaping from a disastrous early marriage Rosamond moved right into the heart of Bloomsbury society with Wogan Philipps Later on she would embark on the most important love affair of her life with the poet Cecil Day Lewis nine years later he abandoned her for a young actress a betrayal from which she would never recover Selina Hastings masterfully creates a portrait of a woman whose dramatic life work and relationships criss crossed the cultural literary and political landscape of England in the middle of the twentieth century Dusty Answer Rosamond Lehmann, 1984 Rosamond Lehmann. - New York (1965). 157 S. 8° Diana E. Rosamond Lehmann Judy Simons, 2011      Looking for Mr. Nobody Jenny Rees, 2018-01-16 Goronwy Rees 1909-1979 was one of the most gifted and promising figures in the constellation of British poets, journalists and intellectuals of the 1930s that included Louis MacNeice, W. H. Auden, C. Day Lewis, Isaiah Berlin and Anthony Blunt. Like many liberals of his generation, he was shocked by the effects of the Depression and correspondingly sympathetic to the Communist regime in Russia. Guy Burgess of the Cambridge spies, Burgess, Maclean, Philby and Blunt admitted his espionage to Rees. His association with Burgess was to blight the rest of Rees's life. When Burgess defected in 1951 and Rees denounced him to MI5, Rees was viewed more as a spy out to save his own skin than as an honorable citizen. His anonymous sensationalist articles in The People denouncing Burgess's political activities and all but naming names condemned him with the British intellectual community, not for his politics but for his betrayal of a friend. Colleagues and acquaintances accused him of trying to initiate a McCarthyite witch hunt. He lost his job. His academic career was ruined. In Looking for Mr. Nobody, Jenny Rees deals with many of the old charges made against her father in her search for the answer to her own question: Was he too a spy? Had he joined up with Burgess and Blunt and passed secrets to the Soviet Union? Her quest for the truth reveals a fascinating portrait of a brilliant but flawed man of letters, handsome and seductively charming, caught up in the radical political commitments of the 1930s: Communist Party membership and his tortured relationship with the notorious Cambridge spies.      Recharting

the Thirties Patrick J. Quinn, 1996 The aim of Recharting the Thirties is to revitalize the awareness of the reading public with regard to eighteen writers whose books have been largely ignored by publishers and scholars since their major works first appeared in the thirties. The selection is not based on a political agenda but encompasses a wide and divergent range of philosophies, clearly the contrasts between Empson and Upward or between Powell and Slater indicated the wide-ranging vision of the period. Women writers of the period have largely been marginalized and the writings of Sackville West and Burdekin, for example, not only present distinct feminine voices of the period but also illuminate how much good literature has been forgotten.      The Ballad and the Source Rosamond Lehmann, 1975      Literature as History Simon Barker, Jo

Gill, 2011-10-27 Literature as History presents a selection of specially commissioned essays by a range of key contemporary thinkers on the interdisciplinary study of literature and history. The unifying theme is the interrelationship between literary cultural production and its historical moment. The essays in the collection are astute and exciting in terms of their engagement with ever-changing developments in critical and theoretical practice while retaining an invaluable focus on familiar and engaging texts and authors. The contributors offer a reappraisal of the nature of literary studies today, looking back over the thirty-five years of Peter Widdowson's career, a career which has coincided with the emergence of challenges to and reformulations of critical theory and ask what the future holds particularly for the interdisciplinary ways of working which Widdowson pioneered. Bringing together distinguished scholars in the interdisciplinary study of English and History, it seizes the opportunity to take stock of the current field of literary studies and to ask searching questions about its future development
