supplemented by others from the conference and beyond These chapters consider revolution from a variety of perspectives including the revolutions in Russia China and Venezuela but also the French and Haitian Revolutions Marx s critical political economy and revolution the long history of counter revolution revolution and indigenous peoples the media and revolution and the importance of revolution at the grassroots The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly

Backstage at the Revolution Victoria Johnson, 2008 On July 14 1789 a crowd of angry French citizens en route to the Bastille broke into the Paris Opera and helped themselves to any sturdy weapon they could find Yet despite its long association with the royal court its special privileges and the splendor of its performances the Opera itself was spared even protected by Revolutionary officials Victoria Johnson's Backstage at the Revolution tells the story of how this legendary opera house despite being a lightning rod for charges of tyranny and waste weathered the most dramatic political upheaval in European history Sifting through royal edicts private letters and Revolutionary records of all kinds Johnson uncovers the roots of the Opera's survival in its identity as a uniquely privileged icon of French culture an identity established by the conditions of its founding one hundred years earlier under Louis XIV Johnson's rich cultural history moves between both epochs taking readers backstage to see how a motley crew of singers dancers royal ministers poet entrepreneurs shady managers and the king of France all played a part in the creation and preservation of one of the world's most fabled cultural institutions

Portrayals of Revolution Noel Parker, 1990 How did the French try to understand their revolution How have writers of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries portrayed so unprecedented an upheaval Dr Parker examines contemporary representations of the Revolution political rhetoric journals theatre festivals pictures and prints concentrating on two special themes First the creators of these representations were part of an attempt to found anew the social order Second they sought to adapt their forms of culture so as to constitute through them the united community that was to be the agent of this historic new order The second half of the book considers a representative selection of the many histories and theoretical writings on the Revolution from France England and Germany from Barnave and de Stael to the nineteenth century founders of social science and romantic historians such as Michelet to post war comparative political writers and post structuralist marxists influenced by Gramsci and Foucault By bringing together an analysis of contemporary cultural responses to the Revolution and an account of subsequent cultures understanding of it the author reveals the complex interplay between culture and agents of historical change which modern views have often failed to realize
