Disappearing Witness Gretchen Garner, 2003-07-25 In documenting this transformation in American photography Disappearing Witness forcefully rethinks the history of photography itself The Art Institute of Chicago Field Guide to Photography and Media Antawan I. Byrd, Elizabeth Siegel, 2023-01-01 A roster of prominent artists curators and scholars offers a new entirely contemporary approach to our understanding of photography and media Focusing on the Art Institute of Chicago's deep and varied collection of photographs books and other printed matter installation art photobooks albums and time based media this ambitious wide ranging volume features short essays by prominent artists curators university professors and independent scholars that explore topics essential to understanding photography and media today The essays organized around themes ranging from the expected to the esoteric are paired with key objects from the collection in order to address issues of aesthetics history philosophy power relations production and reception More than 400 high quality reproductions amplify the authors arguments and suggest additional dialogues across conventional divisions of chronology genre geography and technology An introductory essay by Matthew S Witkovsky traces the museum's history of acquisitions and how the evolution of the museum's collection reflects broader changes in the critical reception of the field of photography and media Distributed for the Art Institute of Chicago The Racial Unfamiliar John Brooks, 2022-08-30 The works of African American authors and artists are too often interpreted through the lens of authenticity They are scrutinized for positive or negative representations of Black people and Black culture or are assumed to communicate some truth about Black identity or the Black experience However many contemporary Black artists are creating works that cannot be slotted into such categories Their art resists interpretation in terms of conventional racial discourse instead they embrace opacity uncertainty and illegibility John Brooks examines a range of abstractionist experimental and genre defying works by Black writers and artists that challenge how audiences perceive and imagine race He argues that literature and visual art that exceed the confines of familiar conceptions of Black identity can upend received ideas about race and difference Considering photography by Roy DeCarava installation art by Kara Walker novels by Percival Everett and Paul Beatty drama by Suzan Lori Parks and poetry by Robin Coste Lewis Brooks pinpoints a shared aesthetic sensibility In their works the devices that typically make race feel familiar are instead used to estrange cultural assumptions about race Brooks contends that when artists confound expectations about racial representation the resulting disorientation reveals the incoherence of racial ideologies By showing how contemporary literature and art ask audiences to question what they think they know about race The Racial Unfamiliar offers a new way to understand African American cultural production International Photography Index, 1981 Roy DeCarava, a Retrospective Roy DeCarava, Peter Galassi, Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 1996 Featuring 200 superb plates spanning half a century this book is the first retrospective of the work of Roy DeCarava a great American photographer known for his brilliant photographs of Harlem and of jazz musicians such as Billie Holiday and John
