Galenson, 2009-09-14 From Picasso's Cubism and Duchamp's readymades to Warhol's silkscreens and Smithsonian's earthworks the art of the twentieth century broke completely with earlier artistic traditions A basic change in the market for advanced art produced a heightened demand for innovation and young conceptual innovators from Picasso and Duchamp to Rauschenberg and Warhol to Cindy Sherman and Damien Hirst responded not only by creating dozens of new forms of art but also by behaving in ways that would have been incomprehensible to their predecessors Conceptual Revolutions in Twentieth Century Art presents the first systematic analysis of the reasons for this discontinuity David W Galenson whose earlier research has changed our understanding of creativity combines social scientific methods with qualitative analysis to produce a fundamentally new interpretation of modern art that will give readers a far deeper appreciation of the art of the past century and of today than is available elsewhere 20th Century Art: a Resource for Educators (in Acq) Stella Paul, 1999 Presents thirty one paintings with notes about the works strategies for discussion and writings by selected artists Accompanying videocassette is about the work Water Stone by Isamu Noguchi

Primitivism and Twentieth-century Art Jack D. Flam, Miriam Deutch, 2003 This is a much needed important collection a goldmine of sources for scholars and students The texts articulate the key Primitivist aesthetic discourses of the period offering crucial insight into the complex and always changing nexus between culture politics and representation Because of the breadth of the materials covered and the controversies they raise this anthology is one of the all too rare volumes that not only will provide reference materials for years to come but also will feature centrally in classroom discussions Suzanne Preston Blier author of African Vodun Art Psychology and Power For almost a century art historians have fretted about the notion of primitivism in the arts This comprehensive in both senses of the word anthology is a peerless source of the history of responses to works categorized as primitive In its range the book touches upon all the troubling questions formal anthropological political historical that have bedeviled the study of the arts of Oceania Africa and North and South America and provides the grounds at last for intelligent pursuit of keener distinctions I regard this book as a superb contribution to the study of Modern art in fact indispensable Dore Ashton author of Noguchi East and West An extraordinarily useful and complete collection of primary documents many translated for the first time into English and almost all unlikely to be encountered elsewhere without serious effort Its five sections each with a lively and scholarly introduction reveal the diverse views of artists and writers on primitive art from Matisse Picasso and Fry to many far less known and sometimes surprising figures The book also uncovers the politics and aesthetics of the major museum exhibitions that gained acceptance for art that had been both reviled and mythologized Recent texts included are all germane This book will be invaluable for any

Paul Getty Museum Christopher Bedford, Penelope Curtis, John Dixon Hunt, 2008 This catalogue celebrates the recently installed collection of twentieth century sculpture donated to the J Paul Getty Trust by the Fran and Ray Stark Trust in 2005 The book takes the reader on a visual tour of the J Paul Getty Museum's new sculpture gardens and installations which features twenty eight works by artists such as Alexander Calder Alberto Giacometti Ferdinand L ger Roy Lichtenstein Ren Magritte Aristide Maillol Joan Mir Henry Moore and Isamu Noguchi The book offers essays on the curatorial decisions involved in establishing harmonious groupings a history of European and American sculpture within built outdoor environments and gardens and catalogue entries that discuss individual pieces within their broader art historical contexts European Thought and Culture, 1350-1992 Michael J. Sauter, 2021-06-06 This book explores the main currents of European thought between 1350 and 1992 which it approaches in two principal ways culture as produced by place and the progressive unmooring of thought from previously set religious and philosophical boundaries The book reads the period against spatial thought's history spatial sciences such as geography or Euclidean geometry to argue that Europe cannot be understood as a continent in intellectual terms or its history organized with respect to traditional spatial geographic categories Instead we need to understand European intellectual history in terms of a culture that defined its own place as opposed to a place that produced a given culture It then builds on this idea to argue that Europe's overweening drive to know more about humanity and the cosmos continually breached the boundaries set by venerable religious and philosophical traditions In this respect spatial thought foregrounded the human at the unchanging's expense with European thought slowly becoming unmoored as it doggedly produced knowledge at wisdom's expense Michael J Sauter illustrates this by pursuing historical themes across different chapters including European thought's exit from the medieval period the Renaissance the Reformation the Scientific Revolution the Enlightenment and Romanticism the Industrial Revolution and war and culture offering a thorough overview of European thought during this period The book concludes by explaining how contemporary culture has forgotten what early modern thinkers such as Michel de Montaigne still knew namely that too little skepticism toward one's own certainties makes one a danger to others Offering a comprehensive introduction to European thought that stretches from the late fourteenth to the late twentieth century this is the perfect one volume study for students of European intellectual history
