Does Inequality Matter? How People Perceive Economic Disparities and Social Mobility OECD,2021-11-18 The recovery after the COVID 19 crisis requires policies and reforms that tackle inequalities and promote equal opportunities However the implementation of such reforms requires widespread support from the public To better understand what factors drive public support this report provides a detailed cross country analysis of people s perceptions of and concern over inequality

People Matter David Chan,2015-03-18 This book is a collection of twenty one essays by Professor David Chan which first appeared in The Straits Times from October 2011 to January 2015 The essays discussed a wide range of topics including happiness and well being fairness perceptions the immigration debate and population policies social cohesion and integration social mobility trust in society public expectations rationality and emotions approaches to policy making modes of thinking democracy shared values and principles and the social compact between people and Government in Singapore A common theme that runs through these essays is what David calls People Matter People Matter refers to both the critical issues that matter to the people and the idea that the way people think feel and act should matter to policy making and nation building in Singapore Contents Drill into What Makes Singaporeans HappyFairness Processes are as Important as OutcomeThe Heart of the Immigration DebateThe 5C Challenges of CohesionFive Cs to Manage IntegrationThe Goals Matter So Does the JourneySingaporeans Well Being It s Not Just About EmotionsPopulation Priorities and PerceptionsBreak the Negative Spiral over the HazeTaking Steps to Raise Social Mobility in SingaporeSustainability is KeyTrust is a Many Splendoured ThingThe Art of Disagreeing It Can Yield Some GoodFrom Emotions to Shared ValuesMoving Forward with Great ExpectationsStrike the Right Balance to Make Singapore a City in a CountryDemocracy of Deeds and VoicesA Paradoxical Approach to PolicymakingWhy Bronze Medallists are Happier Than Silver WinnersValues Outrage and the Good Society in 2014It Takes Two to Tango and Progress Readership Academics undergraduate and graduates students professionals interested in social and behavioural issues in Singapore civil servants NGOs general public Key Features This is the first collection of a series of essays that examine the various social and behavioural issues that have continuously received wide public and policy attention both in and outside Singapore Each essay presents a state of the art analysis based on scientific rigour and practical relevance identifies critical unresolved issues and proposes innovative solutions to the problems identifiedThe author is well known academic consultant and public intellectual both locally and internationally The diversity of the essays and their insights will provide a very wide reach and multiplier effect in the readership marketThe book has received a long list of book endorsements from 37 public figures who are leaders in different sectors including Cabinet Ministers academics and university leaders and leaders in the public private and people sectorsKeywords Public Policy People Well Being Trust Immigration Democracy SingaporeReview From Ministers Our society policies and politics have become more complex and volatile David Chan has been an astute observer of this evolution His insights on behavioural economics and social psychology have been especially relevant to the issues of the day I always take his suggestions seriously Dr Vivian Balakrishnan Minister for the Environment and Water Resources Singapore People is at the heart of everything we do Whether in the social economic or political spheres it is about the people This book provides useful perspectives about the way people think feel and act these are critical considerations relevant to our policy making and nation building Mr Chan Chun Sing Minister for Social and Family Development his real life experiences have grounded his work in an understanding of human psychology and behavior which lends a personal touch to policy recommendations Ms Debra Soon Managing Director Channel NewsAsia MediaCorp Pte Ltd I have always enjoyed reading David Chan s deep insights into sometimes complex issues that he unravels with literary ease From one article to the next on subjects ranging from Singaporean s well being to population growth David has always stimulated thinking and truly relates and resonates Mrs Mildred Tan Managing Director Ernst Young Advisory Pte Ltd These essays by David Chan on contemporary domestic issues are written in a thoughtful way free of the emotions which all too often accompany many of the pieces on the same subjects in the social media today Like the rest of the world Singapore society is changing and throwing up new challenges There are no easy solutions only hard choices David analyses them well Mr George Yeo Chairman Kerry Logistics Network Vice Chairman Kerry Group From People Sector Leaders I would look out for and read David s articles in The Straits Times when they first appeared I like the interesting and persuasive way in which he describes the social and psychological dynamics in Singapore society especially those related to policy making and public reactions to policy This is a collection well worth re reading Mr Willie Cheng Chairman Singapore Institute of Directors Author of Doing Good Well David s essays are always thought provoking You will be nodding your head to some of his points pondering on some and quite often wonder why you never thought of the point he made I always look forward to his latest installment and I am glad that his essays have been compiled into a book for ease of a revisit His observations and clarity of expression will aid the readers gain insight into the events unfolding around us Mr Gerard Ee President Institute of Singapore Chartered Accountants David is a leading light on human psychology and how it applies to public policy Fused with his love for Singapore this compilation of essays is a must read for all who care for the country David is insightful in his diagnosis and practical in his recommendations Mr Laurence Lien Chairman Lien Foundation People Matter by David Chan is indeed an impressive piece of work covering critical social issues facing the Singapore community currently and in future It also carries many analyses which have implications for social policies in the context of the changing social and political landscapes of Singapore The publication is worthy of reading by students academics researchers policy makers and readers who are interested in people issues Dr S Vasoo Associate Professorial Fellow of Social Work National University of Singapore In this collection of essays Professor David Chan captures issues that Singaporeans talk about at coffee shops around family discussions and at the workplace His empathetic understanding is accompanied by his ability to integrate macro and micro perspectives of the topical issues Insightful but easy to read these essays provide arguments and viewpoints for fruitful discussion whether among students in the classroom policy makers in the boardroom or friends and colleagues over a cuppa Dr Sudha Nair Executive Director PAVE On those days when his essays appeared in The Straits Times Professor David Chan provided the interested public with Wow must leave time to read this one He has thus played a significant role in meeting the need of the generally educated reader for appropriate intellectual meat to chew on Mrs Ann Elizabeth Wee Associate Professorial Fellow of Social Work National University of Singapore Consequential Strangers: Turning Everyday Encounters Into Life-Changing Moments Melinda Blau, Karen L. is an unwillingness to change Going forward we are going to have to start looking at America as one We have to turn these words into reality one nation under God indivisible The key to our success and survival going forward will only be achieved as one The time is now We must change our mindset If not racism will be our demise Report of the Attorney General of the State of Michigan for the Year Ending Michigan. Supreme Court,Abraham Lansing,Marcus Tullius Hun,1895 Why Black Lives Matter Anthony B. Bradley,2020-10-21 Beginning with a conversation prompted by African American scholars like Dr Alvin Poussaint of Harvard Medical School in 2007 to the current Black Lives Matter movement there has been much debate about what led to the deaths of Trayvon Martin and Michael Brown among others as well as other systemic challenges that undermine black thriving Anthony Bradley has assembled a team of scholars and religious leaders to provide a distinctly Christian perspective on what is needed for black communities to thrive from within In addition to the social and structural issues that must be addressed within black communities there are opportunities for social change based on God's vision for human flourishing Covering topics like the black family hip hop mental health mentoring women masculinity and the church this book will open your eyes to fresh ways to participate in solutions that will truly set black America free Although the Black Lives Matter movement keeps the church on the margins the authors in this volume believe that enduring change cannot happen unless God speaks directly to these issues in light of the gospel This is a revised edition of an earlier book Keeping Your Head Up With contributions from Vincent Bacote Bruce Fields Rev Howard Brown Ralph C Watkins Rev Eric M Mason Rev Lance Lewis Rev Anthony Carter Ken Jones Natalie Haslem Rev Ken Jones Rihana Mason Yvonne RB Banks

Better Health Economics Tal Gross, Matthew J. Notowidigdo, 2024-01-09 A health economics textbook for the rest of us The economics of healthcare are messy For most consumers there's minimal control around costs or services Sometimes doctors get paid a lot other times they don't get paid at all Insurance and drug companies are bad except when they're good Everyone still uses fax machines If economics is the study of markets and efficiency how do we make sense of any of this Better Health Economics is anwarts and all introduction to a field that is economically speaking more exceptions than rules Drawing on combined decades of teaching MIT trained economists Tal Gross and Matthew J Notowidigdo offer readers an accessible nonexpert primer on the field's essential concepts and critically a framework for thinking about this increasingly imperfect and important market Written in warm spare prose and with a minimum of theory or math Better Health Economics is an ideal entry point in health economics for the range of fields for which the topic is essential By understanding health economics as an ongoing effort to retain good things while eliminating wasteful things students from social science medicine and public policy will draw a richer and more scalable understanding of concepts that are traditionally opaque even daunting Better Health Economics is a love letter to a topic that is traditionally unloveable Healthcare may be a failed market but it's our failed market
