Oral Traditions of Southeast Asia and Oceania Herman C. Kemp,2004 Oceanic [mythology] Roland Burrage Dixon,1916 Part 5 pp 265 307 myths of origin and floods cosmogony fire animals diffusion of myths throughout Australia briefly mentions Tasmanian mythology Eyewitness Companions: Mythology Neil Philip,Philip Wilkinson,2007-09-03 Originally told to explain the mysteries of the world such as creation divine will fertility death and love myths are a major part of many cultures throughout the world and each area has its own myths Organized by geographic region each myth is placed within the civilization s history and context The key elements of world mythology such as the hero his divine connection the labyrinth the initiation and the transformation are explored in boxes and features throughout the book Philip Wilkinson has more than 50 titles to his credit in the fields of mythology history and the arts including DK s Illustrated Dictionaries of Mythology and Religions Neil Philip is the author of many books on folklore and mythology including The Illustrated Book of Myths and Myths and Legends Explained Synopses of the great myths that have inspired human creativity from antiquity to the present Covers mythology around the globe from the classic Greek to lesser known Malaysian Catalogs of gods by subject enable comparisons of distant civilizations Austronesian Myth or History? J.G. Cheock,2021-01-01 Listen to the story told by our ancestors in the myths and legends treasured and preserved through the ages A narrative passed on through words and graphic images that come to life as we shine a light on our past in order to understand the present and prepare for our future Oceanic [Mythology] Roland Burrage Dixon,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1916 edition Excerpt CONCLUSION THE sketch of the mythology of Oceania given in the preceding pages has been arranged in five main sections each confined to one of the geographic or ethnographic areas into which the whole region is usually divided At the end of each section we have given the general

conclusions reached from a survey of the material and these may now be briefly summarized in order that we may gain an outline of the growth of Oceanic mythology as a whole The oldest and most primitive stratum of mythology in Oceania is either lost to us entirely as in the case of Tasmania or else is unknown since no material from the Negrito peoples of the area is as yet accessible Of its character affiliations and sources therefore nothing can be said Following next upon this at least in Melanesia and Australia is what has been called the Papuan type still very imperfectly known and apparently quite variable in its character With the rest of the mythology of Oceania it presents comparatively little in common except in Melanesia where the later Melanesian stratum probably contains a considerable element derived from it Of the sources of this Papuan type little or nothing can be said As the Negrito and Tasmanian strata are followed by the Papuan in Melanesia and Australia in Indonesia the Negrito is succeeded by the Indonesian layer Unlike the Papuan this has wide affiliations which extend on the one hand well into south eastern Asia i e to Assam Burma and Indo China and on the other to Micronesia Melanesia and Polynesia It is at least a plausible hypothesis that the characteristic myths of this type were spread by a wave or series of waves of people who moving from the Asiatic mainland into Indonesia passed thence on the

On the Origin of Myths in Catastrophic Experience, vol. 1: Preliminaries Marinus Anthony van der Sluijs, 2019-01-01 Creation myths around the world reveal an intricate network of recurrent motifs Many of these are counterintuitive and not widely known describing a time when the sky was low the stars did not yet shine multiple suns appeared the moon was brighter than the sun no land existed deities and mortals maintained frequent contact a world axis in the form of a tree ladder or giant man connected the earth with the sky a devastating flood or fire ended the old order and so forth The present work in multiple volumes aims to find an origin for this cross culturally and internally consistent body of traditions in a series of extraordinary natural events relating especially to the earth's transition from the last glacial period to the Holocene This first volume sets the stage for the interdisciplinary hypothesis Essential lines of research receive a historical introduction comparative mythology catastrophism and the study of the mythical world axis in relation to the earth's rotation Various astronomical and meteorological interpretations that are not strictly catastrophist are explored for several types of myths about the sun the moon and the world axis but leave many of the most intriguing traditions unexplained It is argued that a structural core of the worldwide mythology of creation and destruction in which the cosmic axis takes pride of place points to a specific period of dramatic natural circumstances in real prehistoric time A new synopsis is provided of this universal mythological substrate It emerges that the mythical world axis cannot have been based on a single object seen or imagined at one of the poles as has usually been supposed This surprising conclusion paves the way for the innovative geomagnetic theory proposed in volume 2 The Dial ,1916
