Origins of Anatomically Modern Humans Doris V. Nitecki, Matthew H. Nitecki, 2013-11-11 This volume is based on the Field Museum of Natural History Spring Systematics Symposium held in Chicago on May 11 1991 The financial support of Ray and Jean Auel and of the Field Museum is gratefully acknowledged When we teach or write we present only those elements that support our arguments We avoid all weak points of our debate and all the uncertainties of our models Thus we offer hypotheses as facts Multiauthored books like ours which simultaneously advocate and question diverse views avoid the pitfalls and lessen the impact of indoctrination In this volume we analyze the anthropological and biological disagreements and the positions taken on the origins of modern humans point out difficulties with the interpretations and suggest that the concept of the human origin can be explained only when we first attempt to define Homo sapiens sapiens One of the major controversies in physical anthropology concerns the geographic origin of anatomically modern humans It is undisputed due to the extensive research of the Leakeys and their colleagues that the family Hominidae originated in Africa but the geographic origin of Homo sapiens sapiens is less concretely accepted Two schools of thought exist on this topic

Modern Humans John F. Hoffecker,2017-10-31 Modern Humans is a vivid account of the most recent and perhaps the most important phase of human evolution the appearance of anatomically modern people Homo sapiens in Africa less than half a million years ago and their later spread throughout the world Leaving no stone unturned John F Hoffecker demonstrates that Homo sapiens represents a major transition in the evolution of living systems in terms of fundamental changes in the role of non genetic information Modern Humans synthesizes recent findings from genetics including the rapidly growing body of ancient DNA the human fossil record and archaeology relating to the African origin and global dispersal of anatomically modern people Hoffeecker places humans in the broad context of the evolution of life emphasizing the critical role of genetic and non genetic forms of information in living systems as well as how changes in the storage transmission and translation of information underlie major transitions in evolution He also draws on information and complexity theory to explain the emergence of Homo sapiens in Africa several hundred thousand years ago and the rapid and unprecedented spread of our species into a variety of environments in Australia and Eurasia including the Arctic and Beringia beginning between 75 000 and 60 000 years ago This magisterial work will appeal to all with an interest in the ever fascinating field of human evolution The Emergence of Modern Humans Erik Trinkaus,1989 Conceptual Issues in Modern Human Origins Research Geoffrey A. Clark,Catherine M. Willermet, While those who study human origins now agree that the evolution of modern human form extends back much further in time than the evolution of modern human behavior they disagree sharply as to how to interpret the substantive data Two fundamentally incommensurate interpretations of our origins the Replacement camp and the Continuity camp have now emerged out of pre existing models and theories that go back to the last quarter of the 19th century This book contends that these positions are based on radically different biases and assumptions about what the remote human past was like The purpose of this volume is to examine those conceptual differences not to arrive at a consensus but rather to explore the reasons why a consensus might never be possible The Evolution of Modern Human Diversity Marta Mirazón Lahr,1996-05-30 Investigates the two main theories of how and where humans evolved

The Evolution of Modern Humans in Africa Pamela R. Willoughby,2007 Pamela Willoughby provides a wide ranging synthesis of current knowledge about the evolution of fully modern humans in Africa during the Middle Palaeolithic Middle Stone Age According to most scholars our modern ancestors first emerged in Africa and then spread throughout the habitable world Willoughby brings evidence from mitochondrial DNA ancient fossils and archaeological remains including her own research in Tanzania to bear on questions regarding the place of human species in nature the specific origins of Homo Sapiens and the dispersal of these modern humans throughout Africa and around the globe She confronts straightforwardly the problems of dating the earliest modern humans and she discusses the various alternative models of modern human origins which will be debated for years to come The Evolution of Modern Humans in Africa is a compelling thought provoking book for both students and scholars Early Modern Humans at the Moravian Gate Maria Teschler-Nicola,2007-07-28 This beautifully illustrated monograph addresses for the first time the complete assemblage of the Mladec caves finds including the human cranial post cranial teeth and jaw fragments of several individuals as well as faunal remains and archaeological objects Leading scientists present their results obtained with innovative techniques such as DNA analysis 3D morphometry and isotope analysis which are of great importance for further discussions on both human evolution and archaeological issues Neandertals and Modern Humans in Western Asia Takeru Akazawa, Kenichi Aoki, Ofer Bar-Yosef, 2005-12-27 In this fascinating volume the Middle Paleolithic archaeology of the Middle East is brought to the current debate on the origins of modern humans These collected papers gather the most up to date archaeological discoveries of Western Asia a region that is often overshadowed by African or European findings but the only region in the world where both Neandertal and early modern human fossils have been found The collection includes reports on such well known cave sites as Kebara Hayonim and Qafzeh among others The information and interpretations available here are a must for any serious researcher or student of anthropology or human evolution Fundamentals of Human Origin & Evolution EduGorilla Prep Experts, 2024-06-05 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels Human origin sites and the World Heritage Convention in Eurasia Sanz, Nuria (UNESCO), 2015-09-07 Southern Asia, Australia and the Search for Human Origins Robin Dennell, Martin Porr, 2014-02-24 This volume summarizes what is and is not known about the earliest evidence of our species outside Africa from Arabia to Australia Most books on the origins of modern human behavior and the expansion of our species across the world focus on evidence from Africa Europe and the Levant which have been extensively researched This book focuses instead on the important areas of southern Asia such as Arabia and India as well as evidence from Australia which deserve far wider attention than they have hereto received Human Origins, Genome and People of India: Genomic, Palaeontological and Archaeological Perspectives V.R.
