Public Sculpture Of The City Of London Public Sculpture Of Britain Volume 7:

London's Waterfront and its World, 1666-1800 John Schofield, Stephen Freeth, 2023-12-21 This volume covering the period 1666-1800 considers the archaeology of the port of London on a wide scale from the City down the Thames to Deptford. During this period with the waterfront at its centre London became the hub of the new British empire contributing to the exploitation of people from other lands known as slavery.

St Paul's Cathedral John Schofield, 2016-09-30 This is the first volume concerned solely with the archaeology of a major late 17th century building in London and the major changes it has undergone. St Paul's Cathedral in the City of London was built in 1675-1711 to the designs of Sir Christopher Wren and has been described as an iconic building many times. In this major new account John Schofield examines the cathedral from an archaeological perspective, reviewing its history from the early 18th to the early 21st century as illustrated by recent archaeological recording, documentary research and engineering assessment. A detailed account of the construction of the cathedral is provided based on a comparison of the fabric with voluminous building accounts which have survived and evidence from recent archaeological investigation. The construction of the Wren building and its embellishments are followed by the main works of later surveyors such as Robert Mylne and Francis Penrose. The 20th century brought further changes and conservation projects including restoration after the building was hit by two bombs in World War II and all its windows blown out. The 1990s and first years of the present century have witnessed considerable refurbishment and cleaning involving archaeological and engineering works. Archaeological specialist reports and an engineering review of the stability and character of the building are provided.

Public Sculpture of Staffordshire and the Black Country George Thomas Noszlopy, Fiona Waterhouse, 2005-01-01 The Black Country is an area historically known as the cradle of the Industrial Revolution, a thriving region built around deep coal seams conjuring up images of fiery red furnaces by night and black sooty citadels by day. Yet today the resource-rich region also features many striking public sculptures. This volume provides a comprehensive catalog to all of the historic sculptures and public monuments in Staffordshire and the Black Country. George Thomas Noszlopy and Fiona Waterhouse catalog each individual sculpture in detail, including information about the sculptor, the sculpture's historical and artistic significance, the commissioning agent and the date of installation. The volume also features 350 black and white photographs that document the diverse and rich beauty of the region's public monuments. The ninth volume in the widely acclaimed award-winning Public Sculpture of Britain series, Public Sculpture of Staffordshire and the Black Country is an invaluable resource for British historians, art scholars and travelers alike.

Public Sculpture of South London Terry Cavanagh, 2007 In this tenth volume in the Public Sculpture of Britain series, the varied and important though often little-known public sculpture of the Boroughs of Wandsworth, Lambeth, Southwark and Lewisham is illustrated and catalogued in detail.
