Roman Empire Divided 400 7:

The Roman Empire Divided John Moorhead, 2013-11-26 In 400 the mighty Roman Empire was almost as large as it had ever been within three centuries advances by Germanic peoples in western Europe Slavs in eastern Europe and Arabs around the eastern and southern shores of the Mediterranean had brought about the loss of most of its territory Ranging from Britain to Mesopotamia this book explores the changes that resulted from these movements It shows the different paths away from the classical past that were taken and how the relatively unified civilization of the ancient Mediterranean gave place to the very different civilizations that cluster around the sea today This comprehensive and authoritative second edition has been thoroughly revised and updated line by line and contains several new sections dealing for instance with the new evidence provided by recent finds like the Staffordshire Treasure and the widespread effects of the plague As well as a completely new bibliographical essay The Roman Empire Divided now also includes six maps and an expanded selection of illustrations fully integrated in the text

The Roman Empire Divided, 400-700 John Moorhead, 2001 Unmatched in its chronological sweep and with an impressive and unusual geographical range this ambitious history offers a new and vital interpretation of the post Roman world The decline and fall of the Roman Empire has transfixed historians for centuries This important new account looks at what happened after the power of the once mighty empire was swept away Smaller states founded by Slavs Arabs Germanic peoples and others moved in to fill the void and laid the foundations for the later histories of western Europe the Balkans the Middle East and north Africa John Moorhead looks at how these fundamental changes were influenced by other social economic and political developments taking place at the same time Using a fascinating array of evidence he weaves the numerous threads into a convincing and lucid narrative and shows how by the end of the eighth century the civilization of the ancient world had been replaced by a series of units which had very little in common with each other

The Roman Empire Divided, 400-700 John Moorhead, 2012 In 400 the mighty Roman Empire was almost as large as it had ever been within three centuries advances by Germanic peoples in western Europe Slavs in eastern Europe and Arabs around the eastern and southern shores of the Mediterranean had brought about the loss of most of its territory Ranging from Britain to Mesopotamia this book explores the changes that resulted from these movements It shows the different paths away from the classical past that were taken and how the relatively unified civilization of the ancient Mediterranean gave place to the very different civilizations that c

A History of the Later Roman Empire, AD 284-641 Stephen Mitchell, 2014-08-25 The Second Edition of A History of the Later Roman Empire features extensive revisions and updates to the highly acclaimed sweeping historical survey of the Roman Empire from the accession of Diocletian in AD 284 to the death of Heraclius in 641 Features a revised narrative of the political history that shaped the late Roman Empire Includes extensive changes to the chapters on regional history especially those relating to Asia Minor and Egypt Offers a renewed evaluation of the decline of the empire in the later sixth and seventh centuries Places a larger emphasis on the military deficiencies collapse of state finances and role of bubonic plague throughout the Europe in Rome's decline Includes systematic updates to the bibliography A History of the Later Roman Empire, AD 284-700 Stephen Mitchell, Geoffrey Greatrex, 2023-05-25 A sweeping historical account of the Later Roman Empire incorporating the latest scholarly research In the newly revised 3rd edition of A History of the Later Roman Empire 284 700 distinguished historians Geoffrey Greatrex and Stephen Mitchell deliver a thoroughly up to date discussion of the Later Roman Empire It includes tables of information numerous illustrations maps and chronological overviews As the only single volume covering Late Antiquity and the early Islamic period the book is designed as a comprehensive historical handbook covering the entire span between the Roman Empire to the Islamic conquests The third edition is a significant expansion of the second edition published in 2015 and includes two new chapters covering the seventh century The rest of the work has been updated and revised providing readers with a sweeping historical survey of the struggles triumphs and disasters of the Roman Empire from the accession of the emperor Diocletian in AD 284 to the closing years of the seventh century It also offers A thorough description of the massive political and military transformations in Rome's western and eastern empires Comprehensive explorations of the latest research on the Later Roman Empire Practical discussions of the tumultuous period ushered in by the Arab conquests Extensive updates revisions and corrections of the second edition Perfect for undergraduate and postgraduate students of ancient medieval early European and Near Eastern history A History of the Later Roman Empire 284 700 will also benefit lay readers with an interest in the relevant historical period and students taking a survey course involving the late Roman Empire Regna and Gentes Hans-Werner Goetz, Jörg Jarnut, Walter Pohl, 2003 This book is the first comprehensive and comparative study of the difficult relationship between ethnic identities and political organisation in the post Roman and early medieval kingdoms 16 authors historians archaeologists and linguists deal with ten important kingdoms of this period and with its political and legal context The Forty Sieges of Constantinople John D. Grainger, 2022-07-28 The great city of Byzantium Constantinople Istanbul stands on a commanding cape overlooking a busy waterway It has been the target of repeated attempts to capture it for the past two and a half millennia Most of these attacks failed but some did so in spectacular fashion such as the great Arab sieges The inhabitants fought hard in almost every siege with the result that when the city was captured it was also destroyed or at least suffered a hideous sack Almost every nation between the Atlantic and the Steppes of Asia have made attempts to capture the city some repeatedly but only a few a Roman emperor the Crusaders the Turks have succeeded And there is no sign that some have given up the hope of taking it the last sieges were just before and then during the Great War by the Bulgars and then by the Allies who got no closer than Gallipoli but the city had to submit to enemy occupation when the empire it ruled collapsed It is still surrounded by envious neighbours who wish to control it The city has been besieged forty times and has been captured on three or four occasions it cannot be said to be safe yet It is still The City of the World's Desire The Mediterranean World in Late Antiquity Averil Cameron, 2015-04-29 This thoroughly revised and expanded edition of The Mediterranean World in Late Antiquity now covering the period 395-700 AD provides both a detailed introduction to late antiquity and a direct challenge to conventional views of the end of the Roman empire. Leading scholar Averil Cameron focuses on the changes and continuities in Mediterranean society as a whole before the Arab conquests. Two new chapters survey the situation in the east after the death of Justinian and cover the Byzantine wars with Persia, religious developments in the eastern Mediterranean during the life of Muhammad, the reign of Heraclius, the Arab conquests and the establishment of the Umayyad caliphate. Using the latest in-depth archaeological evidence, this all-round historical and thematic study of the west and the eastern empire has become the standard work on the period. The new edition takes account of recent research on topics such as the barbarian invasions, periodization and questions of decline or continuity as well as the current interest in church councils, orthodoxy and heresy and the separation of the miaphysite church in the sixth century east. It contains a new introductory survey of recent scholarship on the fourth century AD and has a full bibliography and extensive notes with suggestions for further reading. The Mediterranean World in Late Antiquity 395-700 AD continues to be the benchmark for publications on the history of Late Antiquity and is indispensable to anyone studying the period.

Rome: Its Rise and Fall Philip Van Ness Myers, 1900 (Re)using Ruins: Public Building in the Cities of the Late Antique West, A.D. 300-600 Douglas R. Underwood, 2019-04-09

In Re using Ruins Douglas Underwood presents a new account of the use and reuse of Roman urban public monuments in a crucial period of transition AD 300-600. Commonly seen as a period of uniform decline for public building, especially in the western half of the Mediterranean, Re using Ruins shows a vibrant yet variable history for these structures. Douglas Underwood establishes a broad catalogue of archaeological evidence supplemented with epigraphic and literary testimony for the construction, maintenance, abandonment and reuses of baths, aqueducts, theatres, amphitheatres and circuses in Italy, southern Gaul, Spain and North Africa, demonstrating that the driving force behind the changes to public buildings was largely a combined shift in urban ideologies and euergetistic practices in Late Antique cities.

The Routledge Handbook on Identity in Byzantium Michael Stewart, David Parnell, Conor Whately, 2022-03-30

This volume is the first to focus solely on how specific individuals and groups in Byzantium and its borderlands were defined and distinguished from other individuals and groups from the mid-fourth to the close of the fifteenth century. It gathers chapters from both established and emerging scholars from a wide range of disciplines across history, art, archaeology and religion to provide an accurate representation of the state of the field both now and in its immediate future. The handbook is divided into four subtopics that examine concepts of group and specific individual identity which have been chosen to provide methodologically sophisticated and multidisciplinary perspectives on specific categories of group and individual identity. The topics are Imperial Identities, Romanitas in the Late Antique Mediterranean, Macro and Micro Identities, Religious, Regional and Ethnic Identities and Internal Others, and Gendered Identities, Literature, Memory and Self in Early and Middle Byzantium. While no single volume could ever provide a comprehensive vision of identities on the vast variety of peoples within Byzantium over nearly a millennium of its history this handbook represents a milestone in offering a survey of the vibrant surge of scholarship examining the numerous and oft times fluctuating codes of identity that shaped and transformed Byzantium and its neighbours during the empire's long life

A Companion to Late Antiquity Philip Rousseau, 2012-01-25 An accessible and authoritative overview capturing the vitality and diversity of scholarship that exists on the transformative time period known as late antiquity Provides an essential overview of current scholarship on late antiquity from between the accession of Diocletian in AD 284 and the end of Roman rule in the Mediterranean Comprises 39 essays from some of the world's foremost scholars of the era Presents this once neglected period as an age of powerful transformation that shaped the modern world Emphasizes the central importance of religion and its connection with economic social and political life Winner of the 2009 Single Volume Reference Humanities Social Sciences PROSE award granted by the Association of American Publishers Handbook of Medieval Studies Albrecht Classen,2010-11-29 This interdisciplinary handbook provides extensive information about research in medieval studies and its most important results over the last decades The handbook is a reference work which enables the readers to quickly and purposely gain insight into the important research discussions and to inform themselves about the current status of research in the field The handbook consists of four parts The first large section offers articles on all of the main disciplines and discussions of the field The second section presents articles on the key concepts of modern medieval studies and the debates therein The third section is a lexicon of the most important text genres of the Middle Ages The fourth section provides an international bio bibliographical lexicon of the most prominent medievalists in all disciplines A comprehensive bibliography rounds off the compendium The result is a reference work which exhaustively documents the current status of research in medieval studies and brings the disciplines and experts of the field together Narbonne and its Territory in Late Antiquity Frank Riess,2016-04-22 This work centres on the post Roman period of Narbonne and its territory up to its capture by the Arabs in 720 encompassing not only recent archaeological findings but also perspectives of French Spanish and Catalan historiography that have fashioned distinct national narratives Seeking to remove Narbonne from any subsequent birth of France Catalonia and Spain the book presents a geopolitical region that took shape from the late fifth century evolving towards the end of the eighth century into an autonomous province of the nascent Carolingian Empire Capturing this change throughout a 300 year period somewhat lacking in written sources the book takes us beyond an exclusive depiction of the classical city to an examination of settlement in various forms Discourses of literary criticism also lie behind aspects of this study mapped around textual commentaries which highlight a more imaginative biography of a city Narbonne s role as a point of departure and travel across the Mediterranean is examined through a reading of the correspondence of Paulinus of Nola and the writings of Sulpicius Severus enabling the reader to gain a fuller picture of the city and its port The topography of Narbonne in the fifth century is surveyed together with Bishop Rusticus s church building programme Later chapters emphasise the difficulties in presenting a detached image of Narbonne as sources become mainly Visigothic defining the city and its region as part of a centralised kingdom Particular attention is given to the election of Liuva I as king in Narbonne in 568 and to the later division into upper and lower sub kingdoms shared by Liuva and his brother Leovigild a duality that persisted throughout the sixth and seventh centuries The study therefore casts new light on Narbonne and its place within the Visigothic Kingdom of Toledo suggesting that it was the capital of a territory with roots in the post Roman settlement of barbarian successor states The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire Edward Gibbon,1909 The Oxford encyclopedia of ancient Greece and Rome. - Vol. 1 - 7 Michael Gagarin,2010 The Grand Chatrang Game Kuanysh-Beck Sazanov,2014-12-02 This book presents a completely new look at the fundamentals of global geopolitical architecture and the sources of international conflicts This research extends the scope of geopolitical analysis to encompass the entire globe through a comparative historical analysis of major religious cultural and civilizational aspects of development of different regions of the world which are responsible for development of a system of political legacies peculiar to each of them The book attempts to find the deep rooted sources of the long lasting international conflicts where each of them has the potential to grow into full fledged global war In addition it proposes a multipolar structure of the new global geopolitical order which is more coherent with the true nature of different and very versatile societies of the world
