The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Emotion John Corrigan,2008-01-02 The academic study of religion recently has turned to the investigation of emotion as a crucial aspect of religious life. Researchers have set out in several directions to explore that new terrain and have brought with them an assortment of instruments useful in charting it. This volume collects essays under four categories: religious traditions, religious life, emotional states, and historical and theoretical perspectives. In this book, scholars engaged in cutting edge research on religion and emotion describe the ways in which emotions have played a role in Buddhism, Christianity, Judaism, Islam, and other religions. They analyze the manner in which key components of religious life—ritual, music, gender, sexuality, and material culture—represent and shape emotional performance. Some of the essays included here take a specific emotion such as love or hatred and observe the place of that emotion in an assortment of religious traditions and cultural settings. Other essays analyze the thinking of figures such as St. Augustine, Søren Kierkegaard, Jonathan Edwards, Emile Durkheim, and William James. This collection offers a range of critical perspectives on the academic study of religion and emotion in the form of syntheses, provocations, and prospective observations that will inform the work of those already engaged in the field. Taken together, the writings included in this handbook serve as an ideal entry point for anyone wishing to familiarize themselves with the new academic study of religion and emotion.

Identity and Upbringing in South Asian Muslim Families Michela Franceschelli, 2017-01-20. What is it like to grow up as a South Asian British Muslim today? What are the experiences of South Asian Muslim parents bringing up their children in contemporary Britain? Identity and Upbringing in South Asian Muslim Families explores these questions within the context of the series of events which from 9/11 to the recent upsurge of the Islamic State have affected the perceptions and the identity of Muslims around the world. Franceschelli reveals the complex range of negotiations behind the coming of age of South Asian Muslim teenagers and reflects on the changes and continuities between their life experiences, priorities, and aspirations compared to their parents' generation. Based on primary research with South Asian Muslim young people and parents, this book highlights the importance of Islam to upbringing, the shifting value of South Asian cultural norms in Britain, and the persistent influence of class in shaping inequalities amongst families and on young people's experiences of growing up.

The Oxford Handbook of Theology, Sexuality, and Gender Adrian Thatcher, 2015. The Oxford Handbook of Theology, Sexuality, and Gender presents an unrivalled overview of the theological study of sexuality and gender. These topics are not merely contentious and pervasive; they have escalated in importance within theology. Theologians increasingly agree that even the very doctrine of God cannot be contemplated without a prior grappling with each. Featuring 41 newly commissioned essays written by some of the foremost scholars in the discipline, this authoritative collection presents and develops the latest thinking in these areas. Divided into eight thematic sections, the Handbook explores methodological approaches, contributions from neighbouring disciplines, sexuality and gender in the Bible and in the Christian tradition, controversies within the churches and within four of the non-Christian faiths, and key concepts and issues. The final extended section considers theology in relation to married people and families, gay and lesbian people, bisexual people,
