Cosmos and Image in the Renaissance Kathryn

Banks, 2017-07-05 Renaissance images could be real as well as linguistic Human beings were often believed to be an image of the cosmos and the sun an image of God Kathryn Banks explores the implications of this for poetic language and argues that linguistic images were a powerful tool for rethinking cosmic conceptions She reassesses the role of natural philosophical poetry in France focusing upon its most well known and widely read exponent Guillaume de Saluste Du Bartas Through a sustained analysis of Maurice Sceve's Delie Banks also rethinks love lyric's oft noted use of the beloved as image of the poet Cosmos and Image makes an original contribution to our understanding of Renaissance thinking about the cosmic the human and the divine It also proposes a mode of reading other Renaissance texts and reflects at length upon the relation of literature to history to the history of science and to political turmoil Ronsard's Philosophic Thought Isidore Silver, 1992

The World Upside Down in

16th-Century French Literature and Visual Culture Vincent Robert-Nicoud, 2018-09-11 In The World Upside Down in 16th Century French Literature and Visual Culture Vincent Robert-Nicoud offers an interdisciplinary account of the topos of the world upside down in early modern France To call something topsy turvy in the sixteenth century is to label it as abnormal The topos of the world upside down evokes a world in which everything is inside out and out of bounds fish live in trees children rule over their parents and rivers flow back to their source The world upside down proves to be key in understanding how the social political and religious turmoil of sixteenth century France was represented and conceptualised and allows us to explore the dark side of the Renaissance by unpacking one of its most prevalent metaphors Carpe Corpus Cathy Yandell, 2000-11 Carpe Corpus investigates time as it was theorized imagined and lived in early modern France Despite the current flourishing of critical attention to women poets works critical assessments of Renaissance temporality remain almost exclusively shaped by early modern male writers A reading uninformed by female poets has deprived us of a more multifaceted vision of the temporal concordia discors at work in all these poets In Carpe Corpus Cathy Yandell offers original interpretations of such literary giants as Ronsard and Louise Labé as well as lesser known but increasingly studied poets of the sixteenth century notably Anne de Marquets Nicole Estienne and Catherine des Roches Through readings of poetry conduct manuals and moral treatises this volume seeks to reconstruct the temporal landscape of early modern France

The Erotics of Materialism Jessie Hock, 2021-01-15 In The Erotics of Materialism Jessie Hock maps the intersection of poetry and natural philosophy in the early modern reception of Lucretius and his De rerum natura Subtly revising an ancient atomist tradition that condemned poetry as frivolous Lucretius asserted a central role for verse in the practice of natural philosophy and gave the figurative realm a powerful claim on the real by maintaining that mental and poetic images have material substance and a presence beyond the mind or page Attending to Lucretius's own emphasis on poetry Hock shows that early modern readers and writers were alert to the fact that Lucretian materialism entails a theory of the imagination and ultimately a poetics which they were quick to absorb and adapt to their own uses Focusing on the work of Pierre de Ronsard Remy Belleau John Donne Lucy Hutchinson and Margaret Cavendish The Erotics of Materialism demonstrates how these poets drew on Lucretius to explore poetry's power to act in the world Hock argues that even as classical atomist ideas contributed to the rise of empirical scientific methodologies that downgraded the capacity of the human imagination to explain material phenomena Lucretian poetics came to stand for a poetry that gives the imagination a purchase on the real from the practice of natural philosophy to that of politics In her reading of Lucretian influence Hock reveals how early modern poets were invested in what Lucretius posits as the materiality of fantasy and his expression of it in a language of desire sex and love For early modern poets Lucretian eroticism was poetic method and De rerum natura a treatise on the poetic imagination initiating an atomist genealogy at the heart of the lyric tradition

Performance, Poetry and Politics on the Queen's Day Virginia Scott, Sara Sturm-Maddox, 2017-03-02 This collaborative interdisciplinary study explores a variety of issues in theatrical and literary history that converge in two performances given at the palace of Fontainebleau on 13 February 1564 Part of the fabled Fêtes de Fontainebleau this carnival Sunday entertainment was produced at the behest of Catherine de Medici and created by courtiers and artists including Pierre de Ronsard the greatest lyric poet of the French sixteenth century While focused on the text and production of Ronsard's Bergerie and the choice and production of the tale of Ginevra from Ariosto's Orlando furioso the study also examines the urgent circumstances of the festival the moment shortly after the end of the First War of Religion was critical and highly charged as well as its political program and the rhetorical strategies employed by Catherine and Ronsard to promote harmony among the opposing factions of nobles The authors exploration of the Queen s Day also leads them to consider a range of questions pertaining to Renaissance and early modern court performance practices and literary cultural traditions The book is distinctive in that it crosses disciplinary and national boundaries and in that a number of the issues it addresses have received little or no previous scholarly attention

The Myth of Sisyphus Elliott M. Simon, 2007 The myth of Sisyphus symbolizes the archetypal process of becoming without the consolation of absolute achievement It is both a poignant reflection of the human condition and a prominent framing text for classical medieval and renaissance theories of human perfectibility In this unique reading of the myth through classical philosophies pagan and Christian religious doctrines and medieval and renaissance literature we see Sisyphus the most cunning of human beings attempting to transcend his imperfections empowered by his imagination to renew his faith in the infinite potentialities of human excellence

Perpetual Motion Michel Jeanneret, 2001-01-16 The popular conception of the Renaissance as a culture devoted to order and perfection does not account for an important characteristic of Renaissance art many of the period's major works including those by da Vinci Erasmus Michelangelo Ronsard and Montaigne appeared as works in progress always liable to changes and additions In Perpetual Motion Michel Jeanneret argues for a sixteenth century swept up in change and fascinated by genesis and metamorphosis Jeanneret begins by tracing the metamorphic sensibility in sixteenth century science and culture Theories of creation and cosmology of biology and geology profoundly affected the perspectives of leading thinkers and artists on the nature of matter and form The conception of humanity as understood by Pico de Mirandola Erasmus Rabelais and others reflections upon history the theory and practice of language all led to new ideas new genres and a new interest in the diversity of experience Jeanneret goes on to show that the invention of the printing press did not necessarily produce more stable literary texts than those transmitted orally or as hand printed manuscripts authors incorporated ideas of transformation into the process of composing and revising and encouraged creative interpretations from their readers translators and imitators Extending the argument to the visual arts Jeanneret considers da Vinci's sketches and paintings changing depictions of the world map the mythological sculptures in the gardens of Prince Orsini in Bomarzo and many other Renaissance works More than fifty illustrations supplement his analysis The recent years literary scholars have come increasingly to acknowledge that an adequate understanding of texts requires the study of books the material objects through which the meanings of texts are constructed Focusing on French poetry in the period 1400-1600 contributors to this volume analyze layout illustration graphology paratext typography anthologization and other such elements in works by a variety of writers among them Charles d'Orléans Jean Bouchet Pierre de Ronsard and Louise Labé They demonstrate how those elements play a crucial role in shaping the relationships between authors' texts
