Whether as a source of intellectual enlightenment or nostalgic delight, the anthology serves as a confluence of literary art that invites active engagement and contemplation. Readers are encouraged to delve into this beautifully illustrated edition not only for its educational value but also for the heartwarming dialogue it fosters between generations of Christmas storytellers.

New Medieval Literatures 25 Laura Ashe, Philip Knox, Caroline Batten, Wendy Scase, 2025-04-15. This volume continues the series' engagement with intellectual and cultural pluralism in the Middle Ages, showing the best new work in the field. Essays in this volume deal with texts from the ninth to the fifteenth century and include some unexpected comparisons with British Romanticism. Great attention is paid to manuscripts in their contexts and situations of production: thirteenth-century mortuary rolls are examined as sites of fluidly variegated scribal training and practice, revealing a scriptscape of social networks spread across the country. Elsewhere, close analysis of manuscripts known to have belonged to Henry Despenser, bishop of Norwich 1370-1406, makes the case for an effective scribal atelier in the city presided over by the Despenser Master. Three essays are linked by a consideration of didactic writing: the Old English translation of Gregory the Great's Pastoral Care is analysed both textually and paleographically for what it reveals about grammatical study in England's early Middle Ages; and the moral freighting of that learning, a comparative analysis of multilingual retellings of sheep fables, making an important contribution to animal studies. Recent violent historical events are shown to have been reshaped into a parable for the instruction of wives in the Mesnagier de Paris. Finally, Gower's expansive geographical and genealogical imaginary in the Confessio Amantis reveals the impossibility of controlling the affordances of his multivalent East, while the Alliterative Morte Arthure is newly examined for its representation of mountains and mountaineering as sites of active moral allegory and spiritual importance, as well as real-world experiences of beauty and danger.
