Shipping the Medieval Military Craig L. Lambert, 2011 Mariners made a major but neglected contribution to England's warfare in the middle ages Here their role is examined anew showing their importance During the fourteenth century England was scarred by famine plague and warfare Through such disasters however emerged great feats of human endurance Not only did the English population recover from starvation and disease but thousands of the kingdom's subjects went on to defeat the Scots and the French in several notable battles Victories such as Halidon Hill Neville's Cross Crècy and Poitiers not only helped to recover the pride of the English chivalrous class but also secured the reputation of Edward III and the Black Prince Yet what has been underemphasized in this historical narrative is the role played by men of more humble origins none more so than the medieval mariner This is unfortunate because during the fourteenth century the manpower and ships provided by the English merchant fleet underpinned every military expedition The aim of this book is to address this gap Its fresh approach to the sources allows the enormous contribution of the English merchant fleet to the wars conducted by Edward II and Edward III to be revealed the author also explores the complex administrative process of raising a fleet and provides career profiles for many mariners examining the familial relationships that existed in port communities and the shipping resources of English ports Craig L Lambert is Research Assistant at the University of Hull

The Archaeology of Medieval England and Wales John Steane, 2014-10-30 In the preceding 25 years to this book's publication in 1985 there was an extensive and unprecedented burst of archaeological activity in evidence from below ground deposits above ground structures and artefacts During the boom of the late 1960s and 1970s which led to go much central town redevelopment it was buried remains which yielded the most dramatic information In the recession of the 1980s it was realised that upstanding remains had a lot to offer as well and they were being subject to ever more sophisticated study techniques This book examines those recent developments in archaeology and assesses their bearing on the study of medieval English and Welsh history Taking a series of important themes such as government religion and the countryside the book offers a chronological approach from the coming of the Vikings 850 AD to the Reformation in 1530 This approach focuses on the impact of man on the urban and rural landscape An important text for students of ancient history Citizen of London Michael McCarthy,2022-09-29 The extraordinary story of Richard Whittington from his arrival in London as a young boy to his death in 1423 against a backdrop of plague politics and war turbulence between Crown City and Commons and the unrelenting financial demands of Richard II Henry IV and Henry V to whom Whittington was mercer lender and fixer A man determined to follow his own path Whittington was a significant figure in London s ceaseless development As a banker Collector of the Wool Custom King s Council member and four time mayor Whittington featured prominently in the rise of the capital s merchant class and powerful livery companies Civic reformer enemy of corruption and author of an extraordinary social legacy he contributed to Henry V s victory at Agincourt and oversaw building works at Westminster Abbey In London Whittington found his second family a mentor Sir Ivo Fitzwarin and an inspirational wife in Fitzwarin s daughter Alice Today s Dick Whittington pantomimes enjoyed by millions have a grain of truth in them but the real story is far more compelling minus that sadly mythical cat Connected by the Sea Lucy Blue,Frederick M. Hocker,Anton Englert,2016-03-31 The 10th International Symposium on Boat and Ship Archaeology was held in Roskilde Denmark in 2003 The theme of the meeting was Connected by the Sea and was designed to emphasize the role of the sea seafaring and watercraft as bridges rather than barriers Maritime archaeology tends to take place within national borders with a national focus yet the very premise of seafaring is the desire to travel beyond the horizon to establish contact with other places and cultures The conference theme was chosen to encourage the maritime archaeological community to think in international terms The Making of the British Landscape Francis Pryor,2010-06-03 This is the changing story of Britain as it has been preserved in our fields roads buildings towns and villages mountains forests and islands From our suburban streets that still trace out the boundaries of long vanished farms to the Norfolk Broads formed when medieval peat pits flooded from the ceremonial landscapes of Stonehenge to the spread of the railways evidence of how man s effect on Britain is everywhere In The Making of the British Landscape eminent historian archaeologist and farmer Francis Pryor explains how to read these clues to understand the fascinating history of our land and of how people have lived on it throughout time Covering both the urban and rural and packed with pictures maps and drawings showing everything from how we can still pick out Bronze Age fields on Bodmin
