Scrolls, Vol. 1 of 2 Gotthard Deutsch, 2015-06-15 Excerpt from Scrolls Vol 1 of 2 Essays on Jewish History and Literature and Kingred Subjects This collection of essays which were published within the last twentyfive years in various periodicals yearbooks and similar works are presented to the public as a specimen vitae humanae Many of them I would not write today most of them I would modify and others I freely admit I wish I never had written The uncertainty in the history of our older literature and my appreciation of the great loss we have suffered by the absence of correct data about the authors of certain statements in rabbinical literature make me feel the importance of collecting even the insignificant The biographer of Charlemagne tells us of a traveling merchant whom the brilliant emperor used in playing a trick on a greedy bishop How important would it be to us did we possess the letters which this man probably living in Italy sent to his family during his journey Such letters were in those days commonplace but now they would be a valued source of historic information Isaac of Durbalo in the twelfth century was hardly a genius He may not have been even in his day a scholar of note About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve
