by ALEXANDER LAING

"Here, then, is pure romance of the clipper ship era, romance of the sea in which 'you surrender your very soul to the skipper, and he surrenders his with all the rest of the ship.' For anyone to whom a ship model is something more than an item of interior decoration, this book will be a delight."

Introducing radical counter visions of race and slavery and probing the legal and philosophical questions raised by indenture The Coolie Speaks offers the first critical reading of a massive testimony case from Cuba in 1874 From this case Yun traces the emergence of a coolie narrative that forms a counterpart to the slave narrative The written and oral testimonies of nearly 3 000 Chinese laborers in Cuba who toiled alongside African slaves offer a rare glimpse into the nature of bondage and the tortuous transition to freedom Trapped in one of the last standing systems of slavery in the Americas the Chinese described their hopes and struggles and their unrelenting quest for freedom Yun argues that the testimonies from this case suggest radical critiques of the contract institution the basis for free modern society The example of Cuba she suggests constitutes the early experiment and forerunner of new contract slavery in which the contract itself taken to its extreme was wielded as a most potent form of enslavement and complicity Yun further considers the communal biography of a next generation Afro Chinese Cuban author and raises timely theoretical questions regarding race diaspora transnationalism and globalization      The Sea Witch Alexander Laing, 1933      Catalog of Copyright Entries. A collection of writing on the historical alliances cultural connections and shared political strategies linking African Americans and Asian Americans      New York Times Saturday Book Review Supplement, 1970      Alien Nation Elliott Young, 2014-11-03 In this sweeping work Elliott Young traces the pivotal century of Chinese migration to the Americas beginning with the 1840s at the start of the coolie trade and ending during World War II The Chinese came as laborers streaming across borders legally and illegally and working jobs few others wanted from constructing railroads in California to harvesting sugar cane in Cuba Though nations were built in part from their labor Young argues that they were the first group of migrants to bear the stigma of being alien Being neither black nor white and existing outside of the nineteenth century Western norms of sexuality and gender the Chinese were viewed as permanent outsiders culturally and legally It was their presence that hastened the creation of immigration bureaucracies charged with capture imprisonment and deportation This book is the first transnational history of Chinese migration to the Americas By focusing on the fluidity and complexity of border crossings throughout the Western Hemisphere Young shows us how Chinese migrants constructed alternative communities and identities through these transnational pathways The National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints Library of Congress, American Library Association. Ballou, 2021-05-19 In The Heart's Secret Or the Fortunes of a Soldier Maturin M. Ballou crafts a riveting narrative that intricately weaves themes of love, sacrifice, and the tumultuous life of a soldier. Set against the backdrop of conflict and shifting allegiances, the novel employs a romantic style infused with realism, drawing readers into the emotional depths and moral dilemmas faced by its characters. Ballou's masterful prose not only captures the turbulence of wartime experiences but also delves into the psychological underpinnings of longing and despair, making it a poignant exploration of the human condition in the context of battle and personal strife. Maturin M. Ballou, a prolific writer and a keen observer of society, found inspiration in his own explorations of humanity's complexities. With a background in travel writing and a thirst for adventure, Ballou's literary endeavors often reflect his fascination with the interplay between external conflicts and internal struggles. His experiences likely informed the depth of his characters' emotional journeys, elevating them beyond mere archetypes to create a narrative rich with authenticity and insight. This novel is highly recommended for readers interested in historical fiction and psychological exploration. Ballou's evocative storytelling and deep characterizations make The Heart's Secret not only a thrilling read but also a significant contribution to the genre, inviting reflection on the enduring impact of love and loss amidst the chaos of life.

Developmental Spans in Event Comprehension and Representation Paul van den Broek, Patricia J. Bauer, Tammy Bourgeois, 2013-12-16 This book is about building metaphorical bridges: all sorts of bridges. At the most basic level, it concerns the bridges that individuals build to understand the events that they experience; the bridges that connect the events in the mind's eye. At another level, it is about bridges that interconnect findings and theoretical frameworks concerning event comprehension and representation in different age groups, ranging from infancy to adulthood. Finally, it is about building bridges between researchers who share interests yet may not ordinarily even be aware of each other's work. The success of the book will be measured in terms of the extent to which the contributors have been able to create a picture of the course of development across a wide span in chronological age and across different types of events, from the fictional to the actual. The individuals whose work is represented in this book conduct their work in a shared environment; they all have an intellectual and scholarly interest in event comprehension and representation. These interests are manifest in the overlapping themes of their work. These include a focus on how people come to temporally integrate individual snapshots to form a coherent event that unfolds over time to understand cause and effect and to appreciate the role of the goal of events. Another overlapping theme involves the possibility of individual differences. These themes are apparent in work on the early development of representations of specific episodes and autobiographical memories and comprehension of complex events such as stories.

involving multiple characters and emotions The editors of this volume had two missions to create a development span by bringing together researchers working from infancy to adulthood and to create a bridge between individuals working from within the text comprehension perspective within the naturalistic perspective and with laboratory analogues to the naturalistic perspective Their measure of success will be the extent to which they have been able to create a picture of the course of development across a wide span in chronological age and across different types of events from fictional to actual
