Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century Gary L. Gaile,Cort

J. Willmott, 2005 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century surveys American geographers current research in their specialty areas and tracks trends and innovations in the many subfields of geography. As such it is both a state of the discipline assessment and a topical reference. It includes an introduction by the editors and 47 chapters each on a specific specialty. The authors of each chapter were chosen by their specialty group of the American Association of Geographers (AAG). Based on a process of review and revision the chapters in this volume have become truly representative of the recent scholarship of American geographers. While it focuses on work since 1990 it additionally includes related prior work and work by non American geographers. The initial Geography in America was published in 1989 and has become a benchmark reference of American geographical research during the 1980s. This latest volume is completely new and features a preface written by the eminent geographer Gilbert White. How to Find Out About the Social Sciences Gillian A.

Burrington, 2014-05-18 How to Find Out About The Social Sciences indicates the sources of information in the social sciences that are traditionally taught in social science faculties in universities. The book delineates the scope and nature of the different social sciences, explains the necessary education and training, and lists possible careers for those who take up the studies. The book also lists the possible sources of information such as organizations, libraries, books, and other published material, and social administration. Lastly it explains the significance of the different sources of information, what kind of information could be derived from them, and how they can be used to learn or teach in the social sciences. The text is for social scientists, professors, and researchers on the discipline and its many branches. It is also recommended for undergraduate and graduate students alike, as well as those who have taken a casual interest on the social sciences.
