Fitness Costs and Benefits of Female Song Michelle L. Hall, Naomi E. Langmore, 2017-09-11 Bird song traditionally regarded as primarily a male trait is in fact widespread among female songbirds and was probably present in the ancestor of modern songbirds Odom et al 2014 Nature Communications These recent findings challenge the view that sexual dimorphism in the expression and complexity of song is largely the outcome of sexual selection on males It is now clear that understanding the evolution of bird song requires explaining variation within and among species in the expression and complexity of female song To do this we need a better understanding of the nature of variation in female song in different contexts and systems as well as the fitness costs and benefits of variation in the expression and complexity of female song This Research Topic draws together current research on female song with the goal of understanding the fitness costs and benefits of the diversity of female singing behaviour apparent among songbirds It includes articles ranging from single species studies investigating how female song varies with context and contrasts with male song to comparative analyses exploring relationships between female song and ecological social and other factors as well as opinion pieces

Why Suyá Sing Anthony Seeger, 2004 Like many other South American Indian communities the Suyá Indians of Mato Grosso Brazil devote a great deal of time and energy to making music especially singing In paperback for the first time Anthony Seeger's Why Suyá Sing considers the reasons for the importance of music for the Suya and by extension for other groups through an examination of myth telling speech making and singing in an initiation ceremony This new paperback edition features a CD offering examples of the myth telling speeches and singing discussed as well as a new afterword that describes the continuing use of music by the Suya in their recent conflicts with cattle ranchers and soybean farmers Prov de l editor Music and Conflict John Morgan O'Connell, Salwa El-Shawan Castelo-Branco, 2010-10-01 This volume charts a new frontier of applied ethnomusicology by highlighting the role of music in both inciting and resolving a spectrum of social and political conflicts in the contemporary world Examining the materials and practices of music making contributors detail how music and performance are deployed to critique power structures and to nurture cultural awareness among communities in conflict The essays here range from musicological studies to ethnographic analyses to accounts of practical interventions that could serve as models for conflict resolution Music and Conflict reveals how musical texts are manipulated by opposing groups to promote conflict and how music can be utilized to advance conflict resolution Speaking to the cultural implications of globalization and pointing out how music can promote a shared musical heritage across borders the essays discuss the music of Albania Azerbaijan Brazil Egypt Germany Indonesia Iran Ireland North and South Korea Uganda the United States and the former Yugoslavia The volume also includes dozens of illustrations including photos maps and musical scores Contributors are Samuel Araujo William Beeman Stephen Blum Salwa El Shawan Castelo Branco David Cooper Keith Howard Inna Naroditskaya John Morgan O Connell Svanibor Pettan Anne K Rasmussen Adelaida Reyes Anthony Seeger Jane C Sugarman and Britta Sweers Slaves of One Master Matthew S. Hopper, 2015-01-01 Matthew S Hopper s wide ranging history of the African diaspora and slavery in Arabia in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries examines the interconnected themes of enslavement globalization and empire and challenges previously held conventions regarding Middle Eastern slavery and British imperialism Linking the personal stories of enslaved Africans to the impersonal global commodity chains their labor enabled this provocative and deeply researched study contradicts the conventional historiography that regards the Indian Ocean slave trade as fundamentally different from its Atlantic counterpart and disputes the triumphalist antislavery narrative that attributes the end of the East African Persian Gulf slave trade to the efforts of the British Royal Navy Social Influences on Vocal Development Charles T. Snowdon, Martine Hausberger, 1997-03-20 For at least 30 years there have been close parallels between studies of birdsong development and those of the development of human language Both song and language require species specific stimulation at a sensitive period in development and subsequent practice through subsong and plastic song in birds and babbling in infant humans leading to the development of characteristic vocalisations for each species This book illustrates how social interactions during development can shape vocal learning and extend the sensitive period beyond infancy and how social companions can induce flexibility even into adulthood Social companions in a wide range of species including birds and humans but also cetaceans and nonhuman primates play important roles in shaping vocal production as well as the comprehension and appropriate usage of vocal communication This book will be required reading for students and researchers interested in animal and human communication and its development Cataloging Sheet Music Music Library Association. Working Group on Sheet Music Cataloging Guidelines,2003-07-08 Discussions are designed to expand the music cataloger's understanding of publishing practices peculiar to sheet music While much of the content emphasizes the description of the music there are also sections devoted to subject access to illustrations first line chorus refrain text illustrators engravers and publishers and extensive reproductions of title pages from the 18th through mid 20th centuries accompanied by examples of the cataloging are also included The Coen Brothers and American Roots Music Jesse Gerlach Ulmer,2023-04-25 For more than three decades Joel and Ethan Coen have produced some of the most memorable and influential American roots music soundtracks in film history From Raising Arizona 1987 to O Brother Where Art Thou 2000 to Inside Llewyn Davis 2013 the Coens along with musical archivist and producer T Bone Burnett have curated half forgotten yet unforgettable genres artists and songs from America's cultural past for new audiences This book is the first devoted to giving a full account of this rich cinematic legacy Annual Report of the Department of Education of the Province of Alberta Alberta.
