Lost In The Fifties:

Lost Films of the Fifties Douglas Brode, 1988 How do you define forgotten A lost film to my mind is a movie that has yet to evolve as a cult film but which has the potential to One rule of thumb in compiling the hundred films I write about here and the selection process was a long painful one was that I would severely limit the number of films featuring big stars I put a high priority on emphasizing movies that ought to be anthologized but which probably never would unless I included them here from Introduction From the Fleet in the Fifties Mrs. Tom Kelly, 1902 From the fleet in the fifties, a history of the Crimean war. With which is incorporated letters written by S.K. Stothert Mrs. Tom Kelly, 1902 Rural Worlds Lost Jack Temple Kirby, 1986-12-01 Immediately following the Civil War and for many years thereafter southerners proclaimed a New South implying not only the end of slavery but also the beginning of a new era of growth industrialization and prosperity Time has shown that those declarations at least in terms of progress and prosperity were premature by several decades Life for an Alabama tenant farmer in 1920 did not differ significantly from the life his grandfather led fifty years earlier In fact the South remained primarily a land of poor farming folks until the 1940s Only then and after World War II did the real New South of industrial growth and urban development begin to emerge Jack Temple Kirby's massive and engaging study examines the rural southern world of the first half of this century its collapse and the resulting modernization of southern society The American South was the last region of the Western world to undergo this process and Rural Worlds Lost is the first book to so thoroughly assess the profound changes modernization has wrought Kirby painstakingly charts the structural changes in agriculture that have occurred in the South and the effects these changes have had on people both at work and in the community He is quick to note that there is not just one South but many emphasizing the South's diversity not only in terms of race but also in terms of crop type and topography and the resultant cultural differences of various areas of the region He also skillfully compares southern life and institutions with those in other parts of the country noting discrepancies and similarities Perhaps even more significant however is Kirby's focus on the lives and communities of ordinary people and how they have been transformed by the effects of modernization By using the oral histories collected by WPA interviewers Kirby shows firsthand how rural southerners lived in the 1930s and what forces shaped their views on life He assesses the impact of cash upon traditional rural economies the revolutionary effects of New Deal programs on the rich and poor and the forms and cultural results of migration Kirby also treats home life recording attitudes toward marriage and sex health maintenance and class relationships not to mention sports and leisure moonshining and the southerner's longstanding love hate relationship with the mule Rural Worlds Lost based on exceptionally extensive research in archives throughout the South and in federal agricultural censuses definitively charts the enormous changes that have taken place in the South in this century Writing about Kirby's previous book Media Made Dixie Time Magazine noted Kirby's scholarship of rare lucidity That same high level of scholarship as well as an undeniable affection for the region is abundantly evident in this new path breaking book The Long Gray Line Rick Atkinson, 2010-04-01 The New York Times bestseller about West Point's Class of 1966 by Pulitzer Prize winning journalist and author Rick Atkinson A story of epic proportions and an awesome feat of biographical reconstruction The Boston Globe A classic of its kind The Long Gray Line is the twenty five year saga of the West Point class of 1966 With a novelist's eye for detail Rick Atkinson author of the Liberation Trilogy illuminates this powerful story through the lives of three classmates and the women they loved from the boisterous cadet years to the fires of Vietnam to the hard peace and internal struggles that followed the war The rich cast of characters also includes Douglas MacArthur William C Westmoreland and a score of other memorable figures The class of 1966 straddled a fault line in American history and Atkinson's masterly book speaks for a generation of American men and women about innocence patriotism and the price we pay for our dreams Tales ,1906 Reminiscences of Fifty Years' Residence in Western Australia J. T. Reilly, 1903 New Norcia Mission treatment of Aborigines at Broome conflict between settlers and Aborigines the native question Beagle Bay Mission established at King Sound Aborigines Protection Board provisions for Aborigines in WA Constitution Royal Commission on native welfare proposed Codex Purpureus Petropolitanus Harry Stovell Cronin, 1899

Lost Borders Mary Austin, 1909 Short stories [formerly Magazine of short stories]. , 1901 Notes and Queries ,1910 The Forgotten Fifties John Murphy, Judith Smart, 1997 Some of Australia's leading historians present new perspectives on social and cultural life in the 1950s The 1950s is usually treated in the popular media as a metaphor for an Australia that was complacent monocultural banal and domesticated On the other hand historical writing about the decade has long been dominated by accounts of political and foreign policy conflict the Labor Split the Cold War and the seemingly endless long summer of Robert Menzies This collection assembles some of Australia's leading historians to present new perspectives on the 1950s Focusing on social and cultural themes they reveal a decade full of contradictions which belie the common simplistic accounts of the time Ranging from the education of the young Barry Humphries to the idea of an Australian identity in the lead up to the 1956 Olympics these essays also include the personal recollections of three leading historians providing a lively and critical insight into the Australia of the period Drawing out themes such as style sexuality modernism the suburbs travel writing and immigrant assimilation the authors excavate the experience of everyday life and the attitudes that characterised the 1950s They present a past that despite having shaped our lives continues to be disputed in contemporary Australia
