Harmsen, 1981 The Horse and Jockey from Artemision Séan A. Hemingway, Séan Hemingway, 2004-07-08 In 1928 and again in 1937 parts of a large scale bronze horse and nearly complete jockey were recovered from the sea off Cape Artemision in Greece where they had gone down in a shipwreck These original Hellenistic sculptures known together as the Horse and Jockey Group from Artemision are among the very few surviving bronze sculptures from antiquity. Sean Hemingway has been allowed by the National Museum in Athens to investigate the horse and jockey statuary group as no one ever has before and in this book combining archaeological and art historical methods of investigation he provides the first in depth study of this rare and beautiful monument. New technical analyses of the statues by Helen Andreopoulou Mangou form an appendix to the volume. Hemingway begins with an introduction to Hellenistic bronze statuary and what we know about this extraordinary class of ancient sculpture. He then recounts with riveting detail the discovery and painstaking restoration of the statue group describing the technique of its creation and carefully reviewing scholarly knowledge and speculation about it. He also provides a valuable compendium of what is known about ancient Greek horse racing the most prestigious and splendid of all Greek sports. After a full consideration of all the available evidence he speculates further about the work's original meaning and function. His study provides a glimpse of the excellence achieved by Hellenistic bronze sculptors and it will become the definitive resource on this unique sculpture from ancient Greece.

The Red and the White: A Family Saga of the American West Andrew R. Graybill, 2013-10-07 Winner of the Labriola Center American Indian National Book Award. One of the American West's bloodiest and least known massacres is searingly re-created in this generation spanning history of native white intermarriage. At dawn on January 23 1870 four hundred men of the Second U.S. Cavalry attacked and butchered a Piegan camp near the Marias River in Montana in one of the worst slaughters of Indians by American military forces in U.S. history. Coming to avenge the murder of their father a former fur trader named Malcolm Clarke who had been killed four months earlier by their Piegan mother's cousin Clarke's own two sons joined the cavalry in a slaughter of many of their own relatives. In this groundbreaking work of American history Andrew R. Graybill places the Marias Massacre within a larger three generation saga of the Clarke family particularly illuminating the complex history of native white intermarriage in the American Northwest.

Classical Bronzes Carol C. Mattusch, 2019-04-15 One of the world's leading authorities on ancient bronze sculpture Carol C Mattusch urges us to discard the terms Greek original and Roman copy and to adopt instead terms that distinguish unique works from those produced in series and those produced as variations on a theme She discusses the dating of bronzes based on criteria of technique and style and considers technical innovations in the art of portraiture Most controversially she offers evidence that Greek artists cast bronzes in series based on a single model Mattusch points out that examples of series castings can be found among the statuettes and vessel attachments from the Geometric and Orientalizing periods From the Classical period onward statues also appear to have been cast in series Certain styles and types of images that achieved widespread popularity during the Hellenistic and Roman periods were produced in large quantities and in several different places This book will raise important new questions in the field of Classical bronze sculpture How long might a single model remain in use and how far might casts from it be transported for production What is the significance of an artist's signature on a work in a series and what influence was wielded by the potential buyer And given these issues what should the criteria be for distinguishing Greek works from Roman ones Classical Bronzes is generously illustrated including an eight page color insert Journal of the Institute of Metals Institute of Metals, 1926 Issues for Sept 1951 include the Bulletin
