Seahenge A Contemporary Chronicle:

Seahenge Matthew Champion,2000 Seahenge Charlie Watson,2005 Once exposed to the elements the waterlogged timbers would soon have been lost to erosion so they were carefully excavated and removed for preservation Accurate records taken during the excavations and the latest scientific analytical and dating techniques have since assisted scholars in interpreting the monument and in explaining its use and significance in the broader context of Bronze Age society Celtic Myth in Contemporary Children's Fantasy Dimitra Fimi,2017-03-06 Runner up of the Katherine Briggs Folklore Award 2017 Winner of the Mythopoeic Scholarship Award for Myth Fantasy Studies 2019 This book examines the creative uses of Celtic myth in contemporary fantasy written for children or young adults from the 1960s to the 2000s Its scope ranges from classic children s fantasies such as Lloyd Alexander s The Chronicles of Prydain and Alan Garner s The Owl Service to some of the most recent award winning fantasy authors of the last decade such as Kate Thompson The New Policeman and Catherine Fisher Darkhenge The book focuses on the ways these fantasy works have appropriated and adapted Irish and Welsh medieval literature in order to highlight different perceptions of Celticity The term Celtic itself is interrogated in light of recent debates in Celtic studies in order to explore a fictional representation of a national past that is often romanticized and political Modern Studies in Property Law - Volume 6 Susan Bright,2011-05-13 The Modern Studies in Property Law Conference has become well known as a unique opportunity for property lawyers to meet and confer both formally and informally The eighth biennial conference was held at the University of Oxford in March 2010 and this book is the sixth in the series Modern Studies in Property Law The volume is a refereed and revised selection of the papers given at the Oxford conference covering a broad range of topics of contemporary importance both nationally and internationally The book includes chapters written by the key speakers at the conference Lady Justice Arden Professor Kevin Gray and Law Commissioner Professor Elizabeth Cooke Common Law and Modern Society Mary Arden,2015 Law is a lasting social institution but it must also be responsive to change In this volume Mary Arden draws upon her experience to examine how judge made law adapts to the evolving demands of society how law reform works in practice and the future of the judiciary in our diverse modern culture The Nature of Magic Susan Greenwood,2020-06-03 This book examines how and why practitioners of nature religion Western witches druids shamans seek to relate spiritually with nature through magical consciousness Magic and consciousness are concepts that are often fraught with prejudice and ambiguity respectively Greenwood develops a new theory of magical consciousness by arguing that magic ultimately has more to do with the workings of the human mind in terms of an expanded awareness than with socio cultural explanations She combines her own subjective insights gained from magical practice with practitioners in depth accounts and sustained academic theory on the process of magic She also tracks magical consciousness in philosophy myth folklore story telling and the hi tech discourse of postmodernity and asks important questions concerning nature religion s environmental credentials such as whether it as inherently ecological as many of its practitioners claim Shamans/neo-Shamans Robert J. Wallis, 2003 Robert J Wallis explores the interface between the new and prehistoric shamans of popular culture and anthropology drawing on interviews with a variety of practitioners particularly contemporary pagans in Britain and north America A Life in Norfolk's Archaeology: 1950-2016 Peter Wade-Martins, 2017-11-03 A personal history of Peter Wade Martins archaeological endeavour in Norfolk set within a national context It covers the writer's early experiences as a volunteer the rise of field archaeology as a profession and efforts to conserve archaeological heritage Public Archaeology Nick Merriman, 2004-08-02 Scrutinizing in detail the relationship between archaeology heritage and the public this much needed volume explores public interest and participation in archaeology as a subject worthy of academic attention in its own right Examining case studies from throughout the world from North America Britain Egypt and Brazil to East Africa China and beyond Nick Merriman focuses on two key areas communication and interpretation and stakeholders Constant reports of new discoveries protests over the destruction of sites and debates over the return of artefacts such as the Elgin marbles or indigenous remains testify to an increasing public interest in archaeology For students and scholars of this archaeology and of its relationship with the public this will prove essential reading Education and the Historic Environment Donald Henson, Peter G. Stone, Mike Corbishley, 2004 Examining evidence case studies and chapters from a wide cross section of the heritage sector this book is practical inspiring and instructive while emphasizing the contribution to both education and heritage that results from a positive relationship between the two disciplines Oak: The Frame of Civilization William Bryant Logan, 2006-06-27 Explores the role that the oak tree has played throughout history and in shaping the modern world The Magic of Coin-Trees from Religion to Recreation Ceri Houlbrook, 2018-04-23 This book traces the history of ritual landscapes in the British Isles and the transition from religious practice to recreation by focusing on a highly understudied exemplar the coin tree These are trees imbued with magical properties into which coins have been ritually embedded This is a contemporary custom which can be traced back in the literature to the 1700s when it was practiced for folk medical and dedicatory purposes Today the custom is widespread with over 200 coin trees distributed across the British Isles but is more akin to the casual deposition of coins in a wishing well coins are deposited in the tree in exchange for wishes good luck or future fortune Ceri Houlbrook contributes to the debate on the historic relationships between religion ritual and popular magic in British contexts from 1700 to the present Stone Jeffrey Jerome Cohen, 2015-05-06 Stone maps the force vivacity and stories within our most mundane matter stone For too long stone has served as an unexamined metaphor for the really real blunt factuality nature's curt rebuke Yet medieval writers knew that stones drop with fire from the sky emerge through the subterranean lovemaking of the elements tumble along riverbeds from Eden partner with the masons who build worlds with them Such motion suggests an ecological enmeshment and an almost creaturely mineral life Although geological time can leave us reeling Jeffrey Jerome Cohen argues that stone's endurance is also an invitation to apprehend the world in other than human terms Never truly inert stone poses a profound challenge to modernity's disenchantments Its agency undermines the human desire to be separate from the environment a bifurcation that renders nature out there a mere resource for recreation consumption and exploitation Written with great verve and elegance this pioneering work is notable not only for interweaving the medieval and the modern but also as a major contribution to ecotheory Comprising chapters organized by concept Geophilia Time Force and Soul Cohen seamlessly brings together a wide range of topics including stone's potential to transport humans into nonanthropocentric scales of place and time the petrification of certain cultures the messages fossils bear the architecture of Bordeaux and Montparnasse Yucca Mountain and nuclear waste disposal the ability of stone to communicate across millennia in structures like Stonehenge and debates over whether stones reproduce and have souls Showing that what is often assumed to be the most lifeless of substances is in its own time restless and forever in motion Stone fittingly concludes by taking us to Iceland a land that writes the author reminds us that stone like water is alive that stone like water is transient

Written on Stone Joanne Parker, 2009-10-02 This collection of essays is not interested in the unresolved questions about the origin original use and authentic meaning of the prehistoric monuments of the British Isles It is not concerned with their prehistory Rather it deals with the history of barrows standing stones and stone circles with the ways in which they have been viewed the meanings that have been attributed to them and the significant impact that they have had over the centuries on British life and culture from motivating artists authors musicians and film makers to inspiring New Age religions It is thus as interested in stones commonly believed to be megaliths like the foundation stones of the chapel in the Dartmoor village of South Zeal as in real remains In her recent study of Stonehenge the historian Rosemary Hill asserted Stonehenge does not belong to archaeology or not to archaeology alone Likewise this book is not written primarily for archaeologists or not for the interest of archaeologists alone It will also be of interest to social and cultural historians to those interested in fine art literature or film and to anyone fascinated by the construction of national local or counter cultural identities It should also intrigue anybody who lives near one of the thousands of prehistoric remains that add beauty and mystery to Britain's countryside The book surveys over eight hundred years of rediscovery study superstition inspiration fear restoration and destruction investigating how different generations saw their own anxieties beliefs and concerns reflected in the mysterious lives of the prehistoric builders By discussing the many different ways in which prehistoric remains have been treated in different periods the book interrogates any notion of objective approaches to archaeology Instead it asserts that what we think of as the past is in fact multiple and man made Thus if we are to effectively interpret and fully understand the prehistoric remains of the past a variety of disciplines and a range of approaches both traditional and unconventional will need to work together For this reason this book has been produced as a jointly authored text a collaboration between archaeologists folklorists historians journalists and literary critics

showing Norfolk to be a distinct region of national and international significance This book traces the story of this area from the Ice Age and the first appearance of people to the end of Roman Britain In particular it focuses on the many remarkable and exciting discoveries made across what is now Norfolk often through the contribution of amateur enthusiasts The remarkable and continuing pace of new finds principally in the form of individual artefacts as well as through the more conventional processes of aerial photography and fieldwork has served to transform our understanding of the county's past in recent years Norfolk's distinctive landscape provides a dramatic backdrop against which the achievements of the inhabitants are followed Evidence is sought for the ancestors of Boudica who responded to a series of changes and challenges from very earliest prehistoric times through to the early historical period under the Romans Many images previously never published before and many in full colour John Davies has been keeper of Archaeology at Norwich Castle Museum since 1997 and is now also Chief Curator for Norfolk Museums and Archaeology Service He has worked as an archaeologist in Norfolk since 1984 During the time he has been involved with the promotion of a positive liaison between professional and amateur archaeologist in particular metal detector users He is a specialist in the coinage of Roman Britain and has published widely on the subject of coinage from British archaeological sites His most recent interests include aspects of Iron Age East Anglia and Roman Norfolk

The Local Historian, 2001 Issues for autumn 1961 include the Standing Conference for Local History Bulletin

Rethinking Wetland Archaeology Robert Van De Noort, Aidan O'Sullivan, 2006-03-16 Shows how wetland studies can be contextualised within geographical cultural and theoretical frameworks This book discusses how wetland archaeological discoveries can be understood in terms of past people's perception and understanding of landscape which was not only a source of economic benefit but a storehouse of cultural values and beliefs

Europe's Lost World Vincent L. Gaffney, Simon Fitch, David N. Smith, 2009 This excellent book which deserves a wide readership reports on the work of the North Sea Palaeolandscapes Project which has been researching the fascinating lost landscape of Doggerland which until the end of the last Ice Age connected Britain to the continent in the North Sea area It aims to make the findings available to a general readership and show just how impressive they have been with nearly 23 000km² mapped The techniques used to reconstruct the landscape are explained and conclusions and speculation about the climate and vegetation of the area in the Mesolithic offered It also tells the story of the rediscovery of Doggerland and the Mesolithic landscape more generally from the pioneering work of Clement Reid in the nineteenth century to the research of Grahame Clark and Bryony Coles in the twentieth It's also worth pointing out just how well produced and illustrated the book is and one can only hope that it can spark public interest in a comparatively little known phase of our prehistory
