

"The book is important and exciting because it provides rich material to test theories in social science and psychiatry . . . Without jargonistic fanfare Dr. Field has undoubtedly made a major contribution to the problem of culture and personality."

Colonial Psychiatry and the African Mind Jock McCulloch,1995-01-12 In this first history of psychiatry in colonial Africa Jock McCulloch describes the clinical approaches of well known European practitioners including Frantz Fanon and Wulf Sachs They operated independently of one another Yet despite their differences they shared a coherent set of ideas about the African Mind based on the colonial notion of African inferiority By exploring the association between settler ideology and psychiatric research this study examines colonial science as a system of knowledge and power

The Anthropology of Security Mark

Maguire,Catarina Frois,Nils Zurawski,2014-07-20 In a post Cold War world of political unease and economic crisis processes of securitisation are transforming nation states their citizens and non citizens in profound ways The book shows how contemporary Europe is now home to a vast security industry which uses biometric identification systems CCTV and quasi military techniques to police migrants and disadvantaged neighbourhoods This is the first collection of anthropological studies of security with a particular but not exclusive emphasis on Europe The Anthropology of Security draws together studies on the lived experiences of security and policing from the perspective of those most affected in their everyday lives The anthropological perspectives in this volume stretch from the frontlines of policing and counter terrorism to border control

Voices of the Poor in Africa Elizabeth Allo Isichei,2004 An ambitious new approach to African studies utilizing indigenous sources to bring back the voices of the native Africans in their own words rather than that of colonizers and foreigners Elizabeth Isichei explores the Atlantic slave trade as reflected in the poetics of rumour and the poetics of memory an approach different from the quantitative and demographic studies which have transformed the subject over the past twenty years To this and to her study of popular consciousness in the colony and postcolony she brings together a wide range of disciplines ethnography art and art history and contemporary literary theory among them to look at the intellectual history of Africa from African rather than European premises The result is a history of popular consciousness which shows the experiences of ordinary people often in protest to an ongoing experience of exploitation Elizabeth Isichei is Professor of Religious Studies Otago University Dunedin New Zealand and author of over a dozen books on African history and religion She holds an Oxford doctorate and a D Litt from the University of Canterbury and is a fellow of the Royal Society N Z

Political Elite of Iran Marvin Zonis,2015-03-08 In interviews with 170 politically active Iranians the author reveals that politics in Iran are based on interpersonal relationships marked by insecurity cynicism and mistrust He then assesses the significance of these characteristics for Iran's future development Originally published in 1971 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished

Body, Meaning, Healing T. Csordas, 2002-09-05 Exactly where is the common ground between religion and medicine in phenomena described as religious healing In what sense is the human body a cultural phenomenon and not merely a biological entity Drawing on over twenty years of research on topics ranging from Navajo and Catholic Charismatic ritual healing to the cultural and religious implications of virtual reality in biomedical technology Body Meaning Healing sensitively examines these questions about human experience and the meaning of being human In recognizing the way that the meaningfulness of our existence as bodily beings is sometimes created in the encounter between suffering and the sacred these penetrating ethnographic studies elaborate an experimental understanding of the therapeutic process and trace the outlines of a cultural phenomenology grounded in embodiment Development Assistance Program, FY 1976-FY 1980, Ghana United States. Agency for International Development, 1975 The Handbook of Culture and Psychology David Ricky Matsumoto, Hyi Sung Hwang, 2019 This book describes the continued evolution and advancement of cultural and cross cultural psychology Renowned authors review the state of the art in well studied areas such as development cognition emotion personality psychopathology psychotherapy and acculturation as well as emerging areas such as multicultural identities cultural neuroscience and religion The book is a must read for all culturally informed scholars Troubled in the Land of Enchantment Janis H. Jenkins, Thomas J. Csordas, 2020-08-25 In this groundbreaking study based on five years of in depth ethnographic and interdisciplinary research Troubled in the Land of Enchantment explores the well being of adolescents hospitalized for psychiatric care in New Mexico Anthropologists Janis H Jenkins and Thomas J Csordas present a gripping picture of psychic distress familial turmoil and treatment under the regime of managed care that dominates the mental health care system The authors make the case for the centrality of struggle in the lives of youth across an array of extraordinary conditions characterized by personal anguish and structural violence Critical to the analysis is the cultural phenomenology of existence disclosed through shifting narrative accounts by youth and their families as they grapple with psychiatric diagnosis poverty misogyny and stigma in their trajectories through multiple forms of harm and sites of care Jenkins and Csordas compellingly direct our attention to the conjunction of lived experience institutional power and the very possibility of having a life The Highest Stage of White Supremacy John Whitson Cell, 1982-10-29 This book analyses the origins of segregation in South Africa and the American South Spirit & Mind Helene Basu, Roland Littlewood, Arne S. Steinforth, 2017 For more than a century anthropologists and psychiatrists engage in conversations concerning relationships between embodied well being and religion Taking account of shifting meanings of religion in global modernities the included essays reveal how historically and culturally embedded local encounters between psychiatry religious experience and ritual healing contribute to an increasing diversification of mental health The multitude of theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches brought to the field in the global north and the global south introduce novel insights into current debates between clinical practitioners ethnographic fieldworkers and historians of psychiatry Series Culture Religion and Psychiatry Vol 1 Subject Psychiatry Religious Studies Ethnography Sociology Routledge Library Editions: Spiritualism Various,2022-07-30 The volumes in this set originally published between 1974 and 1992 draw together research by leading academics in spiritualism and provide a rigorous examination of related key issues The collection examines spirituality from a broad range of disciplines from the spirituality in the Christian church spirituality in Africa and Afro American religions as well as examining the areas of channeling mediumship and spirit possession In this 3 volume set there are two incredibly unique and insightful bibliographic source collections examining both primary and secondary source listings across the subject of spiritualism and one volume providing field research into spirituality in the Christian church and in the occult This collection is an incredibly useful tool for researchers examining the broad area of spiritualism and will be of interest to researchers academics and students of anthropology religion and sociology Conflict in Africa Adda Bruemmer Bozeman,2015-03-08 Do modern Western ideas about the nature of conflict and its resolution apply to Africa To answer this question Adda Bozeman examines conflict in Africa south of the Sahara in its many social political and cultural aspects past and present The author shows how African perspectives on war and diplomacy have evolved under the influence of nonliteracy tribalism and a concept of undifferentiated time In addition she confirms that indigenous cultural traditions are resurgent everywhere making it unlikely that African political values will become more closely aligned with those of the West The two civilizations view conflict differently and have different ways of resolving it The Africans are more at ease with conflict than their Western counterparts and they do not see war and peace as the mutually exclusive phenomena that Occidental societies hold them to be The author concludes that modern Western concepts of conflict not only do not but cannot allow for African realities Originally published in 1976 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Psychology and Race Peter Watson, Since the problems of race relations are worldwide the international origins and perspectives of this excellent and timely book are especially advantageous More research has been done in the United States than elsewhere on the psychology of race relations so it is appropriate that a plurality of the chapters of this book are by American authors a stellar group that includes leading contributors to our contemporary knowledge of the topic Contributors from the English speaking Commonwealth countries are next in number followed by authors from the United Kingdom where race related issues have only recently become a salient concern of politics and social ethics The editor has assigned topics to his carefully chosen author experts not by country or region but by matching the expertise of each author against a need for coherent analysis of the important aspects of psychology and race Psychology and Race is divided into two major parts The first half of the book looks at the interracial situation itself The first section concentrates on the majority or dominant group and describes the development and measurement of racial awareness and prejudice and techniques for reducing prejudice the second section focuses on the reactions of subordinate or minority groups and the third deals with specific aspects of interpersonal interaction attitudes behavior and performance when the people concerned are of different races The book also looks at those areas of life where race is relevant and where psychology can help in an understanding of the situation The scope of this volume the distinction of its authors and the hardheaded sense of reality it brings to the discussion of these extremely complex issues will make it an invaluable resource not only for teachers and students but also for everyone concerned in any way with this most pressing issue of our times Peter Watson was deputy editor of The New Society and spent a total of four years with The London Sunday Times as part of their Insight Team He has written several books and since 1998 has been Research Associate at the Illicit Antiquities Research Centre located at the McDonald Institute for Archaeological Research at the University of Cambridge United Kingdom

Death, Belief and Politics in Central African History Kalusa, Walima T., Vaughan, Megan, 2013-11-11 In this set of essays Walima T Kalusa and Megan Vaughan explore themes in the history of death in Zambia and Malawi from the late nineteenth century to the present day Drawing on extensive archival and oral historical research they examine the impact of Christianity on spiritual beliefs the racialised politics of death on the colonial Copperbelt the transformation of burial practices the histories of suicide and of maternal mortality and the political life of the corpse

Please, Take Photographs Sindiwe Magona, 2009 Sindiwe Magona's poems conspire with her Even years after being written they still seem warm from her lips and it is this residue of her telling them that draws you into their confidence From the languid innocence of the poems about her village to her shattering images of Africa at war Magona leads you headlong into her fireside circle where archetypes flicker like shadows on a face that has seen and been Please Take Photographs is defiant and tender horrific and homely at once irreverent outspoken and beautiful

The Empire of Depression Jonathan Sadowsky, 2020-10-22 Depression has colonized the world Today more than 300 million of us have been diagnosed as depressed But 150 years ago depression referred to a mood not a sickness Does that mean people weren't sick before only sad Of course not Mental illness is a complex thing part biological part social its definition dependent on time and place But in the mid twentieth century even as European empires were crumbling new Western clinical models and treatments for mental health spread across the world In so doing depression began to displace older ideas like melancholia the Japanese utsush or the Punjabi sinking heart syndrome Award winning historian Jonathan Sadowsky tells this global story chronicling the path breaking work of psychiatrists and pharmacists and the intimate sufferings of patients Revealing the continuity of human distress across time and place he shows us how different cultures have experienced intense mental anguish and how they have tried to alleviate it He reaches an unflinching conclusion the devastating effects of depression are real A number of treatments do reduce suffering but a permanent cure remains elusive Throughout the history of depression there have been overzealous promoters of particular approaches but history shows us that there is no single way to get better that works for everyone Like successful psychotherapy history can liberate us from the negative patterns of the past
