violence during the Ming expeditions The Aral Sea Basin Philip Micklin, William D. Williams, 2013-04-18 The Aral Sea Basin which is located in the central Asian part of the former Soviet Union is undergoing dramatically rapid and intense environmental change Pervasive human misuse and overuse of its water land and other critical natural resources have led to severe degradation of key ecological systems This book analyses the environmental human and economic problems that have arisen and presents recommendations for future research needs Primary focus is on the drying of the Aral Sea but related issues of diminished river flow land and water pollution and degradation ecosystem deterioration and adverse effects on humans are also examined Routledge Handbook of National and Regional Ocean Policies Biliana Cicin-Sain, David Vanderzwaag, Miriam C. Balgos, 2015-05-15 This comprehensive handbook prepared by leading ocean policy academics and practitioners from around the world presents in depth analyses of the experiences of fifteen developed and developing nations and four key regions of the world that have taken concrete steps toward cross cutting and integrated national and regional ocean policy All chapters follow a common framework for policy analysis While most coastal nations of the world already have a variety of sectoral policies in place to manage different uses of the ocean such as shipping fishing oil and gas development in the last two decades the coastal nations covered in the book have undertaken concerted efforts to articulate and implement an integrated ecosystem based vision for the governance of ocean areas under their jurisdiction This includes goals and procedures to harmonize existing uses and laws to foster sustainable development of ocean areas to protect biodiversity and vulnerable resources and ecosystems and to coordinate the actions of the many government agencies that are typically involved in oceans affairs The book highlights the serious conflicts of use in most national ocean zones and the varying attempts by nations to follow the prescriptions emanating from the 1982 UN Law of the Sea Convention and the outcomes of the 1992 2002 and 2012 sustainable development summits The interrelationship among uses and processes in the coast and ocean requires that ocean governance be integrated precautionary and anticipatory Overall the book provides a definitive state of the art review and analysis of national and regional ocean policies around the world The Sea, Volume 14B: the Global Coastal Ocean Allan R. Robinson, Kenneth H. Brink, 2006 In multidisciplinary efforts to understand and manage our planet contemporary ocean science plays an essential role Volumes 13 and 14 of The Sea focus on two of the most important components in the field of ocean science today the coastal ocean and its interactions with the deep sea and coupled physical biogeochemical and ecosystem dynamics Life in the World's Oceans Alasdair McIntyre, 2010-11-18 Life in the World's Oceans Diversity Abundance and Distribution is a true landmark publication Comprising the synthesis and analysis of the results of the Census of Marine Life this most important book brings together the work of around 2000 scientists from 80 nations around the globe The book is broadly divided into four sections covering oceans past oceans present oceans future and a final section covering the utilisation of the data which has been gathered and the coordination and communication of the results Edited by Professor Alasdair McIntyre Marine Life is a book which should find a place on the shelves of all marine scientists ecologists conservation biologists oceanographers fisheries scientists and environmental biologists All universities and research establishments where biological earth and fisheries science are studied and taught should have copies of this essential book on their shelves A true landmark publication One of the most important marine science books ever published Contributions from many world leading researchers Synthesis of a huge amount of important data Represents the culmination of 10 years research by 2000 scientists from 80 countries Marine Geography Barbara Bischof, 2025-02-06 Marine Geography Ocean Space and Sense of Place offers an innovative and comprehensive exploration of ocean spaces through the lens of geographic thought establishing marine geography as a unique subdiscipline It addresses the historical neglect of oceans in geography providing core theories and approaches that can be applied to address geographic issues unique to this space such as fisheries blue economies coastal development and management mobilities and shipping and maritime governance Expanding traditional geographic concepts and incorporating the more than human elements inherent to this space this work tweaks ways that geographic analysis can be applied to ocean systems in meaningful ways This book explores mapping techniques and lays out the physical dynamics and scientific models that provide the contextual realities with which we engage these complex environments and explores how our land based perspectives shape our interactions with the marine world It assembles the innovative theoretical geographical frameworks being applied to address ocean spaces and provides the building blocks for establishing an ocean point of view Filled with practical examples and foundational theories this book serves as a vital resource for students researchers and anyone interested in bridging the gap between marine science and geography Offers ways to define ocean geographies from within contexts of ocean systems rather than a view from land that is simply extended seaward Establishes a strategy to adapt or reframe core theories in both human and physical geography and proposes a start to a formal subdiscipline of marine and coastal geography Provides a picture of geographic features unique to ocean systems and lays the foundation for a distinct geography of marine spaces with which to confront issues in oceans natural resource management marine science and exploration communication and trade boundaries governance etc On the Ocean Barry Cunliffe, 2017-09-29 For humans the sea is and always has been an alien environment Ever moving and ever changing in mood it is a place without time in contrast to the land which is fixed and scarred by human activity giving it a visible history While the land is familiar even reassuring the sea is unknown and threatening By taking to the sea humans put themselves at its mercy It has often been perceived to be an alien power teasing and cajoling The sea may give but it takes Why then did humans become seafarers Part of the answer is that we are conditioned by our genetics to be acquisitive animals we like to acquire rare materials and we are eager for esoteric knowledge and society rewards us well for both Looking out to sea most will be curious as to what is out there a mysterious island perhaps but what lies beyond Our innate inquisitiveness drives us to explore Barry Cunliffe looks at the development of seafaring on the Mediterranean and the Atlantic two contrasting seas the Mediterranean without a significant tide enclosed and soon to become familiar the Atlantic with its frightening tidal ranges an ocean without end We begin with the Middle Palaeolithic hunter gatherers in the eastern Mediterranean building simple vessels to make their remarkable crossing to Crete and we end in the early years of the sixteenth century with sailors from Spain Portugal and England establishing the limits of the ocean from Labrador to Patagonia The message is that the contest between humans and the sea has been a driving force perhaps the driving force in human history
