Seasonal Variability In Third World Agriculture The Consequences For Food Security:

Seasonal Variability in Third World Agriculture David E. Sahn, 1989 Seasonality and Agriculture in the Developing World Gerard J. Gill, 1991-04-11 Seasonal variation in welfare in rural areas of the Third World is a recognised problem In general the poorer people are the more they tend to suffer during the season of hunger and sickness This book takes an overall view of the seasonality problem exploring its climatic and social roots Global Food Insecurity Mohamed Behnassi, Sidney Draggan, Sanni Yaya, 2011-03-29 Human kind and ecological systems are currently facing one of the toughest challenges how to feed more billions of people in the future within the perspective of climate change energy shortages economic crises and growing competition for the use of renewable and non renewable resources This challenge is even more crucial given that we have not yet come close to achieving the Millennium Development Goal of halving the number of people living in extreme poverty and hunger Scientists and relevant stakeholders are now voicing a clear message that multiple challenges the world is facing require innovative multifaceted science based technological economic and political approaches in theoretical thinking decision making and action With this background central to survival and well being the purpose of this volume is to formulate and promote relevant theoretical analysis and policy recommendations The major perspective of this publication is that paradigm and policy shifts at all levels are needed urgently This is based on the evidence that agriculture in the 21st century will be undergoing significant demands arising largely from the need to increase the global food enterprise while adjusting and contributing to climate change adaptation and mitigation Global Food Insecurity aims at providing structure to effect achievement of this critically needed roadmap Foodgrain price stabilization in developing countries Nurul Islam, Saji Thomas, 1996 A brief summary of the analytics of price stabilization Some operational aspects of food price stabilization policies Alternatives to price stabilization crop insurance and futures markets Price stabilization policy rationale and objectives Design and implementation of stabilization policy Impact of stabilization policy on price variability over time and across countries Some quantitative estimates of the benefits of stabilization Rethinking price stabilization policy Regional Cooperation for Sustainable Food Security in South Asia Nagesh Kumar, Joseph George, 2019-08-02 This volume foregrounds the importance of regional cooperation in the context of food security challenges in South Asia South Asia holds the key to global achievement of SDG targets of ending hunger and malnutrition it accounts for nearly one third of food insecure people on the planet with every third child suffering from stunting due to malnutrition Similar food preferences production systems and the transboundary nature of agrarian ecosystems call for coordinated action by South Asian countries complementing national actions dealing with food security challenges In this volume leading experts discuss the perspectives of key South Asian countries in leveraging regional cooperation for addressing food security challenges and reflect on the potential of cooperative actions in different areas The book proposes a ten point regional policy agenda covering cooperation for combatting climate change regional trade liberalization operationalization of regional food reserves leveraging technology sharing of good practices regional institution building coordinated positions in multilateral trade negotiations addressing trans boundary outbreak of livestock diseases strengthening food safety standards and the management of shared natural resources A key volume on accomplishing SDGs in the South Asian context this book will be of immense interest to policy makers researchers and development practitioners It is also essential reading for scholars and researchers in the areas of development studies South Asia studies food security environment and sustainability

Seasonal Undernutrition in Rural Ethiopia Anna Ferro-Luzzi,2001-01-01 Research questions and motivation for policy analysis Data and methodology Seasonal energy stress in southern Shewa Physiological correlates of undernutrition in adults Heterogeneity of response to seasonal stress Methods used to assess the nutritional and functional status of study individuals

Food Price Volatility and Its Implications for Food Security and Policy Matthias Kalkuhl,Joachim von Braun,Maximo Torero,2016-04-12 This book provides fresh insights into concepts methods and new research findings on the causes of excessive food price volatility It also discusses the implications for food security and policy responses to mitigate excessive volatility The approaches applied by the contributors range from on the ground surveys to panel econometrics and innovative high frequency time series analysis as well as computational economics methods It offers policy analysts and decision makers guidance on dealing with extreme volatility

Markets, Class and Social Change B. Crow,2001-10-10 At the beginning of the twenty first century an idealized view of markets informs government policy Real differences in how markets interact with social change are obscured and public action on poverty is constrained Markets Class and Social Change uses a detailed study of the grain trade in Bangladesh to show how socially constrained patterns of market involvement may systematically benefit the rich while disadvantaging the poor More generally the book suggests that markets are implicated in the making of society its divisions identities and directions

Tradeoffs Or Synergies? David R. Lee,Christopher B. Barrett,2000-11-22 The need to increase food production enhance economic growth and reduce poverty in an environmentally sustainable context is an issue of growing importance This book addresses the linkages and tradeoffs involved in solving such key challenges

Adaptable Livelihoods Susanna Davies,2016-07-27 The book s radical message save livelihoods not just lives should be on the desk of every policy maker concerned with relief and development and demands a rethink of policy and practice across the board Robert Chambers Institute of Development Studies A book on development I really enjoyed An intriguing story emerges the real expert on saving lives and livelihoods are the people facing famine and insecurity themselves This book details the evolution of the local food monitoring system showing that by concentrating on what people can do in response to change rather than what they cannot do we can devise more permanent and effective responses to food insecurity than emergency food aid distribution Mike Aaronson Save the Children Poor people living in high risk environments live continuously with uncertainty which often threatens their livelihoods They have therefore developed effective means of predicting and responding to large fluctuations in rainfall harvest levels and natural resource production These methods of prediction and response often out perform conventional early warning systems promoted by donors and governments and yet are rarely considered in the conception and implementation of food security programmes

Seasonal Hunger and Public Policies Shahidur R. Khandker, Wahiduddin Mahmud, 2012-07-10 The book provides an exhaustive inquiry of Bangladesh's seasonal hunger with special focus on the northwest region where it is more pronounced than in other areas It also presents an evaluation of several policy interventions launched recently in mitigating seasonality

Prices of vegetables and fruits in Ethiopia: Trends and implications for consumption and nutrition

Bachewe, Fantu Nisrane, Minten, Bart, 2021-06-29 We study price behavior of vegetables and fruits in Ethiopia over the 15 year period from 2005 to 2019 based on large scale retail and producer price datasets This is an important topic given the importance of prices for consumption decisions for these nutritious crops A number of notable findings come from the analysis First prices are rapidly increasing both in real terms and when compared to cereals At the end of the study period in 2019 vegetables and fruits in real terms were significantly more expensive than 15 years earlier Especially green leafy vegetables show a significant price rise likely because few high yielding varieties of these vegetables have been made available and adopted by producers Second part of the rise in prices is explained by increased marketing margins To understand what accounts for these increases in the marketing margins for fruits and vegetables requires more research as they contrast with stable or declining margins seen for other food crops over the study period Third we see significant seasonality in vegetable prices that is mostly driven by supply factors but also by demand shifts due to increased demand in fasting periods Fruit prices do not show such high seasonal variation however Fourth there is significant spatial price variation in the country vegetable prices are 60 percent more expensive in lowland regions than in the Amhara region where vegetables are cheapest Fruit prices in the lowlands are double the prices in the major producing area the Southern Nations Nationalities and Peoples SNNP region

The Handbook of Food and Anthropology Jakob A. Klein, James L.

Watson, 2016-08-25 Winner of the CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title of the Year Award 2017 Interest in the anthropology of food has grown significantly in recent years This is the first handbook to provide a detailed overview of all major areas of the field 20 original essays by leading figures in the discipline examine traditional areas of research as well as cutting edge areas of inquiry Divided into three parts Food Self and Others Food Security Nutrition and Food Safety Food as Craft Industry and Ethics the book covers topics such as identity commensality locality migration ethical consumption artisanal foods and children's food Each chapter features rich ethnography alongside wider analysis of the subject Internationally renowned scholars offer insights into their core areas of specialty Examples include Michael Herzfeld on culinary stereotypes David Sutton on how to conduct an anthropology of cooking Johan Pottier on food insecurity and Melissa Caldwell on practicing food anthropology The book also features exceptional geographic and cultural diversity with chapters on South Asia South Africa the United States of America post socialist societies Maoist China and Muslim and Jewish foodways

Invaluable as a reference as well as for teaching The Handbook of Food and Anthropology serves to define this increasingly important field An essential resource for researchers and students in anthropology and food studies Situation and Outlook Series ,1993 Ethiopia's agrifood system: Past trends, present challenges, and future scenarios Dorosh, Paul A., ed.,Minten, Bart, ed.,2020-09-14 Ethiopia has experienced impressive agricultural growth and poverty reduction stemming in part from substantial public investments in agriculture Yet the agriculture sector now faces increasing land and water constraints along with other challenges to growth Ethiopia s Agrifood System Past Trends Present Challenges and Future Scenarios presents a forward looking analysis of Ethiopia s agrifood system in the context of a rapidly changing economy Growth in the agriculture sector remains essential to continued poverty reduction in Ethiopia and will depend on sustained investment in the agrifood system especially private sector investment Many of the policies for a successful agricultural and rural development strategy for Ethiopia are relevant for other African countries as well Ethiopia s Agrifood System should be a valuable resource for policymakers development specialists and others concerned with economic development in Africa south of the Sahara Space and Food in the City Alec Thornton,2018-05-02 Urban social movements are influential agents in shaping cityscapes to reflect values and needs of communities Alongside urban population growth various forms of urban agriculture activity such as community and market gardens are expanding globally This book explores citizens rights to city and alternative views on urban space and the growing importance of urban food systems Human Capital Formation as an Engine of Growth Loong-Hoe Tan,1999 The East Asian countries have been relatively more advanced than other developing countries in the field of human capital development Even in the 1960s they managed to attain higher levels of human capital compared with other low and middle level economies in the developing world This volume examines the role of human capital formation in the rapid growth of the East Asian economies Apart from the formal education variable other factors such as better health care of the labour force nutritional status of the population and on the job training are important concerns that were not given sufficient attention in the 1993 World Bank study The East Asian Miracle This present volume offers many insights of interest to policy makers and specialists with regard to developing and transitional economies Labor and Women's Nutrition Paul A. Higgins,Harold Alderman,1993 Seasonality, Rural Livelihoods and Development Stephen Devereux,Rachel Sabates-Wheeler,Richard Longhurst,2013-07-03 Seasonality is a severe constraint to sustainable rural livelihoods and a driver of poverty and hunger particularly in the tropics Many poor people in developing countries are ill equipped to cope with seasonal variations which can lead to drought or flood and consequences for agriculture employment food supply and the spread of disease The subject has assumed increasing importance as climate change and other forms of development disrupt established seasonal patterns and variations This book is the first systematic study of seasonality for over twenty years and it aims to revive academic interest and policy awareness of this crucial but neglected issue Thematic chapters explore recent shifts with profound implications for seasonality including climate change

HIV AIDS and social protection Case study chapters explore seasonal dimensions of livelihoods in Africa Ethiopia Kenya Malawi Asia Bangladesh China India and Latin America Peru Others assess policy responses to adverse seasonality for example through irrigation migration and seasonally sensitive education The book also includes innovative tools for monitoring seasonality which should enable more appropriate responses Climate Change and Africa Pak Sum

Low,2006-11-02 At the beginning of the twenty first century no environmental issue is of such truly global magnitude as the issue of climate change The poorer developing countries are the least equipped to adapt to the potential effects of climate change although most of them have played an insignificant role in causing it African countries are amongst the poorest of the developing countries This book presents the issues of most relevance to Africa such as past and present climate desertification biomass burning and its implications for atmospheric chemistry and climate energy generation sea level rise ENSO induced drought and flood adaptation disaster risk reduction the UNFCCC and Kyoto Protocol especially the Clean Development Mechanism capacity building and sustainable development It provides a comprehensive and up to date review of these and many other issues with chapters by the leading experts from a range of disciplines Climate Change and Africa will prove to be an invaluable reference for all researchers and policy makers with an interest in climate change and Africa
