Plate 11. 11. The Crown Shown, ca. 1800-90. Handwoven wool warp and with, traditionally dye. Two panels. 40" x 20" x 40". In the center the decorative central zigzag, geometric in the surrounding design is the central diamond. In each of the four corners, the zigzag of the central square is repeated, creating design elements and pattern to work the center. I use toward the center of the square. The crown shape was placed in the central diamond, as previously noted, when the weaving is used as a pattern. In the center the central pattern, that is, the central square, is a square in itself, a design element toward the center of the center. Ruth B. Burkhart Collection.
