Mapping European Empire Russell Foster, 2015-06-26 Empire and maps are mutually reliant phenomena and traceable to the dawn of civilisation Furthermore maps retain a supremely authoritative status as unquestioned reflections of reality In today's image saturated world their influence is more powerful now than at any other time in history This book argues that in the 21st century we are seeing an imperial renaissance in the European Union EU a political organisation which defies categorisation but whose power and influence grows by the year It examines the past present and future of the EU to demonstrate that empire is not a category of state but rather a collective imagination which reshapes history and appropriates an artificial past to validate the policies of the present and the ambitions of the future In doing so this book illuminates the imperial discourse that permeates the mass maps of the modern EU This text will be of key interest to students and scholars of political science EU Studies Human Geography European political history cartography and visual methodologies and international relations God, Politics, Economy Bulent Diken, 2015-07-24 The book intervenes into the contemporary debate on religion politics and economy focusing on the field of formation which emerges as these seemingly autonomous spheres encounter one another Empirically it concentrates on examples from literature theatre and cinema as well as a case study of the recent revolts in Turkey where a moderate Islamic government is in power Theoretically its focus is on the contemporary return of religion in the horizon of the critique of religion seeking to articulate an affirmative politics that can re evaluate the value of dominant values in religious governance and governance of religion

Resources in Education ,1997 The Chautauquan ,1902 City Stages Michael McKinnie, 2013-06-17 In every major city there exists a complex exchange between urban space and the institution of the theatre City Stages is an interdisciplinary and materialist analysis of this relationship as it has existed in Toronto since 1967 Locating theatre companies their sites and practices in Toronto s urban environment Michael McKinnie focuses on the ways in which the theatre has adapted to changes in civic ideology environment and economy Over the past four decades theatre in Toronto has been increasingly implicated in the civic self fashioning of the city and preoccupied with the consequences of the changing urban political economy City Stages investigates a number of key questions that relate to this pattern How has theatre been used to justify certain forms of urban development in Toronto How have local real estate markets influenced the ways in which theatre companies acquire and use performance space How does the analysis of theatre as an urban phenomenon complicate Canadian theatre historiography McKinnie uses the St Lawrence Centre for the Arts and the Toronto Centre for the Performing Arts as case studies and considers theatrical companies such as Theatre Passe Muraille Toronto Workshop Productions Buddies in Bad Times and Necessary Angel in his analysis City Stages combines primary archival research with the scholarly literature emerging from both the humanities and social sciences The result is a comprehensive and empirical examination of the relationship between the theatrical arts and the urban spaces that house them Atlas of Emotion Giuliana Bruno, 2002 Maps a cultural history of spatio visual art emphasizing that sight and site but also motion and emotion are irrevocably connected
