A Merseyside Town in the Industrial Revolution T.C. Barker, Professor J R Harris, J.R. Harris, 2012-10-12
First published in 1994 This book is an outstanding product of St Helens as remarkable in its way as sheetglass and Beechams pills It is the first full scale nineteenth century history of a small industrial town as distinct from the bigger and better known cities and as such it deserves to be very widely read and studied An Environmental History of Britain since the Industrial Revolution B.W. Clapp, 2014-07-15 The present and future state of the environment gives rise to ever increasing concern but much less is known as yet about the past the damage that has been done since and by the Industrial Revolution how far our predecessors were aware of it the steps they took and the gradual development of a wider concern for the state of the world and our impact on it This timely and pioneering survey designed for general readers as well as students and scholars is a substantial contribution to that understanding Crewe: Railway Town, Company and People 1840-1914 Diane K. Drummond, 2017-07-05 This is an important contribution to the new urban history describing and analysing one of the best examples of a company town in nineteenth century Europe This archetypal railway town was built on a green field site by a railway company in 1842 3 It was a major junction an administrative centre and an important manufacturing centre Thus it provides an ideal arena in which to study the relationship between company and people and the effects of this claustrophobic association on emerging economic and social structure and politics in the era of large scale development and modernisation in Europe and America Dianne Drummond applies the full range of modern urban historical approaches in this work It is a shining example of the ways in which new techniques in research analysis and comparison can redraw the best known histories It will be essential reading for urban historians Made in Lancashire Geoffrey Timmins, 1998-12-15 Presents a new perspective on the Industrial Revolution providing far more than just an account of industrial change Looks at the development of the economic structures and includes chapters on financing the revolution technological change markets and demand transport and food The final section looks at economic change and its impact and includes chapters on demography the household families authority and regulation and the built environment Providing a complete summary of the various debates in the literature on this period making a strong case for re introducing a regional approach to the history of the age Issues of Regional Identity Edward Royle, 1998 As regionalism assumes new importance in Britain and throughout the EU this work brings together historians and geographers to offer regional perspectives on Britain that avoid both the traditional parochialism of local history and the generalizations of a national approach Britain 1740 - 1950 Richard Lawton, Colin Pooley, 2021-12-02 Originally published in 1992 this book provides students with a well illustrated clearly written text which offers a coherent overview of Britain's development from a pre modern to a modern economy and society The key processes that have shaped the geography of modern Britain are rooted in the significant demographic economic technological and social transitions of the early eighteenth century the impact of which was not fully diffused through the nation until the mid 20th Century This country wide survey examines the nature of this transformation The material in the book is accessible because the book is clearly structured into 3 phases 1740 to the 1830s the 1830s to the 1890s and the 1890s to 1950 For each period the principal aspects of change in population industry the countryside and urban life are examined and regional examples given to support the analysis
