Meshal Haqadmoni Fables From The Distant Past A Parallel Hebrewenglish Text:

Meshal Haqadmoni Isaac ben Solomon Sahula,2004 Meshal Haqadmoni: Fables from the Distant Past Raphael Loewe,2004-02-26 A presentation of the intellectual and social universe of the Sephardi Jewish world of thirteenth century Spain seen through moralistic animal fables in Hebrew translated into English as rhymed couplets The fables which comprise moral debates rich in contemporary satire also include disquisitions on such subjects as time the soul the physical sciences and medicine astronomy and astrology suffused throughout with traditional Jewish law and lore With full explanatory notes and scholarly apparatus and complete sets of illustrations from the Rothschild manuscript and the 1547 Venice edition

Meshal Haqadmoni Isaac ben Solomon Sahula,2004 מֶשָׁל הָאֲדֹמוֹנִי Isaac ben Solomon Sahula,2004 The wondrous fables of Ibn Sahula in Meshal haqadmoni presented here in English for the first time provide a most unusual introduction to the intellectual and social universe of the Sephardi Jewish world of thirteenth century Spain Ibn Sahula wrote his fables in rhymed prose here rendered into English as rhymed couplets They comprise a series of satirical debates between a cynic and a moralist put into the mouths of animals the moralist always triumphs The debates which touch on such subjects as time the soul the physical sciences and medicine astronomy and astrology amply reflect human foibles political compromise and court intrigue They are suffused throughout with traditional Jewish law and lore a flavour reinforced by the profusion of biblical quotations reapplied With parallel Hebrew and English texts explanatory notes indication of textual variants and references for all the biblical and other allusions this edition has much to offer to scholars in many are

Blurred Boundaries and Deceptive Dichotomies in Pre-Modern Texts and Images Dafna Nissim,Vered Tohar,2023-12-18 This collection of essays focuses on the way blurred boundaries are represented in pre modern texts and visual art and how they were received and perceived by their audiences readers listeners and viewers According to the current understanding that opposing cognitive categories that are so common in modern thinking do not apply to pre modern mentalities we argue that individuals in medieval and pre modern societies did not necessarily consider sacred and secular male and female real and fictional and opposing emotions as absolute dichotomies The contributors to the present collection examine a wide range of cultural artifacts literary texts wall paintings sculptures jewelry manuscript illustrations and various objects as to what they reflect regarding the dominant perceptual system the network of beliefs worldviews presumptions values and norms of viewing reading hearing different from modern epistemology strongly predicated on the binary nature of things and people The essays suggest that analyzing pre modern cultural works of art or literature in light of reception theory can lead to a better understanding of how those cultural products influenced individuals and impacted their thoughts and actions

Fables in Jewish Culture Emile Schrijver,Lies Meiboom,2023-11-15 Fables in Jewish Culture catalogues almost 400 Jewish scrolls and books from the collection of Jon A Lindseth that contain animal stories with moral connections Spanning six centuries the books are in several languages including Hebrew Yiddish Aramaic Ladino Judeo Spanish and Judeo Persian

They were printed all over the world and include animal stories from the Hebrew Bible and other religious texts as well as translations of secular stories such as Aesop's fables in Hebrew. The catalogue is divided into four sections: Biblical works, rabbinic works, medieval works, and postmedieval works, and each entry is illustrated with a page or more from the work, a detailed description of the characteristics and publishing history of the work, and description of the fables contained therein, along with a discussion of their literary and/or cultural/historical significance. This volume includes a foreword by Jon A. Lindseth describing how he assembled this collection of Jewish books containing fables, as well as essays on the role of fables in Jewish culture, their use in Biblical and rabbinical literature, and their appearance in Jewish and Yiddish literature. Fables in Jewish Culture concludes with a bibliography of fables in Jewish literature and multiple indexes that allow readers to locate works by a number of criteria, including fable, author, title in English, Hebrew, and Latin, and printer. Contributors: Marion Aptroot, David Daube, Simona Gronemann, Jon A. Lindseth, Raphael Loewe, Lies Meiboom, Emile Schrijver, David Stern, Heide Warncke, Irene Zwiep. Meshal Haqadmoni Isaac ben Solomon Sahula, 2020. The wondrous fables of Ibn Sahula in Meshal haqadmoni, presented here in English for the first time, provide a most unusual introduction to the intellectual and social universe of the Sephardi Jewish world of thirteenth-century Spain. Ibn Sahula wrote his fables in rhymed prose, here rendered into English as rhymed couplets. They comprise a series of satirical debates between a cynic and a moralist, put into the mouths of animals; the moralist always triumphs. The debates, which touch on such subjects as time, the soul, the physical sciences, and medicine, astronomy, and astrology, amply reflect human foibles, political compromise, and court intrigue. They are suffused throughout with traditional Jewish law and lore, a flavour reinforced by the profusion of biblical quotations reapplied.

The Manuscripts Club Christopher de Hamel, 2023-11-14. A New York Times Book Review Editors' Choice. The acclaimed author of Meetings with Remarkable Manuscripts introduces us to the extraordinary keepers and companions of medieval manuscripts over a thousand years of history. The illuminated manuscripts of the Middle Ages are among the greatest works of European art and literature. We are dazzled by them and recognize their crucial role in the transmission of knowledge. However, we generally think much less about the countless men and women who made, collected, and preserved them through the centuries, and to whom they owe their existence. This entrancing book describes some of the extraordinary people who have spent their lives among illuminated manuscripts over the last thousand years: a monk in Normandy, a prince of France, a Florentine bookseller, an English antiquary, a rabbi from central Europe, a French priest, a Keeper at the British Museum, a Greek forger, a German polymath, a British connoisseur, and the woman who created the most spectacular library in America. All of them, members of what Christopher de Hamel calls the Manuscripts Club. This exhilarating fraternity and the fellow enthusiasts who come with it throw new light on how manuscripts have survived and been used by very different kinds of people in many different circumstances. Christopher de Hamel's unexpected connections and discoveries reveal a passion that crosses the boundaries of time. We understand the manuscripts themselves better by knowing who their keepers and companions have been In 1850 or thereabouts John Ruskin bought his first manuscript at a bookseller's in a back alley This was his reaction The new worlds which every leaf of this book opened to me and the joy I had in counting their letters and unravelling their arabesques as if they had all been of beaten gold as many of them were cannot be told The members of de Hamel's club share many such wonders which he brings to us with scholarship style and a lifetime's experience

Folktales of the Jews, Volume 2 Dan Ben-Amos, Dov Noy, 2006 Folktales from Eastern Europe presents 71 tales from Ashkenasic culture in the most important collection of Jewish folktales ever published It is the second volume in Folktales of the Jews the five volume series to be released over the next several years in the tradition of Louis Ginzberg's classic Legends of the Jews The tales here and the others in this series have been selected from the Israel Folktale Archives at The University of Haifa Israel IFA a treasure house of Jewish lore that has remained largely unavailable to the entire world until now Since the creation of the State of Israel the IFA has collected more than 20 000 tales from newly arrived immigrants long lost stories shared by their families from around the world The tales come from the major ethno linguistic communities of the Jewish world and are representative of a wide variety of subjects and motifs especially rich in Jewish content and context Each of the tales is accompanied by in depth commentary that explains the tale's cultural historical and literary background and its similarity to other tales in the IFA collection and extensive scholarly notes There is also an introduction that describes the Ashkenasic culture and its folk narrative tradition a world map of the areas covered illustrations biographies of the collectors and narrators tale type and motif indexes a subject index and a comprehensive bibliography Until the establishment of the IFA we had had only limited access to the wide range of Jewish folk narratives Even in Israel the gathering place of the most wide ranging cross section of world Jewry these folktales have remained largely unknown Many of the communities no longer exist as cohesive societies in their representative lands the Holocaust migration and changes in living styles have made the continuation of these tales impossible This volume and the others to come will be monuments to a rich but vanishing oral tradition

Medieval Jewish Philosophy and Its Literary Forms Aaron W. Hughes, James T. Robinson, 2019-07-11 This well written accessible essay collection demonstrates a maturation in Jewish studies and medieval philosophy Choice Too often the study of philosophical texts is carried out in ways that do not pay significant attention to how the ideas contained within them are presented articulated and developed This was not always the case The contributors to this collected work consider Jewish philosophy in the medieval period when new genres and forms of written expression were flourishing in the wake of renewed interest in ancient philosophy Many medieval Jewish philosophers were highly accomplished poets for example and made conscious efforts to write in a poetic style This volume turns attention to the connections that medieval Jewish thinkers made between the literary the exegetical the philosophical and the mystical to shed light on the creativity and diversity of medieval thought As they broaden the scope of what counts as medieval Jewish philosophy the essays collected here consider questions about how an argument is formed how text is put into the service of philosophy and the social and intellectual environment in which philosophical texts were produced

Marks of Distinctions Irven M. Resnick, 2012-06 For medieval Latin Christendom texts such as the Bible and the writings of the Fathers of the Church gave form to Christian perceptions of Jews and Judaism Eye witness testimony hearsay reports of converts from Judaism and the testimony of dreams visions and miraculous events helped fill in the details The author explores the additional support drawn from medieval science by studying long held medieval scientific theories that predisposed Jews to certain types of offensive behavior or even to communicate certain illnesses and disease By arguing for a Jewish nature dictated by specific physical characteristics medieval scientific authorities contributed to growing fears of a Jewish threat Externally these differences were evidenced by marks that physically distinguished Jews for example circumcision Internally their melancholy humoral complexion further weakened by the Jews dietary restrictions was thought to dictate their temperament and sexual mores and to incline them toward leprosy bleeding hemorrhoids and other infirmities These differences were viewed by some as ineradicable even following religious conversion or at best erasable with only the greatest difficulty over several generations

A Cultural History of Marriage in the Medieval Age Joanne M. Ferraro, Frederik Pedersen, 2021-11-18 Marriage in Europe became a central pillar of society during the medieval period Theologians lawyers and secular and church leaders agreed on a unique outline of the institution and its legal framework the essential features of which remained in force until the 1980s The medieval Western European definition of marriage was unique before the legal consequences of marriage came into being the parties had to promise to engage in sexual union only with one partner and to remain in the marriage until one of the parties died This requirement had profound implications for inheritance rules and for the organization of the family economy it was explained and justified in a multitude of theological discussions and legal decisions across all faiths on the European continent Normative texts built on the foundations of the scriptures of several religious traditions provided an impressive intellectual framework around marriage In addition developments in iconography including sculpture and painting projected the dominant model of marriage while social demographic and cultural changes encouraged its adoption This volume traces the medieval discussion of marriage in practice law theology and iconography It provides an examination of the wider political and economic context of marriage and offers an overview of the ebb and flow of society's ideas about how expressions of human sexuality fit within the confines of a clearly defined social structure and ideology A Cultural History of Marriage in the Medieval Age presents an overview of the period with essays on Courtship and Ritual Religion State and Law Kinship and Social Networks the Family Economy Love and Sex the Breaking of Vows and Representations of Marriage

Avicenna in Medieval Hebrew Translation Gabriella Elgrably-Berzin, 2014-11-27 In this volume Gabriella Elgrably Berzin offers an analysis of the fourteenth century Hebrew translation of a major eleventh century philosophical text Avicenna's Kitāb al-Najāt The Book of Salvation focusing on the psychology treatise on physics The translator of this work was Odrosi the main Hebrew translator of Avicenna's philosophical writings This study includes a critical edition of Odrosi's translation based on two manuscripts as compared to the Arabic edition Cairo 1938 and an appendix featuring the section on metaphysics By analyzing Odrosi's language and terminology and making his Hebrew translation available for the first time Berzin's study will help enable scholars to trace the borrowings from Todrosi's translations in Jewish sources shedding light on the transmission and impact of Avicenna's philosophy

Prognostication in the Medieval World Matthias Heiduk, Klaus Herbers, Hans-Christian Lehner, 2020-11-09 Two opposing views of the future in the Middle Ages dominate recent historical scholarship According to one opinion medieval societies were expecting the near end of the world and therefore had no concept of the future According to the other opinion the expectation of the near end created a drive to change the world for the better and thus for innovation Close inspection of the history of prognostication reveals the continuous attempts and multifold methods to recognize and interpret God's will the prodigies of nature and the patterns of time That proves on the one hand the constant human uncertainty facing the contingencies of the future On the other hand it demonstrates the firm belief during the Middle Ages in a future which could be shaped and even manipulated The handbook provides the first overview of current historical research on medieval prognostication It considers the entangled influences and transmissions between Christian Jewish Islamic and non monotheistic societies during the period from a wide range of perspectives An international team of 63 renowned authors from about a dozen different academic disciplines contributed to this comprehensive overview

Tales in Context Rella Kushelevsky, 2017-11-13 A folkloric research project on Sefer ha-ma'asim In the thirteenth century an anonymous scribe compiled sixty-nine tales that became Sefer ha-ma'asim the earliest compilation of Hebrew tales known to us in Western Europe The author writes that the stories encompass descriptions of herbs that cure leprosy a fairy princess with golden tresses using magic charms to heal her lover's wounds and restore him to life a fire-breathing dragon a two-headed creature and a giant's daughter for whom the rind of a watermelon containing twelve spies is no more than a speck of dust In Tales in Context Sefer ha-ma'asim in Medieval Northern France Rella Kushelevsky enlightens the stories' meanings and reflects the circumstances and environment for Jewish lives in medieval France Although a selection of tales was previously published this is the first publication of a Hebrew-English annotated edition in its entirety revealing fresh insight The first part of Kushelevsky's work Cultural Literary and Comparative Perspectives presents the thesis that Sefer ha-ma'asim is a product of its time and place and should therefore be studied within its literary and cultural surroundings Jewish and vernacular in northern France An investigation of the scribe's techniques in reworking his Jewish and non-Jewish sources into a medieval discourse supports this claim The second part of the manuscript consists of the tales themselves in Hebrew and English translation including brief comparative comments or citations The third part An Analytical and Comparative Overview offers an analysis of each tale as an individual unit contextualized within its medieval framework and against the background of its parallels Elisheva Baumgarten's epilogue adds social and historical background to Sefer ha ma asim and discusses new ways in which it and other story compilations may be used by historians for an inquiry into the everyday life of medieval Jews The tales in Sefer ha ma asim will be of special value to scholars of folklore and medieval European history and literature as well as those looking to enrich their studies and shelves The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2005 The Journal of Jewish Studies ,2004 Bibliographic Index ,2007 The Jewish Quarterly ,2003
