Message Effects In Communication Science Sage Annual Reviews Of Communication:

Message Effects in Communication Science James J. Bradac, 1989-07 Message Effects in Communication Science focuses on message effects the social and psychological consequences of messages Following an introductory section which serves as an orientation to the domain of message study and which raises various conceptual theoretical and methodological issues contributors examine knowledge generating messages and strategic or persuasive messages The effects of stimulating messages designed for on the spot consumption including messages designed to entertain and to depict violence are then considered Prospects for future research are summarized and discussed in the concluding chapter Demonstrating the increasingly theoretical state of the study of message effects and addressin

Handbook of Public Communication of Science and Technology Massimiano Bucchi, Brian Trench, 2008-06-03 Comprehensive yet accessible this key Handbook provides an up to date overview of the fast growing and increasingly important area of public communication of science and technology from both research and practical perspectives As well as introducing the main issues arenas and professional perspectives involved it presents the findings of earlier research and the conclusions previously drawn Unlike most existing books on this topic this unique volume couples an overview of the practical problems faced by practitioners with a thorough review of relevant literature and research The practical Handbook format ensures it is a student friendly resource but its breadth of scope and impressive contributors means that it is also ideal for practitioners and professionals working in the field Combining the contributions of different disciplines media and journalism studies sociology and history of science the perspectives of different geographical and cultural contexts and by selecting key contributions from appropriate and well respected authors this original text provides an interdisciplinary as well as a global approach to public communication of science and technology

Roloff, 1992-04-10 Consolidating alternative perspectives on communication and negotiation this volume reviews the work of noted communication scholars and suggests directions for future research Contributors explore three major aspects of negotiation communication strategies tactics and negotiation processes interpretive processes and language analysis and negotiation situation and context This research also explores bargaining planning framing and reframing as well as relational communication with opponents constituents and audiences

Online-Marketing Julia Erbe, 2000-01-03 Inhaltsangabe Abstract In the 1990s people are being more and more confronted with the rapid developments in the information and communication technology sector Computers seem to be indispensable not only in professional areas of life but also in educational and private contexts The Internet which started as a small network of students academics and researchers has developed into a global network linking millions of people in countries all over the world This enormous increase in information flow which is facilitated by Internet services such as the World Wide Web WWW electronic mail e mail or Usenet news appears to have an influence on communication processes and on the way in which we use language The fact that the new media are becoming more and more popular has also been realised by marketing specialists. Due to the large number of users and the enormous growth potential of the Internet the sector of electronic commerce is booming. The formerly anti-commercial values of the original Internet community seem to have drastically changed. Today electronic commerce is a rapidly growing area and numerous companies are beginning to position themselves on the information superhighway in terms of providing hardware, software, information, content or services. Because of the fact that the Internet presents a fundamentally different environment for marketing activities than traditional media, conventional marketing communications need to be transformed in order to meet the requirements of such an information-intensive medium. On the Internet the search for and the acquisition of relevant information for example takes up a great deal of time since there is no general index of all existing Internet sites and services. As a consequence companies have to find other ways of drawing the users' attention to their offers. One means of achieving that goal might be the distribution of commercial e-mails. Commercial e-mails can be classified as a form of advertising which is considered to be a type of persuasive discourse. Due to the fact that advertisers are supposed to be striving to alter behaviour, awareness, knowledge and attitudes in a way that would be beneficial to them, advertising is informative only on the surface. Therefore no more distinction between informative and persuasive advertising is made. Accordingly commercial e-mails are expected to have a persuasive intent which is assumed to be mirrored in a number of

Framing Friction Mary S. Mander, 1999. In a culture where the media provide a steady diet of stories of conflict, this collection is among the first to study the phenomenon of conflict itself as well as its relationship with the media. Mary S. Mander's introduction provides an intellectually rich foundation for this diverse exploration of the nature and implications of studying media and social conflict. Contributors address such topics as the black press and the black community, industrial and institutional control of television programming and media depictions of police-mediated hostage negotiation. Framing Friction is both a comparison of current modes of communications research and a persuasive call to move beyond conceiving of conflict as a state of dysfunction. These essays bring a new and invigorating perspective to the role of conflict, describing it as a constructive rather than a destructive social force.

Effective Public Relations Scott M. Cutlip, Allen H. Center, Glen M. Broom, 1994. The Cognitive Bases of Interpersonal Communication Dean E. Hewes, 2013-12-16. Our interpretations of the world we live in and the people and institutions that comprise it are acquired through complex interactions among what we believe to be true, what the world is, and/or what others think it is. Understanding those complex interactions is one of the most important goals of the social sciences. Of the many disciplines that have contributed to that understanding, two take center stage in this book: psychology and communication. This volume's purpose is to reconnect the partially isolated environments of social psychology and communication. To do so, it utilizes four building blocks: the cognitive foundations of interpersonal communication as it might be studied from a social psychological perspective; insiders' views of interpersonal communication from a cognitive psychological standpoint; insiders' approaches to interpersonal communication from an AI perspective; a critique of the cognitive enterprise that reflects the strong philosophical grounding of communication Overall the chapters typify some of the most interesting cognitive work done in the study of interpersonal communication As such the book should promote productive dialogue across disciplinary boundaries and stimulate further work within the field of interpersonal communication

Narrative and Social Control Dennis K. Mumby,1993-08-24 What is the relationship between narrative society and the forms of control that function in society This critical analysis examines the role of narrative in the creation of various social realities The central theme is that narrative is a pervasive form of human communication integral to the production and shaping of social order Each chapter provides both a theoretical framework and an examination of narratives in a range of communication contexts interpersonal small group organizational and mass media illustrating the far reaching impact of narrative on our lives and social organizations

The Oxford Handbook of American Public Opinion and the Media Robert Y. Shapiro, Lawrence R. Jacobs,2013-05-23 With engaging new contributions from the major figures in the fields of the media and public opinion The Oxford Handbook of American Public Opinion and the Media is a key point of reference for anyone working in American politics today

Interpersonal Communication Charles R. Berger,2014-06-18 Interpersonal communication has been studied in terms of both communication functions and specialized contexts This handbook comprehensively covers the field including research on processes of social influence the role of communication in the development maintenance and decline of close personal relationships nonverbal communication cognitive approaches communication and conflict bargaining and negotiation health communication organizational socialization and supervisor subordinate communication social networks and technologically mediated interpersonal communication Two chapters are dedicated to research methods in the field The handbook includes chapters by widely recognized and respected scholars in the field

The International Encyclopedia of Media Effects, 4 Volume Set Patrick Rössler,2017-03-06 The International Encyclopedia of Media Effects presents a comprehensive collection of the most up to date research on the uses and impacts of media throughout the world Provides the definitive resource on the most recent findings of media effects research Covers all aspects of the uses and impact of media utilizing empirical psychological and critical research approaches to the field Features over 200 entries contributed by leading international scholars in their associated fields Offers invaluable insights to for students scholars and professionals studying and working in related fields and will stimulate new scholarship in emerging fields such as the Internet Social Media and Mobile Communication Part of The Wiley Blackwell ICA International Encyclopedias of Communication series published in conjunction with the International Communication Association Online version available at Wiley Online Library
