Methodism And Education:

Methodism and Education Sharon J. Hels, 2000-01-01 Methodism and the Education of the People, 1791-1851 Horace Frederick Mathews, 1949 Methodism and Education, 1849-1902 Dr. John T. Smith, 1998 This book has three interlocking themes It is concerned first with the advance and subsequent decline of the Wesleyan Methodist efforts in education during the nineteenth century Secondly it is about Dr James Harrison Rigg an irascible and self opinionated Victorian minister who became Principal of Westminster Methodist Training College and President of the Methodist Conference He had a dominant influence over his church for many years and dictated its education policy He also gained the ear of many in government who were formulating educational legislation and the book assesses his influence on government ideas The final and overriding theme of the book is the anti Catholicism within the Methodist church throughout the nineteenth century which influenced Wesleyan attitudes towards government education policy in general and towards Anglican Tractarian schools in particular The book is invaluable for students of nineteenth century religious history and is worthwhile for others interested in ecclesiastical history The Contribution of Methodism to Education in Kentucky Earl Pickett Barker, 1937 Methodism and Education, 1849-1902 Dr. John T. Smith, 1998 This book is about Wesleyan Methodist educational efforts of the Victorian era It discusses the influence of Dr James Harrison Rigg who dominated his church and who made friendships with senior politicians of the day Methodist Education in Peru Rosa del Carmen Bruno-Jofré, 1988-06-22 With research based on extensive primary sources the author examines the activities of the Methodist mission in Peru in particular its educational work within the Peruvian socioeconomic formation and its ideological and intellectual changes Yet her study goes beyond Methodist boundaries Social Gospel doctrine and educational theory which link American Progressivism especially John Dewey s pedagogical ideas with Christianity are also treated at an interdenominational level The book contends that Methodist schools constituted an educational system of their own within a socioeconomic formation of uneven character a society where an imperialist presence was interwoven with pre capitalist as well as local incipient capitalist forms The author s analysis of the political dimension of missionary work from the quest for religious freedom to the attempt to exert influence on social movements leads her to consider the relationships among APRA leaders the missionaries and the interdenominational Committee on Cooperation in Latin America Bruno Jofré argues that Social Gospel doctrines although couched in reformist language were ultimately a vehicle of North American theology This book presents a refreshingly wide perspective on the development of education in the Third World as affected by missionary bodies from the First World The Present Position of Methodism in Regard to National Education and the Denominational System James Harrison Rigg, 1869 The Methodist Episcopal Church and Education Up to 1869 Sylvanus Milne Duvall, 1928 Methodist Education in Peru Rosa del Carmen Bruno-Jofré, 2006-01-01 With research based on extensive primary sources the author examines the activities of the Methodist mission in Peru in particular its educational work within the Peruvian socioeconomic formation and its ideological and intellectual changes Yet her study goes beyond Methodist boundaries Social Gospel doctrine and educational theory which link American Progressivism especially John Dewey's pedagogical ideas with Christianity are also treated at an interdenominational level The book contends that Methodist schools constituted an educational system of their own within a socioeconomic formation of uneven character a society where an imperialist presence was interwoven with pre capitalist as well as local incipient capitalist forms The author's analysis of the political dimension of missionary work from the quest for religious freedom to the attempt to exert influence on social movements leads her to consider the relationships among APRA leaders the missionaries and the interdenominational Committee on Cooperation in Latin America Bruno Jofr argues that Social Gospel doctrines although couched in reformist language were ultimately a vehicle of North American theology This book presents a refreshingly wide perspective on the development of education in the Third World as affected by missionary bodies from the First World
