North And East Scotland:

Place names in much of north-east Scotland Adam Watson,2013-03 A study of Celtic Scots and English place names across large sections of north east Scotland based on interviews with indigenous residents working the land and the sea along with historical sources and maps North East Scotland at War Alan Stewart,2018 Notes on the Folk-lore of the North-East of Scotland Walter Gregor,1881 North East Scotland (Slow Travel) Rebecca Gibson,2023-05-15 Smitten by Scotland since childhood travel writer Rebecca Gibson moved to Moray and started exploring her new home region on foot to produce this new title in Bradt's award winning series of Slow travel guides to UK regions Walkers cyclists wildlife lovers families history and folklore enthusiasts and foodies are all catered for with coverage of a wide range of attractions As the only comprehensive guidebook to North East Scotland in print it also contains all the practical information you could need to plan and enjoy time in this thrillingly diverse yet largely under explored part of Britain This region of mountains and coasts ancient Caledonian pine forests and salmon rich rivers harbours much to enthral and surprise Long famous among hillwalkers mountaineers and nature lovers the Cairngorms is the UK's largest National Park and holds five of its six tallest summits but also abounds in fairy folklore Balmoral Estate has been a royal residence since Queen Victoria's reign while Aberdeenshire with its unique language Doric has Scotland's highest density of castles and numerous Pictish stone circles among an astounding 30 000 sites of historical and archaeological interest Between Inverness and Aberdeen lies the less familiar region of Moray which hosts the world's most northerly population of bottle nosed dolphins Scotland's oldest independent museum and Forres where Shakespeare's Macbeth met the three witches Here the Scots language and culture are celebrated through gatherings such as fire festivals This guidebook's Slow approach to travel fits with a growing ethos of sustainability in this part of Scotland from Findhorn Ecovillage to a celebration of locally sourced artisan and organic food alongside the well known products of whisky Aberdeen Angus beef and River Dee salmon Key heritage attractions are described in intimate detail but so too are opportunities to see some of Scotland's most special wildlife from pinewood dwelling crested tits to high altitude specialists like ptarmigan Whether you are keen to visit castles or indulge in whisky tastings amid Britain's highest concentration of distilleries to hike among Cairngorm's remote mountains or to stride boldly along miles upon miles of coastline discover North East Scotland with Bradt's unique Slow guide The Late Medieval Landscape of North-east Scotland Colin Shepherd,2021-10-31 The landscape of the north east of Scotland ranges from wild mountains to undulating farmlands from cosy quaint fishing coves to long sandy bays This landscape witnessed the death of MacBeth the final stand of the Comyns earls of Buchan against Robert the Bruce and the last victory in Britain of a catholic army at Glenlivet But behind these momentous battles lie the quieter histories of ordinary folk farming the land and supping their local malts Colin Shepherd paints a picture of rural life within the landscapes of the north east between the 13th and 18th centuries by using documentary cartographic and archaeological evidence He shows how the landscape was ordered by topographic and environmental constraints that resulted in great variation across the region and considers the evidence for the way late medieval lifestyles developed and blended sustainably within their environments to create a patchwork of cultural and agricultural diversity. However, these socio-economic developments subsequently led to a breakdown of this structure resulting in what Adam Smith in the 18th century described as oppression. The 12th century Renaissance, the Protestant Reformation and the Industrial Revolution are used here to define a framework for considering the cultural changes that affected this region of Scotland. These include the dispossession of rights to land ownership that continue to haunt policy makers in the Scottish government today. While the story also shows how a regional cultural divergence recognized here can undermine big theories of socio-political change when viewed across the wider stage of Europe and the Americas.

Birds in North-East Scotland Then and Now Adam Watson, Ian Francis, 2012. Field observations mainly in the 1940s and comparison with recent records. Adam Watson as a schoolboy made field observations on birds in north east Scotland during the 1940s and early 1950s. These are of special interest because hardly any local ornithologists lived there and his main set of observations is published here for the first time. As well as accounts for all species seen there is detailed information on several species whose status has changed greatly since: declines of breeding greenshanks and ring ousels and rapid increases in the proportions of feral doves and carrion crows. These and other observations form a useful baseline for comparison with what is now being seen and recorded by hundreds of ornithologists living in and visiting the area. Ian Francis came to north east Scotland in the early 1990s and has taken part in many aspects of local ornithology. He was first editor of a major book The Breeding Birds of North East Scotland published in 2011 which documents the current breeding distributions of birds and assesses changes over 40 years, allowing a modern perspective on Adam Watson's observations from the mid 1900s. The current book by Adam Watson and Ian Francis Birds in north east Scotland then and now also includes a previously unpublished account of long term research by Adam Watson, Rik Smith and Mick Marquiss on summering snow buntings, one of the UK's rarest regularly breeding birds.

Singing the Gospel along Scotland's North-East Coast, 1859-2009 Frances Wilkins, 2018-01-17. Following three years of ethnomusicological fieldwork on the sacred singing traditions of evangelical Christians in North East Scotland and Northern Isles coastal communities, Frances Wilkins documents and analyses current singing practices in this book by placing them historically and contemporaneously within their respective faith communities. In ascertaining who the singers were and why, when, where, how and what they chose to sing, the study explores a number of related questions: How has sacred singing contributed to the establishment and reinforcement of individual and group identities both in the church and wider community? What is the process by which specific regional repertoires and styles develop? Which organisations and venues have been particularly conducive to the development of sacred singing in the community? How does the subject matter of songs relate to the immediate environment of coastal inhabitants? How and why has gospel singing in coastal communities changed? These questions are answered with comprehensive reference to interview material fieldnotes videography and audio field recordings As one of the first pieces of ethnomusicological research into sacred music performance in Scotland this ethnography draws important parallels between practices in the North East and elsewhere in the British Isles and across the globe

Forecast Code for the Abbreviation of Weather Forecasts Transmitted by Telegraphy Or Radio-telegraphy Great Britain. Meteorological Office, 1921 Horizons H. R. Kidd, 2014-04-22 Although the first air cadet unit was raised in Bournemouth in 1928 the first squadrons to be formed in a privately funded national organisation were part of the Air Defence Cadet Corps in 1938 Thousands of youngsters joined and were able to learn about aircraft aerodynamics navigation mechanics and other subjects not taught in schools The organization was to become known as The Air Training Corps ATC and as war loomed it was considered a useful RAF recruitment tool to attract potential airmen and ground crew Throughout the war ATC cadets supported the home defences by fire watching as messengers and as observers working alongside the Home Guard the fire services and other vital organisations During the second half of the 1900s the corps continued to thrive Girls were now included and retired RAF officers and other ranks continued to take an active part in each squadron There are now over 900 squadrons within the UK providing the same skills to modern youth and teaching them the importance of personal responsibility and teamwork via annual camps at RAF stations adventure training and flight experience This book looks at all aspects of the Air Cadet s history and tradition including the RAF sections of the Combined Cadet Force attached to public and grammar schools It concludes with an analysis of what subjects and courses are currently available with many past and present illustrations As seen in The York Press and The Scarborough News The Iron Age in Northern Britain Dennis W. Harding, 2004-08-26 The Iron Age in Northern Britain examines the impact of the Roman expansion northwards and the native response to the Roman occupation on both sides of the frontiers It traces the emergence of historically recorded communities in the post Roman period and looks at the clash of cultures between Celts and Romans Picts and Scots Northern Britain has too often been seen as peripheral to a core located in south eastern England Unlike the Iron Age in southern Britain the story of which can be conveniently terminated with the Roman conquest the Iron Age in northern Britain has no such horizon to mark its end The Roman presence in southern and eastern Scotland was militarily intermittent and left untouched large tracts of Atlantic Scotland for which there is a rich legacy of Iron Age settlement continuing from the mid first millennium BC to the period of Norse settlement in the late first millennium AD Here D W Harding shows that northern Britain was not peripheral in the Iron Age it simply belonged to an Atlantic European mainstream different from southern England and its immediate continental neighbours The railway and commercial gazetteer of England, Scotland and Wales Railway and commercial gazetteer, 1900
