North Sea Ports in Transition A. M. J. Kreukels, E. Wever, 1998

Hinterland Connections International Transport Forum, 2009-06-19 This Round Table publication discusses the policy and regulatory challenges posed by the rapidly changing port environment

Devolution, Port Governance and Port Performance Mary R Brooks, Kevin Cullinane, 2006-11-13 The relationship between ports and governments has changed profoundly over the past quarter of a century Many governments have sought to extract themselves from the business of port operations and in many cases the provision of port services has devolved to local governments communities or private management and administration As such devolution implies a change in governance model this trend raises questions about consequent performance This issue examines the changed port management environment focusing particularly on government policies such as devolution regulatory reform and newly imposed governance models all of which have exerted a significant influence over the nature of that changed environment The issue is structured so as to first explore the devolution and port reform approaches for 14 countries or regions before examining how ports are governed and what the choice of governance might mean for their performance Part I introduces the issue and provides a framework for defining the basic concepts involved in devolution it paints a picture of the current port environment its likely future evolution and the expected impact this will have on the functioning of ports Part II examines the port industry in 14 countries or administrations and presents the thinking behind any devolution programs that have been implemented Part III focuses on port governance and devolution generally and examines governance from both strategic management and economics perspectives including topics such as governance models supranational governance and stakeholder conflict Part IV examines the measurement of port performance and closes by providing conclusions and a future research agenda This issue will be of interest to port managers government officials and academics alike Examines the relationship between ports and governments with a focus on devolution Divided into sections that provide an overview evaluate the port industry discuss port governance and suggest new measures of port performance 14 countries or regions are addressed

Strategy as Force Tom Daamen, 2010

Metropolitan Governance and Spatial Planning Anton Kreukels, Willem Salet, Andy Thornley, 2005-08-19 Metropolitan Governance and Spatial Planning explores the relationship between metropolitan decision making and strategies to coordinate spatial policy This relationship is examined across 20 cities of Europe and the similarities and differences analysed Cities are having to formulate their urban policies in a very complex and turbulent environment They are faced with numerous new pressures and problems and these often create contradictory conditions The book provides a theoretical framework for exploring these issues and links this to a detailed investigation of each city In the context of globalisation cities in the last twenty years have experienced new patterns of activity and these usually transcend political boundaries The management of these changes therefore requires an effort of coordination and different cities have found different approaches However the institutional setting itself has not remained static The nation states in Europe have handed over many responsibilities to the European Union while also increasing devolution to regions and cities Government has therefore become a more complex multi level activity There has also been the move from government to governance Many different public quasi public and private bodies are now involved in making decisions that affect urban development Metropolitan governance is therefore also a complex multi actor process In these conditions of fragmented governance and the widening spatial networking of urban development the issue of policy co ordination become ever more important The exploration of the 20 cities shows that many face similar difficulties while some also provide interesting examples of innovative practice The book concludes that the way forward is to find strategies to link the different spheres of metropolitan action through organising connectivity

European Port Cities in Transition Angela Carpenter,Rodrigo Lozano,2020-01-22 Seaports as part of urban centers play a major role in the cultural social and economic life of the cities in which they are located and through the links they provide to the outside world Port cities in Europe have faced significant change first with the loss of heavy industry emergence of Eastern European democracies and the widening of the European Community now European Union during the second half of the twentieth century and more recently through drivers to change including the global Sustainable Development Agenda and the European Union Circular Economy Agenda This book examines the role of modern seaports in Europe and consider how port cities are responding to these major drivers for change It discusses the broad issues facing European Sea Ports including port life cycles spatial planning and societal integration May 2019 saw the 200th anniversary of the first steam ship to cross the Atlantic between the US and England and it is just over 60 years since the invention of the modern intermodal shipping container both drivers of change in the maritime and ports industry Increasing movements of people e g through low cost cruises to port cities can play a major role in changing the nature of such a city and impact on the lives of the people living there This book brings together original research by both long standing and younger scholars from multiple disciplines and builds upon the wider discourse about sea ports port cities and sustainability

Keeping the Lid on Logie Barrow,François Poirier,Susan Finding,2010-04-16 The contributors to this book have explored various aspects of urban imagination so intimately related to a peculiar social environment They are historians and geographers linguists and cultural students Their methodologies are very different their sources poles apart And yet they address the same object of study social and spatial segregation and urban eruptions though severally defined from epidemics to anarchist scares urban uprisings to mental maps or the reverberations of urban memories in song novels and museums Case studies consider the towns of Liverpool London Hull New York Salvador de Bahia or more generally France and America The networks created among intellectuals and labourers anarchists and migrants or the lack of communication between those who feel oppressed rioters strikers anti vaccination protesters and those in control are a further common denominator In a way urban epidemics were the epitome of the repulsive character large cities possessed in the eyes even of their own inhabitants If they were the receptacle of so many foreigners and shady political characters if they were the scenes of social and ethnic conflict and violence and promiscuity and prostitution and drunkenness and pauperism they were of necessity a festering sore which nothing could eradicate It is strange that something of this fear should linger on today otherwise how can one explain the lacunae in the official memory of museums despite the cultural efforts produced in the opposite direction with Ackroyd's love for East End London with the revival of a Little Italy in every major American city with the nostalgic folklorisation of past miseries in Salvador de Bahia and in popular song What sense of belonging can be generated by an obliteration of the past what dynamic local culture can spring from an absence from a hole in collective memory This book goes some way to filling those gaps Universities and Regional Development Rómulo Pinheiro, Paul Benneworth, Glen Alan Jones, 2012 In a systematic critical and comparative manner Universities and Regional Development shows internal and external audiences why how and when higher education's regional development efforts should take place

The Randstad Wil Zonneveld, Vincent Nadin, 2020-12-29 The Randstad metropolitan region encompassing Amsterdam The Hague Rotterdam and Utrecht in the western Netherlands is regarded worldwide as a model of a successful polycentric metropolis It is widely cited as an example of how a region of interconnected small cities can effectively compete globally by providing complementary functions which together match the power of large monocentric cities The methods of strategic spatial planning regional design and strategic projects that are said to underpin this polycentric metropolis are used as models for practitioners and students around the world But is this high reputation deserved Does the Randstad really function as a polycentric metropolis The operation of the Randstad as a polycentric networked region is controversial both in terms of the actual strength of relations between its component parts and the value of promoting polycentricity in policy What are the costs and benefits of a Randstad metropolis Does polycentricity improve the performance of the region in economic social and environmental terms How has the polycentric metropolis evolved and what part is played by its delta location Has spatial planning made a difference in the form and operation of the region today How will this spatial configuration fare in the face of the climate crisis and need to create healthy cities and regions Is there benefit in pursuing the idea of a polycentric metropolis in government policy and action and how These questions are of critical interest within the Netherlands but experience in the Randstad offers valuable insights to many other complex urban regions around the world This book will provide a critical analysis of the Randstad and lessons for strategic planning in other metropolitan regions

The Performance of Seaport Clusters Peter W. de Langen, 2003 This PhD thesis deals with the performance of clusters Even though cluster studies are numerous a coherent framework to analyze cluster performance is lacking In this thesis such a framework is developed drawing from different schools that deal with clusters Central in the framework is a distinction to variables of cluster performance related to the structure of a cluster and variables related to the governance of a cluster Four structure variables agglomeration and disagglomeration forces internal competition heterogeneity of the cluster and the level of entry and exit barriers and four governance related variables the presence of trust the presence of intermediaries the presence of leader firms and the quality of collective action regimes are identified and discussed The validity of these variables is confirmed in the three case studies of the port clusters of Rotterdam Durban and the lower Mississippi The strengths and weaknesses of the three port clusters the importance of the variables discussed above and opportunities for policy and management to improve the performance of clusters are discussed The results of this study are relevant for cluster scholars and for scholars specializing in port studies The thesis is also relevant for port cluster managers and for managers of firms in port clusters since implications of this study for policy and management in port clusters are discussed

Comparative Port History of Rotterdam and Antwerp (1880-2000) Ferry de Goey, 2004 Comparative port history is often preached but seldom practiced This volume compares the development of Rotterdam and Antwerp in the period 1880 2000 Because of their geographical proximity these European ports have a long history of intense rivalry In order to attract new cargo flows port dues and cargo handling costs were regarded as vital instruments but the volume qualifies the importance of pricing as a competitive instrument and questions the common typologies of Rotterdam and Antwerp Using new methods and theories and employing an extensive recently constructed database the book presents a fresh look at an old topic This volume contains contributions of both Belgian and Dutch authors About the Author

North Sea Region Climate Change Assessment Markus Quante, Franciscus Colijn, 2016-08-31 This book offers an up to date review of our current understanding of climate change in the North Sea and adjacent areas as well as its impact on ecosystems and socio economic sectors It provides a detailed assessment of climate change based on published scientific work compiled by independent international experts from climate related disciplines such as oceanography atmospheric sciences marine and terrestrial ecology using a regional evaluation and review process similar to that of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC It provides a comprehensive overview of all aspects of our changing climate discussing a wide range of topics including past current and future climate change and climate related changes in marine terrestrial and freshwater ecosystems It also explores the impact of climate change on socio economic sectors such as fisheries agriculture coastal zone management coastal protection urban climate recreation tourism offshore activities energy and air pollution

Momentum Werner van Hoof, Jan Blomme, 2002 The Urban Connection Luuk Boelens, 2009 The urban connection develops a promising actor relational approach to urban planning With respect to the usual governmental planning it is focused outside in instead of inside out It derives its leitmotif from the actual debate about state controlled versus neo liberal planning and reflects on innovative post structuralist scholars in the field of planning economics social geography and governance It then takes its own position in that debate reflecting on actor oriented experiments in planning practices These experiments deal with the daily planning practice with a pro active and operational attitude contrary to the usual retrospective case studies Therefore it results in concrete suggestions on how to develop a more robust planning approach in an ongoing globalising and fragmenting world      Environnements portuaires Anne-Lise Piétri-Lévy, Que savons nous aujourd'hui des ports de leur histoire et de leur fonctionnement Une des approches les plus fructueuses passe par l'étude des environnements portuaires Des spécialistes français britanniques américains belges allemands et italiens nous apportent le résultat des recherches qu'ils développent depuis de longues années Historiens sociologues géographes professionnels nous livrent leurs réflexions sur ce milieu si important pour l'évolution de nos civilisations Les exemples sont tirés de toutes les mers du globe de San Francisco Montevideo d'Anvers Gioia Tauro Les ports français bien représentés s'étendent de Dunkerque Fos avec une attention toute particulière pour la Basse Seine Le Havre Rouen Honfleur Dives et la Bretagne Mais l'ouvrage va au-delà des études de cas puisque l'une de ses originalités est de regrouper plusieurs articles marqués par la dimension comparative Dans une première partie les auteurs examinent les représentations et la culture des ports Dans la deuxième des réalités plus matérielles telles que les espaces les aménagements et les règlements occupent le premier plan La troisième partie enfin la plus longue est dédiée à la foule des milliers de la mer marins manutentionnaires pêcheurs pilotes et surtout dockers Ces derniers sont étudiés par des chercheurs qui ont consacré des années d'études ce milieu complexe et fascinant      North Sea Pilot Great Britain.
