North American P 51 Mustang:

P-51 Mustang Gardner N. Hatch,1993 Fittingly named for a wild horse this fighter became widely recognized for its power and beauty It was a key element in Allied air superiority in Europe during WWII destroying 9 081 enemy aircraft and with similar results in the Korean War Striking photos and the personal stories of the men who flew it help to tell the story of this superior aircraft Full color photos of restored P 51s Revised and updated North American P-51 Mustang Malcolm Lowe,2009-12-15 The P 51 Mustang is one of the greatest warplanes of all time Developed as a private venture it was seized upon by the British as the answer to their shortage of fighter aircraft in the early months of World War Two Early Allison engined Mustangs lacked performance at high altitude but the great promise of the airframe was clear and when fitted with the Rolls Royce Merlin the Mustang became one of the best pistoned engined fighters ever built Not only was its performance on a par with the best British and German fighters of the era but it was the first single engined fighter with range sufficient to accompany bombers from Great Britain to Berlin and back This new history of the Mustang tells the full story of its development technical features and operational history and also looks at its long post war career as warbird and racer Malcolm Lowe also dispels many of the myths that have grown up around the Mustang North American P-51 Mustang Mantell - Brown - Kittel - Graf,2016-02-07 The Mustang is considered the best fighter of World War II The outstanding flight characteristics of this elegant aircraft were due to the adoption of a wing profile laminar particularly designed for high speeds and other measures which concerned the radiator and the careful study of the various components for quick construction on an industrial scale Capable of reaching high altitudes was also used in the escort bombers In addition to the United States was exported to many foreign countries that have employed in some cases until the 70s Entered service with the A M in 1948 replacing the now exhausted Spitfire line hunting Although the first models equipped with Allison engine cylinders in line they were good low altitude aircraft it was only with the adoption of the Rolls Royce Merlin engine mounted on later models the Mustang was able to give the best of himself The essential simplicity of the design coupled with a pleasant look and aerodynamic constituted a great potential for development and the consequence was that the Mustang excelled in two fields powerful fighter bomber operating at low altitude and high altitude escort fighter with long range In the first as the Mustang was able to develop a formidable firepower including the firing of rockets and bombs in the second role thanks to extra tanks that were dropped when empty was the first Allied fighter escort to make raid down over Berlin and Tokyo In every respect the Mustang was a big plane much loved by the pilots and crews of the escorting bombers and greatly feared by the Japanese and German pilots With the engine Merlin Mustang had phenomenal qualities of speed both up and acceleration All this combined with excellent maneuverability made him a fighter truly superlative performance Republic P-47 Thunderbolt - North American P-51 Mustang Mantelli - Brown - Kittel - Graf,2017-03-03 The Republic P 47 Thunderbolt nicknamed Jug was an American fighter comes with an extremely powerful engine 2 000 hp or more and it was fast especially at high altitude It was also heavily armed with eight 12 7 mm machine guns and its strength allowed him to return to base even if badly damaged The North American P 51 Mustang is considered among the best fighters of World War II Produced starting from 1941 he was one of the most versatile American fighters of the Second World War It was deployed both in the Pacific and on that European opposition to the planes of the Luftwaffe It was mainly used as a fighter escort to the formations of bombers Boeing B 17 but also as a fighter bomber Mustang
