Northern Haida Master Carvers:

Northern Haida Master Carvers Robin Kathleen Wright, 2001 Highlighting the achievements of a few renowned Haida artists the author introduces readers to the spectacular ceremonial art and sculptural traditions of this northwestern Native American tribe

Proud Raven, Panting Wolf Emily L. Moore, 2018-11-20 Among Southeast Alaska's best known tourist attractions are its totem parks showcases for monumental wood sculptures by Tlingit and Haida artists Although the art form is centuries old the parks date back only to the waning years of the Great Depression when the US government reversed its policy of suppressing Native practices and began to pay Tlingit and Haida communities to restore older totem poles and move them from ancestral villages into parks designed for tourists Dramatically altering the patronage and display of historic Tlingit and Haida crests this New Deal restoration project had two key aims to provide economic aid to Native people during the Depression and to recast their traditional art as part of America's heritage Less evident is why Haida and Tlingit people agreed to lend their crest monuments to tourist attractions at a time when they were battling the US Forest Service for control of their traditional lands and resources Drawing on interviews and government records as well as on the histories represented by the totem poles themselves Emily Moore shows how Tlingit and Haida leaders were able to channel the New Deal promotion of Native art as national art into an assertion of their cultural and political rights Just as they had for centuries the poles affirmed the ancestral ties of Haida and Tlingit lineages to their lands Supported by the Jill and Joseph McKinstry Book Fund Art History Publication Initiative For more information visit http://arthistorypi.org/books/proud_raven_panting_wolf

Yakuglas' Legacy Ronald W. Hawker, 2017-01-06 Charlie James 1867-1937 was a premier carver and painter from the Kwakwaka'wakw First Nation of British Columbia Also known by his ceremonial name Yakuglas he was a prolific artist and activist during a period of severe oppression for First Nations people in Canada Yakuglas Legacy examines the life of Charlie James During the early part of his career James created works primarily for ritual use within Kwakwaka'wakw society However in the 1920s his art found a broader audience as he produced more miniatures and paintings Through a balanced reading of the historical period and James' artistic production Ronald W. Hawker argues that James' shift to contemporary art forms allowed the artist to make a critical statement about the vitality of Kwakwaka'wakw culture Yakuglas Legacy aided by the inclusion of 123 colour illustrations is at once a beautiful and poignant book about the impact of the Canadian project on Aboriginal people and their artistic response The Golden Spruce John Vaillant, 2009-03-18 efforts to repatriate ancestral remains from museums around the world Focusing on objects made to honour the ancestors Cara Krmpotich explores how memory objects and kinship connect and form a cultural archive Since the mid 1990s Haidas have been making button blankets and bentwood boxes with clan crest designs hosting feasts for hundreds of people and composing and choreographing new songs and dances in the service of repatriation The book comes to understand how shared experiences of sewing weaving dancing cooking and feasting lead to the Haida notion of respect the creation of kinship and collective memory and the production of a cultural archive On Aboriginal representation in the Gallery Lydia Jessup, Shannon Bagg, 2002-01-01 In recognizing the established intellectual and institutional authority of Aboriginal artists curators and academics working in cultural institutions and universities this volume serves as an important primer on key questions and issues accompanying the changing representational practices of the community cultural center the public art gallery and the anthropological museum Published in English States of Violence Austin Sarat, Jennifer L. through the summer of 1901 His Haida hosts and colleagues had been raised in a wholly oral world where the mythic and the personal interpenetrate completely They joined forces with their visitor consciously creating a great treasury of Haida oral literature in written form Poet and linguist Robert Bringhurst has worked for many years with these century old manuscripts which have waited until now for the broad recognition they deserve Raven Travelling Daina Augaitis,2008 This publication coincided with an exhibition of the same name celebrating the Vancouver Art Gallery s 75th anniversary
