Remembering Northrop Frye Robert D. Denham, 2014-01-10 This book brings together letters from 89 of Northrop Frye's students, friends, and acquaintances in which they record their recollections of him as a teacher and a person during the 1940s and 1950s. A number of the correspondents also provide their impressions of Victoria College at the time where Frye taught for more than 50 years. The letters provide insights into Frye as a teacher that are not elsewhere available and reveal a consistent portrait of an intellectually superlative, generous, and thoughtful man. Biography Ira B. Criticism and Literary Theory 1890 to the Present Chris Baldick, 2014-06-11 Presents a coherent and accessible historical account of the major phases of British and American Twentieth century criticism from decadent aestheticism to feminist deconstructionist and post colonial theories. Special attention is given to new perspectives on Shakespearean criticism, theories of the novel, and models of the literary canon. The book will help to define and account for the major developments in literary criticism during this century, exploring the full diversity of critical work from major critics such as T. S. Eliot and F. R. Leavis to minor but fascinating figures and critical schools. Unlike most guides to modern literary theory, its focus is firmly on developments within the English speaking world. Northrop Frye Northrop Frye, 2009-08-28 Professional and personal correspondence of Northrop Frye, one of the preeminent literary critics of the last century. The letters reveal Frye's attitudes toward scores of topics: the value of James Bond thrillers, the gap between faith and reason, surrealism, hippies, political hysteria in the U.S., anarchism, the teaching of religion in the university, and other issues. Provided by publisher. Northrop Frye Robert D. Denham, 2004 The notebooks' contents not only expand on ideas laid out in Frye's published works but also touch on subjects most readers would not associate with Frye, such as his wide reading both in Eastern religious texts and in esoteric traditions ranging from astrology to the Kabbalah. BOOK JACKET My Life as a Dame Christina McCall, 2008
