Not A Games Person On Pe:

Equity and Difference in Physical Education, Youth Sport and Health Fiona Dowling, Hayley Fitzgerald, Anne Flintoff, 2012

Issues of equity remain an essential theme throughout the study and practice of physical education PE youth sport and health This important new book confronts and illuminates issues of equity and difference through the innovative use of narrative method telling stories of difference that enable students academics and professionals alike to engage both emotionally and cognitively with the subject The book is arranged into three sections The first provides an overview of current theory and research on difference and inequality in PE youth sport and health together with an introduction to narrative forms of knowing The second section includes short narratives about difference that bring to life the key themes and issues in a range of physical activity contexts The third section draws upon a selection of narratives to offer detailed practical suggestions for how they might be used in or inform teaching sessions This is the first book to explore issues of equity through narrative and the first to examine the pedagogical value of a narrative approach within PE youth sport and health With contributions from many of the world s leading equity specialists it will be invaluable reading for all students scholars and professionals working in PE youth sport health sports development gender studies and mainstream education programmes

The Experiences of Disabled People in Physical Education Wesley J. Wilson, Justin A. Haegele, 2025-04-10

Bringing together a set of first person accounts of physical education from the perspectives of disabled children and adults this book puts disabled people s voices in the foreground The book provides a rich set of case study material that deepens our understanding of the experiences of disabled people and challenges students researchers and practitioners to reflect critically upon their own positionality The first part of the book discusses the ways in which disability has been conceptualized how the voices of disabled people have sometimes been marginalized and how nondisability power has historically framed the narratives of disabled people in physical education literature It also discusses the innovative methods used in this book such as storytelling through recorded conversations and drawings in addition to more traditional chapter writing to empower disabled children and adults to act as authors of their own stories Then the book presents the stories themselves in a variety of written narrative and alternative formats a series of authentic accounts of the lived experiences of disabled people in physical education Finally the book concludes with the editors final thoughts and reflections about this collection of stories that can be used in the classroom to foster dialogue and encourage critical thinking Importantly these prompts have been co constructed between the editors and the disabled people themselves This book is essential reading for any course in adapted physical education physical education or disability for any pre or in service teacher instructor or coach working with disabled people and for people who experience disability or their families with an interest in education physical activity or methods for elevating the voices of disabled people

Developing Personal, Social and Moral Education through Physical Education Anthony Laker, 2002-01-04 Personal social and moral development through physical education and sport is a relatively under researched area Most teaching concentrates on the performance aspect of physical education while the National Curriculum requires teachers to address a number of non physical outcomes such as learning rules teamwork cooperation and competition This timely book redresses that balance by providing classroom practitioners and student teachers with practical advice and tried and tested suggestions for activities and strategies to help them use physical education as an effective vehicle for the all round personal development of the individual Tony Laker pays particular attention to curriculum development planning units of work and lesson planning considering different types of assessment and suggestions on which forms are most appropriate for measuring programme effectiveness and the personal development of pupils the role of the reflective practitioner and a framework within which teachers can reflect on their practice Through using an extensive range of diagrams photos and bulleted lists Laker makes this guide a concise and accessible read giving practitioners the opportunity to extend and develop their abilities in teaching this subject
