Not By Schools Alone Sharing Responsibility For Americas Education Reform:

Not by Schools Alone Sandra A Waddock,1995-02-28 Not by Schools Alone takes a compelling look at the realities of modern education attitude problems hindering change isolation and bureaucratic rigidity and proliferating social problems afflicting children and families Author Sandra Waddock proposes that we all whether in business social service or health care agencies government or civic leaders or simply parents have roles to play and responsibilities to bear for education reform For schools to change requires shifts of enormous proportions within schools themselves to reengineer the educational goals content processes and systems to assure that all children learn at high levels This cannot be done in a vacuum but should and must be done by tapping the strengths of other key stakeholders in society and restructuring so that responsibility can be shared appropriately Rethinking the Education Mess: A Systems Approach to Education Reform I. Mitroff,L. Hill,C. Alpaslan,2013-10-17 Using a form of systems thinking this book analyzes K 12 education as a complex messy system that must be tackled as a whole and provides a series of heuristics to help those involved in the education mess to improve the system as a whole Building the Responsible Enterprise Sandra Waddock,Andreas Rasche,2012-06-13 Building the Responsible Enterprise provides students and practitioners with a practical yet academically rooted introduction to the state of the art in sustainability and corporate social responsibility The book consists of four parts highlighting different aspects of corporate responsibility Part I discusses the context in which corporate responsibility occurs Part II looks at three critical issues the development of vision at the individual and organizational levels the integration of values into the responsible enterprise and the ways that these building blocks create added value for a firm Part III highlights the actual management practices that enable enterprises to achieve excellence focusing on the roles that stakeholder relationships play in improving performance The book concludes with a conversation about responsible management in the global village examining the emerging infrastructure in which enterprise finds itself today Throughout the text cases exemplify key concepts and highlight companies that are guiding us into tomorrow s business environment Resources in Education ,1995 Handbook of Professional Development in Education Linda E.
