Learning Together Michael J. Kaufman, Sherelyn R. Kaufman, Elizabeth C. Nelson, 2015-03-24 This book makes a comprehensive multi disciplinary argument for investing in effective early childhood education programs especially those that develop in children their proven natural capacity to construct knowledge by building meaningful relationships Recent insights in the fields of law policy economics pedagogy and neuroscience demonstrate that these particular programs produce robust educational social and economic benefits for children and for the country The book also provides legal and political strategies for achieving these proven benefits as well as pedagogical strategies for developing the most effective early childhood education programs The book concludes by making visible the wonderful learning that can take place in an early education environment where teachers are afforded the professional judgment to encourage children to construct their own knowledge through indispensable learning relationships winning book provides a comprehensive history of gender policies and practices in American public schools David Tyack and Elisabeth Hansot explore the many factors that have shaped coeducation since its origins At the very time that Americans were creating separate spheres for adult men and women they institutionalized an education system that brought boys and girls together How did beliefs about the similarities and differences of boys and girls shape policy and practice in schools To what degree did the treatment of boys and girls differ by class race region and historical period Debates over gender policies suggest that Americans have made public education the repository of their hopes and anxieties about relationships between the sexes Thus the history of coeducation serves as a window not only on constancy and change in gender practices in the schools but also on cultural conflicts about gender in the broader society Learning Together presents a rich and exhaustive search through the tangled history of gender and education that links both the silences and the debates surrounding coeducation to the changing roles of women and men in our society It is the generosity and capaciousness of Tyack and Hansot's scholarship that makes Learning Together so important a book Science The Power of Reflection in Teacher

Directing The Power of Conscious Feelings Clinton Callahan, 2014-11-30 This book is about feelings and the ways that we as individuals and as a culture have numbed ourselves against them. It is about unleashing the possibility of conscious feelings to re-make our lives into what really matters to us. The Power of Conscious Feelings introduces readers to the concept of the personal numbness bar—a measure set high by modern culture as a way of keeping everything cool under control and consequently out of touch. This book provides the insight and the means for lowering that numbness bar. You can feel more, the author asserts. You can regain the intelligence and energy of your feelings so long denied and dressed up to appear acceptable. Being cool, Callahan states, allows you to look the other way about torture, invasion, pollution, and injustice and to accept the generic malaise that characterizes so many relationships. The central framework of the book is built with the Ten Distinctions for Consciously Feeling, including Learning the potent difference between thoughts and feelings which most people confuse. Sorting out feelings based in present from emotions based in the past or in somebody else's life. Fully allowing that feelings are absolutely neutral energy and information, neither good nor bad, neither positive nor negative. Each chapter is enriched with THOUGHTMAPS—clear diagrams of ways we presently think and ways we could possibly think and supported by an abundance of practical experiments to try. The Power of Conscious Feelings is so much more than a book of self-help or inspiration. Ultimately it is about our connection with and responsibility for the fate of the Earth. When we are no longer numb, we are freed from solitary confinement in our private world of thoughts and beliefs We emerge already connected with other human beings connected in the world of feelings we all have in common This book actually guides the reader through four distinct evolutionary stages from Personal to Relational to Transformational to Cultural in showing us how to use our adult feelings as the fuel for living our destiny as creators of sustainable culture Choosing numbness was probably unconscious for most of us But Callahan is committed to showing us step by step in this moment how we can change the mind and learn to consciously feel Leading and Learning Together Lynda Tredway, Matthew Militello, Joseph Flessa, 2024-12 Leadership coupled with learning is an ongoing process in which everyone has a participatory role in school or district change efforts Providing a useful antidote to the plethora of packaged curriculum and external professional development providers this book focuses on reclaiming agency advocacy and inquiry for leaders and teachers in the places they know best their schools and districts Doing so requires imagination cooperation and transparency As such the authors provide evidence from multiple school and district educators who are cultivating change from within by disrupting and dismantling systems and drawing on internal assets to address equity driven challenges As a result educators can and should become researchers of their own practices This resource offers a set of evidence based principles processes and protocols that increase equitable access and support educators to breathe joy and justice into schools and communities Book Features Educational change reimaged as reinvesting in the collective power of the people closest to the issues Guidance based on evidence from multiple school and district change efforts documented and described by the authors Use of evidence to organize more productive informal and formal professional learning driven by practitioner agency and inquiry Text boxes called Voices From the Field provide stories of practices from practitioner researchers Access to useful and equitable processes and protocols for the professional learning of educators Evidence from school and district leaders underscores the complex work of leading and learning from within and how to do it Two Years Mary Kenner Glover, 1993 Two Years provides insight into how classrooms can be organized and operated so that learning and a sense of well being are fostered for both children and teachers
