Palliative Care In The Home:

End of Life in Care Homes Jeanne Samson Katz, Sheila M. Peace, 2003-04-03 In our society the overwhelming majority of people die in later life They typically die slowly of chronic diseases with multiple co existing problems over long periods of time They spend the majority of their final years at home but many will die in hospitals or care homes This book explores the possibilities for improving the care of older people dying in residential care and nursing homes It argues that there are aspects of palliative care that given the right circumstances are transferable to dying people in settings that are not domestic or hospice based End of Life in Care Homes describes what happens in nursing and residential care homes when a resident is dying how carers cope and the practical health and emotional challenges that carers face on top of their day to day work Based on detailed research from both the UK and US the book shows how the situation can be improved Hospice

Palliative Home Care and Bereavement Support Lorraine Holtslander, Shelley Peacock, Jill Bally, 2019-07-17 This book provides an unique resource for registered nurses working in hospice palliative care at home and for the community outside of acute care settings and also incorporates literature related to palliative care in acute health care settings as part of the overall services and supports required Very few resources exist which specifically address hospice palliative care in the home setting despite the fact that most palliative care occurs outside acute care settings and is primarily supported by unpaid family caregivers An overview of the concerns for individuals and families as well as specific nursing interventions from all ages would be an excellent support for nursing students and practicing registered nurses alike The book structure begins with a description of the goals and objectives of hospice palliative care and the nursing role in providing excellent supportive care Chapters include research findings and specifically research completed by the authors in the areas of pediatric palliative care palliative care for those with dementia and the needs of family caregivers in bereavement Interventions developed by the editors are provided in this book such as the Finding Balance Intervention for bereaved caregivers the Reclaiming Yourself tool for bereaved spouses of partners with dementia and The Keeping Hope Possible Toolkit for families of children with life threatening and life limiting illnesses The development and application of these theory based interventions are also highlighted Videos and vignettes written by family caregivers about what was helpful for them provide a patient and family centered approach div The book will benefit nursing students educators and practicing registered nurses by providing information theory and evidence from research Hospice and Palliative Care Handbook, Fourth Edition: Quality,

Palliative Care for Care Homes Christine Reddall,2009 Care home workers increasingly work with people nearing the end of their lives including people with medically complex conditions However many do not have a medical background and find that practical advice on how to address these people s very specific needs is scarce In this book Christine Reddall draws on almost four decades of nursing experience to create a clear and easy to read handbook primarily for workers caring for the dying in care homes but which will also be of interest to family members caring for relatives with life threatening conditions This is a resource book to provide information on palliative care It is designed primarily to help carers who work in care homes of all categories To my knowledge this is the first book written solely for carers working in care homes that addresses the issues of caring for someone with palliative care needs However people with whom I have spoken to about this book or who have read parts of it have all said that it would also be a helpful resource to non professional family carers who care for a family member in their own home The style of this book is designed to be readable by all levels of carers and I have endeavoured to keep the language and text as non medical as possible I have tried to put myself in the shoes of carers especially those without medical training and think of what they want to know when caring for someone with a life threatening illness Christine Reddall in her Preface

Evidence-Based Palliative Care H. H. Abu-Saad,2008-04-15 This book describes the current state of the art in the field of palliative care in children and adults Special emphasis is placed on addressing the efficacy and effectiveness of palliative care models pain and symptom management and on measuring quality of life In addition the book evaluates current research methods in palliative care and suggests suitable alternatives Finally the book bridges the gap between science and practice by providing the reader with the current evidence and how it can be applied in the practice setting
