Service Systems Science

Kyoichi Kijima,2014-11-13 The present volume illustrates a rich and promising research field in service service systems sciences by combining and fusing two strands of sciences the science of service systems and systems sciences of service The scale complexity and interdependence of today s service systems have been driven to an unprecedented level by globalization demographic changes and technology developments so that it is absolutely necessary now for us to cultivate a new frontier of service research In response service science has emerged during the past decade as a transdisciplinary research field that aims to clarify analyze and design the structure and process of service systems Service science is strongly motivated to prove the science of service systems To deal with complexity interactions and the network of in and among service systems we need to take a more systemic view Because systems sciences offers a way of thinking in relationships and interaction and theories and models to address complexity it is legitimate to develop systems sciences of service by explicitly focusing on systemic properties of service and service systems As a volume of the Translational Systems Sciences series this book emphasizes in particular a translational systems sciences perspective when the authors are approaching service service systems and service innovation Indeed the book employs systems sciences as a common framework or language not only to approach service in a holistic way but also to take a translational approach aiming to explain analyze design and support service systems and their evolution
