Paper Landscapes Explorations In The Environmental History Of Indonesia:

Paper Landscapes P. Boomgaard, David E.F. Henley, Freek Colombijn, 2022-04-11 Too much of what has so far passed for the historical background to Indonesia's environmental problems has consisted of little more than thinly disguised backward projections of modern trends The writers in this volume report on their own pioneer journeys into the paper landscapes of the colonial literature and archives in search of the real environmental history of Indonesia Environmental History in the Pacific World J.R. McNeill, 2022-03-01 This volume brings together a set of key articles from the last 30 years pertaining to the environmental history of the Pacific basin It aims to treat the islands and waters of the Pacific as well as the lands around the Rim from New Zealand to Japan to California to Chile and is the first work of environmental history to take this inclusive view of the Pacific basin The focus is mainly on recent centuries but as environmental history requires at times the work also takes the very long view of millennia Several of the articles seek to bring a broad Pacific perspective to bear on their subjects while others use Pacific basin examples to try to establish broader theoretical points of interest to all who are drawn to the study of the interactions between nature and culture The book includes a bibliography of Pacific basin environmental history and an introduction that aims to sketch the contours and possible future directions of the field Histories of the Borneo Environment Reed L. Wadley, 2022-07-04 In light of the tremendous changes that have come to the island of Borneo in recent decades this volume takes a detailed historical look at the Borneo environment from native colonial and national perspectives It examines change and continuity in the economic political and social dimensions of human environment interactions Reflecting the increasingly multidisciplinary nature of environmental history the book brings together an international group of historians anthropologists geographers and social foresters all looking through a historical lens at the environment in the Malaysian states of Sabah and Sarawak and the Indonesian province of Kalimantan and Brunei Drawing on extensive archival research and fieldwork these ten original contributions encompass eleven centuries of history on Borneo examining interrelated topics that include long distance trade conservation land tenure resource access property rights perceptions of the environment migration and development policy and practice The chapters in this volume are extensively revised versions of selected papers presented at an international seminar on Environmental change in native and colonial histories of Borneo Lessons from the past prospects for the future held in Leiden under the auspices of the International Institute for Asian Studies A History of Natural Resources in Asia G. Bankoff, P. Boomgaard, 2007-08-20 Much has been written about the wealth of nations the history of unequal distribution and zones of affluence and deprivation within and between societies This book explores why some Asian nations are more prosperous than others through an examination of how their interaction with and utilization of resources has changed over the centuries Routledge Handbook of Heritage in Asia Patrick Daly, Tim Winter, 2012-03-29 This Handbook is the first major volume to examine the conservation of Asia's culture and nature in relation to the wider social political and economic forces shaping the region today Throughout Asia rapid economic and social change means the region's heritage is at once under threat and undergoing a revival as never before. As societies look forward, competing forces ensure they revisit the past and the inherited with the conservation of nature and culture now driven by the broader agendas of identity politics, tradition revival, rapid development, environmentalism and sustainability. In response to these new and important trends, the twenty-three accessible chapters here go beyond sector-specific analyses to examine heritage in interdisciplinary and critically engaged terms encompassing the natural and the cultural, the tangible and intangible. Emerging environmentalisms, urban planning, identity politics, conflict, memorialization, tourism and biodiversity are among the topics covered here. This path-breaking volume will be of particular interest to students and scholars working in the fields of heritage, tourism, archaeology, Asian studies, geography, anthropology, development, sociology and cultural and postcolonial studies.

The Routledge Companion to Global Indigenous History Ann McGrath, Lynette Russell, 2021-09-30

The Routledge Companion to Global Indigenous History presents exciting new innovations in the dynamic field of Indigenous global history while also outlining ethical, political and practical research. Indigenous histories are not merely concerned with the past but have resonances for the politics of the present and future ranging across vast geographical distances and deep time periods. The volume starts with an introduction that explores definitions of Indigenous peoples followed by six thematic sections which each have a global spread: European uses of history and the positioning of Indigenous people as history's outsiders; their migrations and mobilities; colonial encounters, removals and diasporas; memory, identities and narratives; deep histories and pathways towards future Indigenous histories that challenge the nature of the history discipline itself. This book illustrates the important role of Indigenous history and Indigenous knowledges for contemporary concerns including climate change, spirituality and religious movements, gender negotiations, modernity and mobility and the meaning of nation and the global. Reflecting the state of the art in Indigenous global history, the contributors suggest exciting new directions in the field, examine its many research challenges and show its resonances for a global politics of the present and future. This book is invaluable reading for students in both undergraduate and postgraduate Indigenous history courses.

Development in Place José C. M. van Santen, 2008

In humanity's struggle to find timely solutions to environmental problems, it is easily forgotten that access to our shared spaces has never been equal. This collection deals with the landscapes and places of rural, urban and wilderness areas in relation to development. Contributions examine the complex relationship that human beings maintain with their rural and urban environments and with other species in various places and spaces. Nothing is taken for granted: colonial history, globalization, localization, hybrid relationships, colonial or shared architecture, religious backgrounds and claims to equal access all fuse with policy strategies. This volume discusses these issues within the framework of developmental discourse while asserting the rights of access to the global commons for all world citizens as well as other species.

How has

Singapore's environment and location in a zone of extraordinary biodiversity influenced the economic political social and intellectual history of the island since the early 19th century What are the antecedents to Singapore's image of itself as a City in a Garden Grounding the story of Singapore within an understanding of its environment opens the way to an account of the past that is more than a story of trade immigration and nation building Each of the chapters in this volume focusing on topics ranging from tigers and plantations to trade in exotic animals and the greening of the city and written by botanists historians anthropologists and naturalists examines how humans have interacted with and understood the natural environment on a small island in Southeast Asia over the past 200 years and conversely how this environment has influenced humans Between the chapters are travelers accounts and primary documents that provide eyewitness descriptions of the events examined in the text In this regard Nature Contained Environmental Histories of Singapore provides new insights into the Singaporean past and reflects much of the diversity and dynamism of environmental history globally Southeast Asia Peter Boomgaard, 2006-12-14 From Angkor Wat to Agent Orange Southeast Asia An Environmental History tells the story of some of the most dramatic effects humans have had on the natural and developed environment anywhere in the world and examines the ways in which environmental factors have helped shape the culture politics and societies of the region Ever since the first humanlike creatures arrived some 80 000 years ago Southeast Asia's varied and challenging environment has helped shape the course of human destiny From the importance of its spices to 17th century Europeans to the jungle canopies that sheltered Communist insurgents throughout much of the 20th century the region's environment has often proven decisive in human affairs Packed with key facts and analysis Southeast Asia provides an expert guide to the complex interplay between human societies and the environment from Burma to the Philippines and from Vietnam to Indonesia How has the environment helped shape politics trade and religion What are the likely consequences of ongoing deforestation for Southeast Asia's people and animals Part of ABC CLIO's Nature and Human Societies series this work charts the region's environmental history from prehistory to modern times and is essential reading for students and experts alike The Stark Carpathians Anthony J. Amato, 2024-01-29 The Stark Carpathians Ritual Text and Authority Among Ukraine's Hutsuls addresses rituals and texts in a small mountainous area located in today's Ukraine The residents of this remote region are known as the Hutsuls This book argues that Hutsul rituals and texts cast as ancient and extraordinary had more mundane roots They formed out of contact between the region's residents and lowland institutions and they became foundations for everyday life Words and symbolic action had an inherent tension that stemmed from contests over authority The nature of these contests was such that distant officials willful locals and diverse sources of information were often as important as collective traditions in shaping rituals and texts Prolific producers of texts Hutsuls carried on discussions that included diverse topics such as agriculture astrology mass gymnastics divine punishment and witches and vampires This volume covers these and other discussions in their small and exact particulars and it investigates texts and rituals in their fullness and irreducible complexity By crossing traditional lines of inquiry and following the region's winding trails to their divergent ends this book offers insight into a larger Hutsul world Ultimately the study of Hutsul creations informs the study of rituals and texts in many elsewhere far from the Carpathian Mountains Muddied Waters P. Boomgaard, David E.F. Henley, 2021-10-01

This book examines the history of human interaction with forest and marine ecosystems in Indonesia Malaysia and the Philippines Rainforests falling to snarling chainsaws and factory trawlers emptying the life out of tropical seas are nowadays among the most familiar images of Southeast Asia Yet the present excessive levels of logging and fishing have emerged only within the last generation Until a few decades ago it was common for marine and forest related economic activities in Southeast Asia to have limited and in the long run rather stable effects on the environment Did this relative stability simply reflect lower population densities less well developed markets and less efficient extraction technologies Or was it the result of successful resource management techniques and institutions If so why have these since failed or been abandoned Seventeen contributions by an international selection of expert authors cover topics ranging from the collection of rattan beeswax and forest resins in the seventeenth century to the management of modern marine nature reserves Muddied waters is essential reading for anyone interested in the environmental history of Southeast Asia whether in connection with other aspects of this particular region or in relation to patterns of environmental change and resource management in other parts of the world Land and Life in Timor-Leste Andrew McWilliam, Elizabeth G. Traube, 2011-12-01

Following the historic 1999 popular referendum East Timor emerged as the first independent sovereign nation of the 21st Century The years since these momentous events have seen an efflorescence of social research across the country drawn by shared interests in the aftermath of the resistance struggle the processes of social recovery and the historic opportunity to pursue field based ethnography following the hiatus of research during 24 years of Indonesian rule 1975-99 This volume brings together a collection of papers from a diverse field of international scholars exploring the multiple ways that East Timorese communities are making and remaking their connections to land and places of ancestral significance The work is explicitly comparative and highlights the different ways Timorese language communities negotiate access and transactions in land disputes and inheritance especially in areas subject to historical displacement and resettlement Consideration is extended to the role of ritual performance and social alliance for inscribing connection and entitlement Emerging through analysis is an appreciation of how relations to land articulated in origin discourses are implicated in the construction of national culture and differential contributions to the struggle for independence The volume is informed by a range of Austronesian cultural themes and highlights the continuing vitality of customary governance and landed attachment in Timor Leste Fertility, Food and Fever David E.F. Henley, 2021-11-15 Combining historical geography with historical demography and conceived as a study in environmental history this book examines the long term relationship between population economy and environment in the northern half of the Indonesian island of Sulawesi Using a rich variety of Dutch historical sources including VOC and missionary archives it attempts to reconstruct and analyse patterns of demographic economic and landscape change throughout this large and ecologically diverse region over a period of almost three and a half centuries Particular attention is given to the articulation between demographic and economic growth to levels and determinants of reproductive fertility to changing disease environments and to the question of agricultural sustainability and its preconditions The results call into question some common views regarding the reasons for low population growth and the relationship between population density and landscape change in the Southeast Asian past

Pollution Across Borders: Transboundary Fire, Smoke And Haze In Southeast Asia Euston Quah,Tsiat Siong Tan,2018-04-09 This book is a collection of insights from experts of various fields and will entail discussions of the recurring haze problem in Southeast Asia It discusses multiple aspects of the haze problem What is the cause of the haze Who are the perpetrators and victims What are the impacts and costs of the haze Why has the haze problem persisted for decades Are there prospects of resolving the pollution How should we analyze the issue Which solutions are more or less effective than others How can we involve the stakeholders The book provides a wide range of views on the haze problem Written in a simple and accessible manner this book allows the readers to easily access across different fields and develop a deeper understanding of the haze

Tropical Nature Guillaume Blanc,Mathieu Guérin,Grégory Quenet,2025-03-01 Across Africa and South East Asia the impulse to protect nature often dovetails with the domination of local people From mass displacement to severe restrictions on land use and daily acts of violence conservation work risks reproducing Eurocentric modes of colonialism and worsening the effects of the climate crisis In this insightful and wide ranging study of the colonial history of conservation Tropical Nature seeks to provide a much needed history of the Global South from its own perspective Comparing case studies ranging from Ali Bongo s Gabon to the postcolonial African itinerary of the agronomist Arthur Bunting this volume advances a small scale global history that deciphers the relations binding human societies to the non human world

The Fourth Circle John Fitzgerald McCarthy,2006 This book analyzes the political legal and economic dynamics shaping environmental outcomes across two districts in Aceh one of the richest and most expansive areas of tropical rainforest in Southeast Asia Its central theme is that the present cycle of ecological decline can best be understood in terms of the way political economic and social forces operate at the district level

Regreening the Bare Hills David Lamb,2010-10-14 In Regreening the Bare Hills Tropical Forest Restoration in the Asia Pacific Region David Lamb explores how reforestation might be carried out both to conserve biological diversity and to improve the livelihoods of the rural poor While both issues have attracted considerable attention in recent years this book takes a significant step by integrating ecological and silvicultural knowledge within the context of the social and economic issues that can determine the success or failure of tropical forest landscape restoration Describing new approaches to the reforestation of degraded lands in the Asia Pacific tropics the book reviews current approaches to reforestation throughout the region paying particular attention to those which incorporate native species including in multi species plantations It presents case studies from across the Asia Pacific region and discusses how the silvicultural methods needed to manage these new plantations will differ from conventional methods It also explores how reforestation might be made more attractive to smallholders and how trade offs between production and conservation are most easily made at a landscape scale The book concludes with a discussion of how future forest restoration may be affected by some current ecological and socio economic trends now underway The book represents a valuable resource for reforestation managers and policy makers wishing to promote these new silvicultural approaches as well as for conservationists development experts and researchers with an interest in forest restoration Combining a theoretical research perspective with practical aspects of restoration the book will be equally valuable to practitioners and academics while the lessons drawn from these discussions will have relevance elsewhere throughout the tropics

The Banana Tree at the Gate Michael Dove, 2011-03-08 The Hikayat Banjar a native court chronicle from Borneo characterizes the irresistibility of natural resource wealth to outsiders as the banana tree at the gate Michael R Dove employs this phrase as a root metaphor to frame the history of resource relations between the indigenous peoples of Borneo and the world system In analyzing production and trade in forest products pepper and especially natural rubber Dove shows that the involvement of Borneo s native peoples in commodity production for global markets is ancient and highly successful and that processes of globalization began millennia ago Dove s analysis replaces the image of the isolated tropical forest community that needs to be helped into the global system with the reality of communities that have been so successful and competitive that they have had to fight political elites to keep from being forced out
