Grossman, 2023-06-30 In Immeasurable Weather Sara J Grossman explores how environmental data collection has been central to the larger project of settler colonialism in the United States She draws on an extensive archive of historical and meteorological data spanning two centuries to show how American scientific institutions used information about the weather to establish and reinforce the foundations of a white patriarchal settler society Grossman outlines the relationship between climate data and state power in key moments in the history of American weather science from the nineteenth century public data gathering practices of settler farmers and teachers and the automation of weather data during the Dust Bowl to the role of meteorological satellites in data science's integration into the militarized state Throughout Grossman shows that weather science reproduced the natural world as something to be measured owned and exploited This data gathering she contends gave coherence to a national weather project and to a notion of the nation itself demonstrating that weather science's impact cannot be reduced to a set of quantifiable phenomena JOSEPH HENRY MOYER ALBERT E, 1997-11-17 By the time of his death in 1878 Joseph Henry was America's most eminent physical scientist His achievements in the study of electricity magnetism and telegraphy earned him a 30 year tenure as the first secretary of the Smithsonian This biography illuminates not only the character of 19th century scientific exploration but also the place of science in American culture 12 illustrations Annotation, 1986-08-14 America, History and Life, 1990 Article abstracts and citations of reviews and dissertations covering the United States and Canada the american archivist, 1986 The Papers of Joseph Henry: January 1844-December 1946, The Princeton years Joseph Henry, 1992 The Papers of Joseph Henry: January 1844-December 1846 : the Princeton years Joseph Henry, 1972 Library Journal, 1985 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately PAPERS OF JOSEPH HENRY Joseph Henry, 1985-09-17 Complete Catalog Smithsonian Institution.
