Defending Whose Country? Noah Riseman, 2012-12-01 In the campaign against Japan in the Pacific during the Second World War the armed forces of the United States Australia and the Australian colonies of Papua and New Guinea made use of indigenous peoples in new capacities The United States had long used American Indians as soldiers and scouts in frontier conflicts and in wars with other nations With the advent of the Navajo Code Talkers in the Pacific theater Native servicemen were now being employed for contributions that were unique to their Native cultures In contrast Australia Papua and New Guinea had long attempted to keep indigenous peoples out of the armed forces altogether With the threat of Japanese invasion however they began to bring indigenous peoples into the military as guerilla patrollers coastwatchers and regular soldiers Defending Whose Country is a comparative study of the military participation of Papua New Guineans Yolngu and Navajos in the Pacific War In examining the decisions of state and military leaders to bring indigenous peoples into military service as well as the decisions of indigenous individuals to serve in the armed forces Noah Riseman reconsiders the impact of the largely forgotten contributions of indigenous soldiers in the Second World War

Dark Traces of the Past Jürgen Straub, Jörn Rüsen, 2011-12-01 The relationship between historical studies and psychoanalysis remains an open debate that is full of tension in both a positive and a negative sense In particular the following question has not been answered satisfactorily what distinguishes a psychoanalytically oriented study of historical realities from a historical psychoanalysis Skepticism and fear of collaboration dominate on both sides Initiating a productive dialogue between historical studies and psychoanalysis seems to be plagued by ignorance and at times a sense of helplessness Interdisciplinary collaborations are rare Empirical research formulation of theory and the development of methods are essentially carried out within the conventional disciplinary boundaries This volume undertakes to overcome these limitations by combining psychoanalytical and historical perspectives and thus exploring the underlying unconscious dimensions and by informing academic and nonacademic forms of historical memory Moreover it puts special emphasis on transgenerational forms of remembrance on the notion of trauma as a key concept in this field and on case studies that point the way to further research

100 Years of Deception Alan R. Adaschik, 2015-06-25 The citizens of the United States have been played for fools for the past 100 years Very few of us know what is behind the events that have shaped our world Most Americans assume that information provided by the news radio and television industries is the truth And most of it is However it is also true that on critical issues we only get part of the story and important information is deliberately left out 100 Years of Deception begins by establishing that passage of the Federal Reserve Act in 1913 constituted an overthrow of our government Since then the conspirators have pulled the strings that make us dance and controlled our Nation's media to keep us in the dark and compliant The conspirators eventually infiltrated most of the key institutions of our society Through propaganda and undue influence they have shaped how Americans view the world and left us hopelessly brainwashed This book not only demonstrates that our government was overthrown it also provides an accounting of the catastrophic consequences the world has suffered because of these conspirators and offers proposals for rectifying our deplorable state of affairs As Americans we owe it to ourselves and our children to seek the truth and put an end to the 100 Years of Deception that shaped the world within which we live

The Report: Papua New Guinea 2016 Oxford Business Group, 2016-09-19 In terms of investment Papua New Guinea's geographic location geopolitical importance and abundance of commodities as well as the success of the PNG Liquefied Natural Gas project have helped it become a favoured destination for Chinese and Japanese ventures with expectations of further foreign direct investment FDI going forward particularly in the primary sector However PNG remains a challenging place for international participants and while high level strategically important projects are likely to proceed smoothly smaller more entrepreneurial ventures may face difficulty To improve this reputation the country is trying to boost transparency and efficiency in business transactions though new initiatives under way could see it adopt more protectionist policies thereby going against the tenets of liberal economics it has traditionally embraced

Settling Self-Determination Disputes Marc Weller, Barbara Metzger, 2008-01-31 The study is the result of an international collaborative project supported and funded by the Carnegie Corporation of New York This multi year venture has involved a research team of some forty chapter authors and commentators The research has been accompanied by three major workshops on project methodology initial chapter reviews and final discussions A point was made of including both scholars and practitioners involved in power sharing settlements in the review process in the hope that more would be learned about the actual implementation of the settlements under investigation The project team was united in its wish to explore whether long standing secessionist conflicts have been addressed effectively through the significant number of self determination settlements that were generated in response to the wave of internal conflicts of the 1990s It was also committed to testing whether consociationalist and integrative techniques of conflict settlement really are as mutually exclusive as is sometimes supposed or whether they can in fact be mutually reinforcing Finally the project derives its impetus from the necessity to critically rethink the doctrine of self determination One may question whether its traditional restrictive interpretation will be adequate in confronting the wide variety of future challenges to the territorial integrity of states

Mathematics Education in a Neocolonial Country: The Case of Papua New Guinea Patricia Paraide, Kay Owens, Charly Muke, Philip Clarkson, Christopher Owens, 2023-01-10 Most education research is undertaken in western developed countries While some research from developing countries does make it into research journals from time to time but these articles only emphasize the rarity of research in developing countries The proposed book is unique in that it will cover education in Papua New Guinea over the millennia Papua New Guinea s multicultural society with relatively recent contact with Europe and the Middle East provides a cameo of the development of education in a country with both a colonial history and a coup less transition to independence Discussion will focus on specific areas of mathematics education that have been impacted by policies research circumstances and other influences with particular emphasis on pressures on education in the last one and half centuries This volume will be one of the few records of this kind in the education research literature as an in depth record and critique of how school mathematics has been grown in Papua New Guinea from the late 1800s and should be a useful addition to graduate programs mathematics education courses history of mathematics as well as the interdisciplinary fields of cross cultural studies scholarship focusing on globalization and post decolonialism linguistics educational administration and policy technology education teacher education and gender studies archaeology as an academic discipline is still relatively unknown We might have all heard of the wonderfully preserved organic artefacts and ecofacts found in waterlogged conditions but do we really know how they were preserved found retrieved and conserved for us to admire and study Wetland Archaeology and Beyond takes the reader through the fascinating biography of wetland archaeology from the dawn of the discipline to its remarkable achievements Through a discussion of a large variety of worldwide wetland archaeological sites and their material culture Menotti offers an appreciative study of the people who occupied these sites and who created the archaeological artefacts The volume also includes a comprehensive explanation of the procedures and research processes involved in archaeological practice and theory Focusing on the relationship between archaeological experts and the general public Menotti highlights the importance of this relationship for the future of the discipline as wetland ecosystems continue to disappear at an inexorable rate and with them our invaluable cultural heritage
