Parachutes Kisses:

Parachutes & Kisses Erica Jong, 1985      Parachutes and Kisses Erica Jong, 1997 In Parachutes Kisses Isadora is back and she's trying to cope with a career baby and liberated love life This novel is about a post feminist woman's search for her ancestors and for love that satisfies the soul and maybe lasts      Fear of Fifty Erica Jong, 2006-09-07 Seducing the Demon has introduced Erica Jong to readers who hadn't been born when Fear of Flying was published in 1973 Now one of her finest works of nonfiction and a New York Times bestseller is back in print with a new afterword In Fear of Fifty a New York Times bestseller when first published in 1994 Erica Jong looks to the second half of her life and goes right to the jugular of the women who lived wildly and vicariously through Fear of Flying Publishers Weekly delivering highly entertaining stories and provocative insights on sex marriage aging feminism and motherhood What Jong calls a midlife memoir is a slice of autobiography that ranks in honesty self perception and wisdom with works by Simone de Beauvoir and Mary McCarthy wrote the Sunday Times U K Although Jong's memoir of a Jewish American princess is wittier than either      Feminism and the Politics of Literary Reputation Charlotte Templin, 1995 Soon after its publication in 1973 Fear of Flying brought Erica Jong immense popular success and media fame Alternately pegged sassy and vulgar Jong's novel embraced the politics of the women's liberation movement and challenged the definition of female sexuality Yet today more than twenty years and several books later literary reputation continues for the most part to elude Jong Typecast by her adversaries as a media seeking sensationalist Erica Jong has been unfairly side stepped by academia Charlotte Templin contends In this carefully researched study augmented by personal interviews with Jong Templin assembles and analyzes the medley of responses to Jong's books by reviewers critics writers academics and the media by liberals conservatives and feminists She examines the diverse opinions on the merit and relevance to contemporary life of Fear of Flying the invocation of a high culture low culture dichotomy to discredit How to Save Your Own Life the anatomy of literary success with Fanny Jong's reception in a postfeminist age and the trivialization of Jong's works that is inevitable with mass media exposure Templin also shows how antagonistic reviewers tend to identify Jong with her fictitious characters a practice more common when the author is a woman and judge her to be guilty of the sin of not being a proper woman In turn she shows how reviewers reveal something of their own values and ideological biases in their critiques and how literary reputations are built destroyed and altered over time The first book to make a detailed examination of the reputation of a woman writer Feminism and the Politics of Literary Reputation provides an excellent case study for the literary reception of women writers within a broad cultural context Templin's analysis offers valuable insight into the reception of women writers especially commercially successful women writers and dramatically illustrates the relation of literary reputation to popular appeal and cultural mores      In the Blue Pharmacy Marianne Boruch, 2011-04-14 Celebrated poet and essayist Marianne Boruch ponders poets and poetry examining how the imagination works with mystery and surprise in a variety of writers Combining a richly associative style with original insights on poetic texts she brings in material from other worlds among them science and music to demonstrate the myriad ways we transform experience and knowledge The sixteen essays here explore poets and poetry the writing life and a host of fascinating topics that come into the wide range of Boruch's attention She looks at how the imagination works with mystery and surprise in a variety of poets from Elizabeth Bishop to Theodore Roethke from Russell Edson to Larry Levis from Walt Whitman to Eavan Boland She considers how the atomic bomb changed William Carlos Williams's deepest ambition for poetry and how Edison's listening through his famous deafness informs our sense of the poetic line Other essays explore how the car its danger and solitude helps us understand American poetry or how Dvořák and Whitman shared darker things than their curious love for trains Poetry transforms changing over time in the work of individual poets as well as changing us as we read it or write it Boruch's writing has a kind of musical incantatory style creating a mood in which many of her subjects are immersed Her approach isn't meant to fix or crystallize her ideas in any hard and fast light but rather to present the music of her thinking its movement its poetry Boruch brings in personal memory and philosophical speculation infusing much of this writing with slightly skewed skepticism and rueful uncertainty about one's ability to be absolute about anything least of all poetry She recognizes that much of the process of writing poetry is as mysterious as the power at the heart of a poem and it's that mystery that fascinates both the writer and the reader These essays start in passion and quietude and curiosity that willful not knowing a process similar to how poems themselves begin and keep going

Keeping the Peace Colette Maitland, 2013-05-17 If Colette Maitland were a musician you'd say she had perfect pitch Isabel Huggan A soldier's wife struggles to reconnect with her daughter after her husband is killed overseas A baby abandoned at the rectory door inflames a town with gossip A dog is shot A heart attack survivor perplexes his family with a newfound sense of religious euphoria while a nursing home volunteer struggles with the bad behaviour of one of her veteran patients Compassionate clear-eyed probing grief and insularity Colette Maitland's short fiction debut shows us the price of keeping the peace in a small town Colette Maitland writes like a dream with a touch that's compellingly subtle almost deceptively so since in these stories danger lurks around every corner and trouble is resolved in the most surprising and unsentimental ways By the end I felt I'd experienced a literary sleight of hand I had to double check that I was reading a debut collection and not the latest in a series of Maitland's wise and lovely books Charlotte Gill Here are the stories you didn't know about the people you do know and about strangers too those people you pass on the street without giving them a second thought Colette Maitland has the inside track on the abiding truth that it is our stories that make us human for better or worse Keeping the Peace is a superb debut collection by a writer to watch Diane Schoemperlen These residents of Tim Horton's Nation struggle with illness death and depression and hang on as best they can with true grit Raymond Carver meets Norman Levine on these pages which herald the appearance of a fine new writer of everyday realism Antanas Sileika Colette Maitland is the winner of a Kingston Literary Award the WFNB Literary Competition and the Ten Stories High Short Story Competition
