sociological and religious concerns of Islam and the Islamic state By emphasizing Islam in his analysis of these entertaining and instructional tales al Musawi not only illuminates the work's consistent equation between art and life but he also sheds light on its underlying narrative power His study offers a brilliant portrait of medieval Islam as well especially its social political and economic institutions and its unique practices of storytelling

Paperwork Kevin McLaughlin, 2011-06-03 The Paper Age is the phrase coined by Thomas Carlyle in 1837 to describe the monetary and literary inflation of the French Revolution an age of mass produced Bank paper and Book paper Carlyle's phrase is suggestive because it points to the particular substance paper that provides the basis for reflection on the mass media in much popular fiction appearing around the time of his historical essay Rather than becoming a metaphor however paper in some of this fiction seems to display the more complex and elusive character of what Walter Benjamin evocatively calls the decline of the aura The critical perspective elaborated by Benjamin serves as the point of departure for the readings of paper proposed in Paperwork Kevin McLaughlin argues for a literary critical approach to the impact of the mass media on literature through a series of detailed interpretations of paper in fiction by Poe Stevenson Melville Dickens and Hardy In this fiction he argues paper dramatizes the withdrawal as Benjamin puts it of the here and now of the traditional work of art into the dispersing or distracting movement of the mass media Paperwork seeks to challenge traditional concepts of medium and message that continue to inform studies of print culture and the mass media especially in the wake of industrialized production in the early nineteenth century It breaks new ground in the exploration of the difference between mass culture and literature and will appeal to cultural historians and literary critics alike
