Paradise Within Studies In Vaughan Traherne And Milton:

~Theœ Paradise Within Louis Lohr Martz,1964 John G. Demaray,1999-06-01 In this analysis of Milton s artistry as an epic poet John G Demaray offers a fresh perspective on one of the world s great epic poems Placing Paradise Lost against the background of Renaissance theatrical and literary formspageants baroque spectacles masques musical dramas and Continental heroic worksDemaray offers the first extended critical reading of the poem as a unique theatrical epic incorporating heroic conventions theological materials and elements of visual pageantry He examines Milton s early experiments in prophetic verse and theatrical forms the poet s exposure to Italian theater and art during travels in 163839 and the influence of classical Continental and British works upon evolving drafts of Paradise Lost He relates the epic in new ways to the writings of Jonson Dryden and others Readers interested in seventeenth century literature Renaissance and baroque theater the epic religious writings and the creative processes of Milton s imagination will all find many original insights in Milton s Theatrical Epic Milton and the Drama of History David Loewenstein,1990-07-27 This book explores the role of history in Milton s literary works It focuses on the writer s imaginative responses to the historical process his interpretations of the past visions of the future and sense of the contemporary historical moment Milton's Earthly Paradise Joseph E. Duncan,1972-07-06 Milton s Earthly Paradise was first published in 1972 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions This study provides a history of the changing interpretations of the first earthly paradise the garden of Eden in Western thought and relates Paradise Lost and other literary works to this paradise tradition The author traces the beginnings of the tradition as they appear in the Bible and in classical literature and shows how these two strains were joined in early Christian and medieval literature His emphasis however is on the relation of Paradise Lost to Renaissance commentary and to other literary works of the period dealing with the paradise story Professor Duncan views Paradise Lost as one of many Renaissance works that reveal an untiring effort to understand and explain the first chapters of Genesis In the rational and humanistic commentary of the Renaissance he explains the aim was to provide an interpretation of the literal sense of the Scriptural account that was credible detailed and historically valid He finds that the cumulative influence of the commentary is reflected in Milton s attention to the location of paradise the emphasis on the natural and the rational in his description of paradise and in the importance of the typological relationship between the terrestrial and celestial paradises This illuminating discussion makes it clear that Milton s re creation of paradise is not only superb poetry but also a penetrating account of the origins of man involving highly complex and controversial issues Boundless Innocence in Thomas Traherne's Poetic Theology Elizabeth S. Dodd,2016-03-16 The seventeenth century poet and divine Thomas Traherne finds innocence in every stage of existence He finds it in the chaos at the origins of creation as well as in the blessed order of Eden He finds it in the activities of grace and the hope of glory but also in the trials of misery and even in the abyss of the Fall Boundless Innocence in Thomas Traherne's Poetic Theology traces innocence through Traherne's works as it transgresses the boundaries of the estates of the soul Using grammatical and literary categories it explores various aspects of his poetic theology of innocence uncovering the boundless desire which is embodied in the yearning cry Were all Men Wise and Innocent Recovering and reinterpreting a key but increasingly neglected theme in Traherne's poetic theology this book addresses fundamental misconceptions of the meaning of innocence in his work Through a contextual and theological approach it indicates the unexplored richness complexity and diversity of this theme in the history of literature and theology

Milton's Epics and the Book of Psalms Mary Ann Radzinowicz, 2014-07-14 The Psalms were of intense interest to Milton who read them not only as impassioned voices conveying significant moments in life's journey but also as examples of various genres each containing rhetorical and poetical conventions appropriate to the expressive intent of the speaker In this book Mary Ann Radzinowicz describes the pervasive influence of these biblical works on Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained She shows that the dramatic moments when Milton's characters respond to the numinous are shaped by his appreciation of the lyricism of the Psalms and by his studies of their thematic relationships This book traces the density of poetic voices in the epics voices arising from the echoing of psalm kinds and the ironic paralleling of important episodes in them At the same time Radzinowicz's book relates to each other Milton's two remarkable poetic oeuvres derived from the Old and New Testaments one an anonymous powerful ancient worship centered lyric work the other an individually determined revolutionary heroic work Originally published in 1989 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Transparency and Dissimulation Verena Lobsien, 2010-05-27 Transparency and Dissimulation analyses the configurations of ancient neoplatonism in early modern English texts In looking closely at poems and prose writings by authors as diverse as Thomas Wyatt Philip Sidney Edmund Spenser John Donne Edward Herbert Andrew Marvell Thomas Traherne Thomas Browne and last not least Aphra Behn this study attempts to map the outlines of a neoplatonic aesthetics in literary practice as well as to chart its transformative potential in the shifting contexts of cultural turbulency and denominational conflict in 16th and 17th century England As part of a new contextually aware aesthetics it seeks to determine some of the functions neoplatonic structures such as forms of recursivity or certain modes of apophatic speech are capable of fulfilling in combination and interaction with other heterogeneous or even ideologically incompatible elements What emerges is a surprisingly versatile poetics of excess and enigma with strong Plotinian and Erigenist accents This appears to need the traditional ingredients of petrarchism or courtliness only as material for the formation of new and dynamic wholes revealing its radical metaphysical potential above all in the way it helps to resist the easy answers in religion science or the fashions of libertine love

Poetry and the Fate of the Senses Susan Stewart, 2002-01-20 What is the role of the senses in the creation and reception of poetry How does poetry carry on the long tradition of making experience and suffering understood by others With Poetry and the Fate of the Senses Susan Stewart traces the path of the aesthetic in search of an explanation for the role of poetry in culture Herself an acclaimed poet Stewart not only brings the intelligence of a critic to the question of poetry but the insight of a practitioner as well Her new study includes close discussions of poems by Stevens Hopkins Keats Hardy Bishop and Traherne of the sense of vertigo in Baroque and Romantic works and of the rich tradition of nocturnes in visual musical and verbal art Ultimately she argues that poetry can counter the denigration of the senses in contemporary life and can expand our imagination of the range of human expression Poetry and the Fate of the Senses won the 2004 Truman Capote Award for Literary Criticism in Memory of Newton Arvin administered for the Truman Capote Estate by the University of Iowa Writers Workshop It also won the Phi Beta Kappa Society's 2002 Christian Gauss Award for Literary Criticism

Back to Nature Robert Watson, 2013-05-29 Selected by Choice magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title Sweeping across scholarly disciplines Back to Nature shows that from the moment of their conception modern ecological and epistemological anxieties were conjoined twins Urbanization capitalism Protestantism colonialism revived Skepticism empirical science and optical technologies conspired to alienate people from both the earth and reality itself in the seventeenth century Literary and visual arts explored the resulting cultural wounds expressing the pain and proposing some ingenious cures The stakes Robert N Watson demonstrates were huge Shakespeare's comedies Marvell's pastoral lyrics Traherne's visionary Centuries and Dutch painting all illuminate a fierce submerged debate about what love of nature has to do with perception of reality

English Prose of the Seventeenth Century 1590-1700 Roger Pooley, 2014-06-06 This is the first book length history of the range of seventeenth century English prose writing Roger Pooley's study begins with narrative ranging from the fiction of Bunyan and Aphra Behn to the biographical and autobiographical work of Aubrey and Pepys Further sections consider religious prose from the hugely influential Authorised Version to Donne's sermons the political writing of figures as diverse as Milton Hobbes Locke and Marvell cornucopian texts and the writings of the new scientists from Bacon to Newton At a time when the boundaries of the canon are being increasingly revised this is not only a major survey of a series of great works of literature but also a fascinating social history and a guide to understanding the literature of the period as a whole

The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature David Hopkins, Charles Martindale, Norman Vance, Rita Copeland, Patrick Cheney, Philip R. Hardie, Jennifer Wallace, 2012 The Oxford History of Classical Reception OHCREL is designed to offer a comprehensive investigation of the numerous and diverse ways in which literary texts of the classical world have stimulated responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents

cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This second volume and third to appear in the series covers the years 1558 1660 and explores the reception of the ancient genres and authors in English Renaissance literature engaging with the major and many of the minor writers of the period including Shakespeare Marlowe Spenser and Jonson Separate chapters examine the Renaissance institutions and contexts which shape the reception of antiquity and an annotated bibliography provides substantial material for further reading

Amelia Worsley, 2024-08-15 Singing by Herself reinterprets the rise of literary loneliness by foregrounding the female and feminized figures who have been overlooked in previous histories of solitude Many of the earliest records of the terms lonely and loneliness in British literature describe solitaires whose songs positioned them within the tradition of female complaint Amelia Worsley shows how these feminized solitaires for whom loneliness was both a space of danger and a space of productive retreat helped to make loneliness attractive to future lonely poets despite the sense of suspicion it evoked Although loneliness today is often associated with states of atomized interiority soliloquy and self enclosure this study of eighteenth century poetry disrupts the presumed association between isolation singular speech and bounded models of poetic subjectivity In five chapters focused on lonely poet figures in the works of John Milton Anne Finch Alexander Pope Thomas Gray and Charlotte Smith which also take account of the wider eighteenth century fascination with literary loneliness Singing by Herself shows how poets increasingly associated the new literary mode of being alone with states of disembodiment dispersal and echoic self doubling Seemingly solitary lonely voices often dissolve into polyvocal allusive community Worsley argues when in dialogue with each other and also with classical figures of feminized lament such as Sappho Echo and Philomela The book's provocative reflections on lyric mean that it will have a broad appeal to scholars interested in the history of poetry and poetics as well as to those who study the literary history of gender affect and emotion

Ideology and Desire in Renaissance Poetry Ronald Corthell, 1997 Each chapter explores the interrelationships of representation identification and desire while the book as a whole gradually shifts in emphasis from new historicist concerns with representation and the social realm toward psychoanalytic themes of identification desire and inwardness The

Johannine Renaissance in Early Modern English Literature and Theology Paul Cefalu, 2017-10-27 The Johannine Renaissance in Early Modern English Literature and Theology argues that the Fourth Gospel and First Epistle of Saint John the Evangelist were so influential during the early modern period in England as to share with Pauline theology pride of place as leading apostolic texts on matters Christological sacramental pneumatological and political The book argues further that in several instances Johannine theology is more central than both Pauline theology and the Synoptic theology of Matthew Mark and Luke particularly with regard to early modern polemicizing on the Trinity distinctions between agape and eros and the ideologies of radical dissent especially the seventeenth century antinomian challenge of free grace to traditional Puritan Pietism In particular early modern religious poetry including works by Robert Southwell George Herbert John Donne Richard Crashaw Thomas Traherne and Anna Trapnel embraces a distinctive form of Johannine devotion that emphasizes the divine rather than human nature of Christ the belief that salvation is achieved more through revelation than objective atonement and expiatory sin a realized eschatology a robust doctrine of assurance and comfort and a stylistic and rhetorical approach to representing these theological features that often emulates John's mode of discipleship misunderstanding and dramatic irony Early modern Johannine devotion assumes that religious lyrics often express a revelatory poetics that aims to clarify typically through the use of dramatic irony some of the deepest mysteries of the Fourth Gospel and First Epistle

Shapers of English Calvinism, 1660-1714 Dewey D. Wallace, 2011-05-30 Dewey Wallace tells the story of several prominent English Calvinist actors and thinkers in the first generations after the beginning of the Restoration illuminating the religious and intellectual history of the era between the Reformation and modernity

Another Kind of Normal Graham Ward, 2022-01-13 Every age needs to examine and propose its ways of living ethically Another Kind of Normal Ethical Life II constructs a mode of such living according to the Christian tradition based upon an interpretation of Christ's coming and the relationship of that incarnation to God as the Creator of all things In the second of four volumes Graham Ward explores an Augustinian vision of consonance between divine rhythm and the rhythmic orders of creation On the basis of what Augustine calls the interval it proposes Christ is encountered as riddle scandal and paradox It provides an account of creation as a Trinitarian event that calls for a rethinking of what are the key teachings in Christianity with respect to an understanding of creation as a divine benediction and a theatre for transformation and healing Ward argues through Scriptural exegesis for the omnidirectionality of time as graced rejecting a conception of linear temporality and theologies indebted to that conception Throughout participation in God through our hiddenness in Christ develops an account of the complex relationship between divine and human creativity appealing to music painting poetry drama film architecture and novels

Faustus and the Promises of the New Science, c. 1580-1730 Christa King, 2016-12-05 Having identified the literary origins of the Faustus legend in the German Faust Book 1587 and its English translation 1592 this book argues that these works transformed a simple rogue's tale into an incisive study of morality and beliefs The chapbooks contrastive portrayal of an imaginary experience of hell and a pseudo scientific journey through the cosmos is interpreted as an unconventional approach to the questions of an inquiring mind This study offers the first analysis of the chapbooks as literary works in their own right as opposed to simply being sources for Christopher Marlowe's play It is also the first study to describe the Faustus typology as a vehicle by which uncompromising thinkers of early modernity and the Enlightenment questioned contemporary views about religion morality and the possibility of experiencing transcendence While arguing that Marlowe's Doctor Faustus primarily examines the imaginary foundations of religious rules and standards the author suggests that the 1616 version of the play revived the chapbooks accounts of spiritual ravishment and intellectual ecstasy Imaginary explorations of cosmic space became popular in the seventeenth century and gave rise to strongly diverging works of literature embracing the arcane spirituality of Milton's Paradise Lost as well as Fontenelle's sociable but essentially secular fantasy of cosmic travel This book shows that contemporary responses to early modern science also tended to address the most urgent concerns of the Faustus legend explaining the re emergence of the typology in Mountfort's late seventeenth century farcical Faustus play and early eighteenth century harlequinades about Doctor Faustus
