Paradoxes Of Self Determination In The Cameroons Under United Kingdom Administration:

The Paradoxes of Self-Determination in the Cameroons Under United Kingdom Administration Bongfen Chem-Langhëë, 2004-10-19 This volume deals essentially with the rise and evolution of the nationalist movements in the British Northern Cameroons and Southern Cameroons the Cameroons the factors that conditioned those movements and how and why their results came to be as they were The main theses establish in this work are that the United Nations decisions on the plebiscite questions denied the British Cameroonians the right to self determination that whatever the electorate voted for in the plebiscites it was not for the United Nations plebiscite questions that as from 1953 the traditional authorities and rulers played a more important role in conditioning the nationalist movements than the modern or political leaders although in the end the political leaders manipulated the events and had things their own way and that after independence the British devolved power on the wrong group of leaders the political

Mediating Legitimacy: Chieftaincy and Democratisation in Two African Chiefdoms Jude Thaddeus Dingbobga Fokwang, 2009 This study analyses the effects of democratic transition in two African countries Cameroon and South Africa on chiefs and the institution of chieftainship Based on ethnographic fieldwork the monograph explores the cultural and socio political conditions that enabled chiefs to reinvent themselves in the new era of democratic politics despite their status as old political actors It explores the kinds of legitimacies claimed by chiefs in the new era and the responses of their subjects to such claims particularly with respect to chiefs involvement in national politics The monograph makes a case for the importance of comparative research on chiefs in the era of democracy and the predicaments they face therein It contends that contrary to exhortations about the incompatibility of chiefs and democracy the reality is that political transition in both South Africa and Cameroon produced contradictions creating space and a role for chiefs in a fascinating and negotiated interplay of legitimacies and history

A History of Borno Vincent Hiribarren, 2017-02-17 Borno in northeast Nigeria is notorious today as the home of an Islamist terrorist group Boko Haram whose insurgency is a major security threat but it was once the heartland of the Kanuri speaking royal empire of Kanem Borno renowned throughout Africa and beyond which in its later incarnation the Bornu Empire lasted from 1380 to 1893 This book offers the reader the first modern history of Borno drawing upon sources in London Berlin Paris Kaduna and Maiduguri and recently released migrated archives As its longevity suggests what is particularly remarkable about Borno is the permanence of its boundaries its territorial integrity which dates back centuries and the political and social identities that such borders framed in the minds of its inhabitants

The Reunification Debate in British Southern Cameroons Joseph Nfi Lon, 2024-11-29 This book is a succinct account of the role immigrants from French Cameroon played in the Reunification politics in the Southern Cameroons The study reveals that these strangers organised themselves in Pressure Groups in order to fight for equal opportunities with the indigenes and when such opportunities were not coming they initiated the Reunification Idea propagated it and converted many reluctant Southern Cameroonians They militated in pro reunification political parties such as the KNC KNDP UPC and OK and successfully shifted the reunification idea from the periphery to the centre of Southern Cameroons decolonisation politics The immigrants convinced the UN through petitions and reunification which was the most unpopular option for independence became one of the two alternatives at the 1961 plebiscite They and the reluctant KNDP campaigned and voted for it The Reunification of Cameroon was therefore the handiwork of French Cameroon immigrants

The 1961 Cameroon Plebiscite. Choice or Betrayal John Percival, 2008-06-15 The United Nations organised plebiscite on 11 February 1961 was one of the most significant events in the history of the southern and northern parts of the British administered trust territory in Cameroon John Percival was sent by the then Colonial Office as part of the team to oversee the process This book captures the story of the plebiscite in all its dimensions and intricacies and celebrates the author's admiration for things African through a series of reminiscences of what life was like in the 1960s both for the Africans themselves and for John Percival as a very young man The complex story is also a series of reflections about the effect of the modern world on Africa It is a thorough insightful rich and enlightening first hand source on a political landmark that has never been told before in this way In a vivid style with a great sense of humour Percival s witty cogent eyewitness and active participant account deconstructs the rumours and misrepresentations about the February 1961 Plebiscite which was a prelude to reunification and to the present day politics of belonging in Cameroon One of the major merits of this book is to provide us with a deeper insight into the role of those actors who have never been the subject of plebiscite studies namely the Plebiscite Supervisory Officers Piet Konings African Studies Centre Leiden The Netherlands John Percival Anthropologist Writer Television Broadcaster of many innovative BBC series on the environment history and anthropology As a young graduate he was recruited and sent to serve in the Southern Cameroons as a Plesbiscite Supervisory Officer in 1961 He died in 2005 after a recent return visit to Cameroon with Nigel Wenban Smith who writes an epilogue This posthumous memoir has been edited by his wife Lalage Neal Southern West Cameroon Revisited (1950-1972) Volume One Ndi, Anthony, 2014-03-16 This book contributes to discussions on the topical issue of Fifty Years after the independence of the Southern Cameroons by taking a critical look at the process that lead up to Southern Cameroons reunification with la R publique du Cameroun This was the period spanning from 1951 to 1961 and possibly up to 1972 This immediately conjures two overriding factors first the British colonial policy in Southern Cameroons which dominated political life in the period leading up to the Plebiscite the Buea Tripartite Conference the Bamenda All Party Conference the Foumban Constitutional Conference and the Yaounde Tripartite Conference during the phase 1959 1961 This constituted one huge hoax whilst that from 1961 1972 and beyond was dominated by the enigmatic figure of President Ahrnadou Ahidjo At the heart of the first are the declassified British secret papers which have uncovered the ugly undercurrents that characterised British colonial policy while on the other hand is President Ahmadou Ahidjo who practically personalized the administration of the Federal Republic of Cameroon His domination of the entire existence of the Federal Republic of Cameroon 1961 1972 was overshadowed by the fact that he could not brood sharing power with any individual or institution Simply put he was allergic to democratic principles or any form of opposition to his authority As well he was a matchless dictator especially in his ambivalent dealings with Southern West Cameroon Apparently it was the destiny of Southern Cameroons that up to 1961 it was harnessed to the tenterhooks of Great Britain and from 1961 1972 transferred to those of the Ahidjo Regime neither of which wished its people well African-on-African Colonization Carlson Anyangwe, 2024-08-22 African on African Colonization The Ill Fated Ambazonia Cameroun Political Partnership is an extensive study of the phenomenon of African on African colonialism in postcolonial Africa an egregious and vexed development that is causing instability and insecurity in many parts of the continent Using Ambazonia as a case study Carlson Anyangwe discusses two manifestations of colonialism that emerged from the ashes of white colonialism neo colonialism and African on African colonialism and how Ambazonia has been impacted by both Anyangwe also examines the Ambazonia Cameroun political association that was later turned into Ambazonia formerly British Southern Cameroons to explore Cameroun's colonial occupation of Ambazonia and Ambazonia's long struggle to be free and accede to sovereign statehood Interweaving several complex issues garnered from historical sources political developments and eye witness accounts this book provides a deeper understanding of the complexity of motives and concatenation of forces in Ambazonia expressing the critical need to decolonize Ambazonia in an era of freedoms and democratization This book is a compulsory reading for Ambazonians and scholars of the distorted history of Ambazonia and Cameroun

Genocide, Ethnonationalism, and the United Nations Hannibal Travis, 2013 Genocide Ethnonationalism and the United Nations examines a series of related crises in human civilization growing out of conflicts between powerful states or empires and indigenous or stateless peoples This is the first book to attempt to explore the causes of genocide and other mass killing by a detailed exploration of UN archives covering the period spanning from 1945 through 2011 Hannibal Travis argues that large states and empires disproportionately committed or facilitated genocide and other mass killings between 1945 and 2011 His research incorporates data concerning factors linked to the scale of mass killing and recent findings in human rights political science and legal theory Turning to potential solutions he argues that the concept of genocide imagines a future system of global governance under which the nation state itself is made subject to law The United Nations however has deflected the possibility of such a cosmopolitical law It selectively condemns genocide and has established an institutional structure that denies most peoples subjected to genocide of a realistic possibility of global justice lacks a robust international criminal tribunal or UN army and even encourages security cooperation among states that have proven to be destructive of peoples in the past Questions raised include What have been the causes of mass killing during the period since the United Nations Charter entered into force in 1945 How does mass killing spread across international borders and what is the role of resource wealth the arms trade and external interference in this process Have the United Nations or the International Criminal Court faced up to the problem of genocide and other forms of mass killing as is their mandate

Diplomacy and Nation-Building in Africa Mélanie Torrent, 2012-04-11 Cameroon stands as a remarkable example of nation building in the aftermath of European domination Split between the French and British empires after World War I it experienced a unique drive for self determination at the turn of the 1960s culminating in both independence from European power and the re unification of two of its divided territories This book investigates the influence of foreign policy on nation building in West Africa in the context of both the Cold War and European integration Shedding fresh light on the challenges of bridging the political economic and linguistic divide that France and Britain had left Melanie Torrent explores the evolution of a nation charting both Cameroon's importance in Franco British relations and Cameroon's use of bilateral and multilateral diplomacy in asserting its independence This work should be essential reading for students of African studies International Relations and the post colonial world

Blue Helmet Bureaucrats Margot Tudor, 2023-04-27

This history of colonial legacies in UN peacekeeping operations from 1945 1971 reveals how United Nations peacekeeping staff reconfigured the functions of global governance and sites of diplomatic power in the post war world Despite peacekeeping operations being criticised for their colonial underpinnings our understanding of the ways in which colonial actors and ideas influenced peacekeeping practices on the ground has been limited and imprecise In this multi archival history Margot Tudor investigates the UN s formative armed missions and uncovers the officials that orchestrated a reinvention of colonial era hierarchies for Global South populations on the front lines of post colonial statehood She demonstrates how these officials exploited their field based access to perpetuate racial prejudices plot political interference and foster protracted inter communal divisions in post colonial conflict contexts Bringing together histories of humanitarianism decolonisation and the Cold War Blue Helmet Bureaucrats sheds new light on the mechanisms through which sovereignty was negotiated and re negotiated after 1945

Representations and Renegotiations of the Nation in Anglophone Cameroonian Literature Priscillia M. Manjoh,2018 Guided by postcolonial theory and the ideas of some Western and African philosophers this study s in depth analysis of the novels of three Anglophone Cameroonian authors addresses the question of how principles of nation formation and nationalism are influenced by both colonialism and pre colonial in situ constituents The analysis focuses on how nations represented in the imaginary worlds constructed by the novelists are dominated by aspects such as ethnicity corruption authoritarianism nepotism solidarity and communitarianism which marginalize the masses leaving them in misery and abject poverty Tracing the historical settings of the novels from 1948 till present day the study delineates the writers representation of the Anglophones of Cameroon as being marginalized as well as suffering from self marginalization and also demonstrates how postcolonial misery in Africa is not caused solely by colonialism but by several other aspects This study reads the works of these Anglophone novelists not only as representing aspects in a nation but as tools of renegotiating a better society and a way forward for this nation

Crossing the Line in Africa Ambe Ngwa,Bolak Funteh,2019-01-07 This book explores a collective understanding of the perception and treatment of borders in Africa The notion of boundary is universal as boundaries are also an important part of human social organization Through the ages boundaries have remained the container by which national space is delineated and contained For as long as there has been human society based on territoriality and space there have been boundaries With their dual character of exclusivism and inclusivism states have proven to adopt a more structural approach to the respect of the former in consciousness of the esteem of international law governing sovereignty and territorial integrity However frontier peoples and their realities have often opted for the latter situation imposing a more functionalist perception of these imaginary lines and prompting a border opinion shift to a more blurring form of representation and meaning in most African communities This collective multidisciplinary effort of understanding how tangible and intangible borders have influenced Africas attitude and existence for ages is worthy in its own rights The difference between what borders are and what they are not to a people is the mere product of their own estimations and practices a disposition that leads the contributors to this book to study borders beyond states or nations and how borders are crossed or transferred from one point to the other for the convenience of their histories and being

National Identity and State Formation in Africa Manuel Castells,Bernard Lategan,2021-03-17 This book examines how the interplay between globalization and the assertion of local identities is reshaping the political landscape of Africa While defending their values against external forces people simultaneously and paradoxically use the interconnectivity of global networks to maximize their particular interests Focusing on the relation between national identity and state formation the authors explore the far reaching consequences of these contradictory dynamics Although Africa shares many common trends with other parts of the world it also displays distinctive features A region characterized by the increased mobility of people goods and ideas challenges some conventional assumptions of statecraft and also highlights the advantages of federalism not merely as a constitutional option but as a pragmatic device for managing diversity and holding fragile states together The book further explores emerging types of state formation in the same political space as exemplified by the combination of elements of a kingdom an independent state and a national power base in the province of KwaZulu Natal and the careful crafting of an alternative state within a state by the Solidarity Movement in South Africa Informed by examples and case studies drawn from different parts of Africa this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Africa politics sociology media studies and the social sciences more generally
