Psychology Of Underachievement Differential Diagnosis And Differential Treatment:

The Psychology of Underachievement Harvey P. Mandel, Sander I. Marcus, 1991-01-16 An integrated approach to the psychology of underachievement unifying theory and practice Examines different types of underachievers explores the relationship between personality and underachievement and provides useful guidelines for clinical practice Provides an outline and summary of the voluminous and often contradictory literature then presents theoretical models of the underachiever that are grounded in mainstream diagnostic and therapeutic theory Offers examples of each personality type so practitioners can easily recognize and treat them

The Development and Meaning of Psychological Distance Rodney R. Cocking, K. Ann Renninger, Ann Renninger, 2013-06-17 One of the paradoxes in developmental theory is the child's simultaneous intrapsychic and interpsychic development While the child is growing in mental capacity and struggling to define self behaviors are also being learned whose function is to integrate self into a social network which often means that egocentric behaviors are in conflict with sociocentric ones This theory draws upon processes that promote both individual and social growth into a unified theory of development A construct pertinent to almost all dimensions of psychological research psychological distance is conceptualized as either the distance between what the learner understands and what still has to be understood intrapsychic or ways in which others adjust information for the learner in order to be fully comprehended interpsychic Psychological distance appears to serve both organizing and explanatory functions across seemingly diverse sets of theoretical and research questions such as differentiation of self in personality development conceptual representation in cognitive development dialogue in the development of communication skills information processing in cognitive science regulatory mechanisms in the growth of control processes and concept formation in cross over areas of cognition learning and thinking skills This volume is based on papers presented as part of the Invitational Conference honoring Irving E Sigel Distinguished Research Scientist at Educational Testing Service In each of the chapters different models are utilized to account for the construct of psychological distance and as such to suggest extensions of Sigel's seminal work in this area Together these contributions form the basis of a discussion of psychological distance as a developmental construct a construct which permits serious consideration of individual differences as a function of both the process and the product of cognition and ecology

Rational Emotive Behavioral Approaches to Childhood Disorders Albert Ellis, Michael E. Procrastination and Task Avoidance Joseph R. Ferrari, Judith L. Johnson, William G. McCown, 2013-06-29 Procrastination is a fascinating highly complex human phenomenon for which the time has come for systematic theoretical and therapeutic effort The present volume reflects this effort It was a labor of love to read this scholarly timely book the first of its kind on the topic It was especially encouraging to find that its authors are remarkably free of the phenomenon they have been investigating One might have expected the opposite It has often been argued that people select topics that trouble them and come to understand their problems better by studying or treating them in others This does not appear to be true of the procrastination researchers represented in this book I base this conclusion on two simple observations First the work is replete with recent references and the book itself has reached the reader scarcely a year following its completion Second when one considers the remarkable pace of programmatic research by these contributors during the past decade it is clear that they are at the healthy end of the procrastination continuum The fascinating history of the term procrastination is well documented in this book The term continues to conjure up contrasting eloquent images especially for poets When Edward Young wrote in 1742 Procrastination is the Thief of Time he was condemning the waste of the most precious of human commodities
