Books in Print ,1968 Reader's Adviser and Bookman's Manual ,1921 The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1985 Publishing in Tsarist Russia Yukiko Tatsumi,Taro Tsurumi,2020-02-20 According to Benedict Anderson the rapid expansion of print media during the late 1700s popularised national history and standardised national languages thus helping create nation states and national identities at the expense of the old empires Publishing in Tsarist Russia challenges this theory and by examining the history of Russian publishing through a transnational lens reveals how the popular press played an important and complex Imperial role while providing a soft infrastructure which the subjects could access to change Imperial order As this volume convincingly argues this is because the Russian language at this time was a lingua franca it crossed borders and boundaries reaching speakers of varying nationalities Russian publications then were able to effectively operate within the structure of Imperialism but as a public space they went beyond the control of the Tsar and ethnic Russians This exciting international team of scholars provide a much needed fresh take on the history of Russian publishing and contribute significantly to our understanding of print media language and empire from the 18th to 20th centuries Publishing in Tsarist Russia is therefore a vital resource for scholars of Russian history comparative nationalism and publishing studies Subject Index of Modern Books Acquired British Library,1922 Accessions List University of London.
