The New Muslim Brotherhood in the West Lorenzo Vidino, 2010-08-25 In Europe and North America networks tracing their origins back to the Muslim Brotherhood and other Islamist movements have rapidly evolved into multifunctional and richly funded organizations competing to become the major representatives of Western Muslim communities and government interlocutors Some analysts and policy makers see these organizations as positive forces encouraging integration Others cast them as modern day Trojan horses feigning moderation while radicalizing Western Muslims Lorenzo Vidino brokers a third more informed view Drawing on more than a decade of research on political Islam in the West he keenly analyzes a controversial movement that still remains relatively unknown Conducting in depth interviews on four continents and sourcing documents in ten languages Vidino shares the history methods attitudes and goals of the Western Brothers as well as their phenomenal growth He then flips the perspective examining the response to these groups by Western governments specifically those of Great Britain Germany and the United States Highly informed and thoughtfully presented Vidino s research sheds light on a critical juncture in Muslim Western relations

'Race,' Space and Multiculturalism in Northern England Shamim Miah, Pete Sanderson, Paul Thomas, 2020-06-02 This book challenges the narrative of Northern England as a failed space of multiculturalism drawing on a historically contextualised discussion of ethnic relations to argue that multiculturalism has been more successful and locally situated than these assumptions allow The authors examine the interplay between race space and place to analyse how profound economic change the evolving nature of the state individual racism and the local creation and enactment of multiculturalist policies have all contributed to shaping the trajectory of ethnic faith identities and inter community relations at a local level In doing so the book analyses both change and continuity in discussion of and national local state policy towards ethnic relations particularly around the supposed segregation integration dichotomy and the ways in which racialised events are perceived and identities are created and reflected in state policy operations Drawing on the authors long involvement in empirical research policy and practice around ethnicity race and racism in the Northern England they effectively support critical and situated analysis of controversial racialised issues and set these geographically specific findings in the context of wider international experiences of and tensions around growing ethnic diversity in the context of profound economic and social changes
